New Algiers Fires Raging Amid Report of Peace Bid

Viet Ambush Kills Two U.S. Officers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two U.S. Army officers were reported killed today in a Communist Viet Cong ambush of a government convoy 30 miles north of Saigon.

Military sources said the officers, a captain and a lieutenant, were members of the U.S. Military Advisory Assistance Group in South Viet Nam. Their names were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

U.S. Toll Is Six

A U.S. Army sergeant was killed by Red guerrillas in an action in Central Viet Nam's thick forests earlier this week. The latest deaths bring to six the number of U.S. servicemen killed in combat here since the United States increased its aid to President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces last December.

A relief column of South Vietnamese troops was dispatched to the scene of today's ambush as soon as word of the attack was received but the column was slowed by a Viet Cong road block, the informants said.

When reinforcements reached the ambush area, they found three vehicles on fire and the bodies of the American officers. South Vietnamese troops launched a search of the area.

Copters Support Troops

It was not known immediately whether there were any other American servicemen with the convoy or whether there were additional casualties.

Meanwhile 30 American-piloted helicopters were supporting 800 government troops in an operation launched Friday in Communist infested territory about 35 miles north of the capital.

Military sources said today the operation was continuing, but gave no details.

First reports Friday said there had been no government or American casualties except for an Army H21 helicopter forced down by engine trouble. The crew destroyed it.

Reds Down Plane

The operation reportedly netted in its early stages three Red guerrillas, two jeeps and a truck and an important Communist supply depot.

A military communique today reported Communist ground fire downed a government T28 plane on a bombing mission Wednesday in Quang Nam province, about 360 miles northeast of Saigon. The pilot was killed.

Deposit's Police Chief Arrested On Five Counts

DEPOSIT, N.Y. (AP) — Police Chief Alton Dennis, who has served on the police force of this Southern Tier village for 30 years, faced charges today ranging from the taking of an unlawful bribe to neglect of duty.

He was arrested at his desk Friday by sheriff's deputies and State Police.

Dennis, 68, was named in a sealed indictment handed down by a Delaware County grand jury.

Dist. Atty. Robert J. McKeegan declined to give details until after Dennis was arraigned Monday before County Judge Walter Terry. He was released in $500 bail.

The five counts on which Dennis was charged included taking an unlawful bribe, taking an unlawful fee, willful ommission of duty, willful neglect of duty and "oppression," which the district attorney described as a "misdemeanor which is sort of a form of extortion.".

Dennis was named to his present post about 6½ years ago. He had served as chief of police here several other times during his 30-year career.

Chorney Triplets Reported Healthy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chorney triplets are home in Brooklyn to begin the journey through life they won by beating 1,500-to-1 odds. If they need inspiration along the way, they can look to the Manning quadruplets of South Weymouth, Mass.

The Manning quads—John, Robert, Richard and Betty—will be 10 years old on Monday. They are healthy, hearty and—in the words of their mother—very individualistic.

The triplets, all girls, were born prematurely at a Brooklyn hospital May 6. Medical authorities dug up the odds, based on experiences with other triplets born prematurely.

First to enter the world was Cynthia Ann, who weighed 3 pounds, 7 ounces. Next came Charlotte Bernice, at 3-11, and then Christine Sheryl, weighing 3-12.

Eight hours after birth, they were transferred to the Long Island Jewish Hospital in Queens, which has a specially equipped "premee" center.

Drum Corps Show Set for Tonight

Six leading eastern drum and bugle corps will compete for cash awards starting at 8 o'clock tonight at Dietz Memorial Stadium in the eighth annual Pageant of Champions.

The event is sponsored by the Criterions, well-known local drum and bugle corps.

Competing will be Carver Gay Blades, Kingsmen, Sunrisers, Amboy Dukes, Jersey Devils and Lambertville Volunteers.

Pageant Chairman Spencer Whitey Myers said some tickets will be available at the gate.

Binnewater Barns Burn DuringStorm

Two fires Friday afternoon, one caused by lightning and the other by a defective chimney, kept firemen in two communities busy.

During a sharp electrical storm shortly after 2 p. m. lightning struck a large barn on the Luther Keator premises at Binnewater, setting fire to the barn and communicating to an adjoining barn. Both were destroyed but excellent work by the Binnewater Fire Department, assisted by several other departments, saved four other barns, two of which stood within a few feet of the destroyed barns. The Keator residence across the road was saved.

The fire was still burning in hay today as Binnewater firemen stood by. It was expected a bulldozer would later move the hay to eliminate further danger.

Chief Clarence Coogan of the Binnewater Fire Department gave credit to firemen of his department, those of High Falls, Rosendale, Tillson, Cottekill, Stone Ridge and Bloomington for their assistance in confining the fire to the two barns which were destroyed.

Water was relayed by portable pumps from the "water hole" along the Binnewater-Rosendale road to fire apparatus tanks at the scene and water was also pumped from a small creek which runs near the Keator premises.

One of the barns was located only about eight feet from the ones destroyed.

Several horses in the barn were safely removed.

Five calves in one barn were lost with considerable farm machinery, a large quantity of hay, and a number of chickens.

One barn was fully equipped as a dairy barn, with milking machine equipment and other facilities for dairying.

When firemen arrived at the scene and saw the conditions existing, Ulster County Fire Control Center through Mutual Aid summoned surrounding aid.

The second fire was at West Saugerties on the Woodstock-West Saugerties road where a house owned by Mrs. E. H. Dickhuth of Woodstock was damaged when tenants, just moving in, started a fire in a fireplace. Chief Robert Thein of the Centerville Fire Department sought assistance from Cedar Grove firemen.

The frame house, located on the "upper road" from West Saugerties to Woodstock, was considerably damaged about the roof and attic when fire from a "defective" chimney communicated to the roof. There was some water and smoke damage but firemen did a good job in

Name Coach, State Jaycee Head as Pageant Judges

Two outstanding New York State figures have been chosen to participate on the judging panel for the Miss New York State Pageant to be held in Kingston July 5, 6 and 7, according to George H. Moore, president of the Board of Directors of this year's pageant.

They are James F. (Jim) Adams, lacrosse coach at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and Curtis H Bauer, president of the New York State Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Adams is presently in his fifth year as lacrosse coach at West Point. In four years his teams have won 32 games and lost three and in his first two years were National Intercollegiate Champions. Adams, a graduate of Johns Hopkins, has had an outstanding career as a lacrosse player and coach. He was chosen coach of the year in 1961.

Adams came to West Point in 1958 and has gained acclaim as one of the finest young coaches in collegiate lacrosse. He is a member of the advisory all-America Committee and chairman of the Statistical Committee. He is married and the father of three girls.

Bauer is from Jamestown and is self-employed as a consulting forester in that area. Since joining the Junior Chamber Movement eight years ago, he has served in various capacities on the local, state, national and international levels. He is a past Jamestown president and chairman of the board of directors. On the state level Bauer has served as national director 1960-1961, regional vice president 1959-1960 and as awards chairman. On the national level, he has been extremely active at conventions. He was elected a national director last year and is a senator in the Junior Chamber International.

Bauer attended Syracuse University and holds a Bachelor of Science Degree.

New Crisis Brewing?

Red Parley May Signal Big Move

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The Kremlin is readying a major propaganda offensive. It will be launched July 9 in Moscow when a "World Congress for General Disarmament and Peace" opens under sponsorship of the Moscow-directed World Peace Council.

World Peace Council conferences have been going on since the immediate postwar years. Each meeting has been the forerunner of a new Soviet cold war move. It is reasonable to suppose the forthcoming meeting will have similar results.

Major Move Resulted

The council says the congress will attract representatives from 100 countries around the world. Most are run-of-the-mill Communists and fellow travelers. Many will be Communist-leaning artists, writers, professional people, public figures.

Meetings like the one scheduled have preceded such actions as the Berlin blockade, the Korean invasion and other major moves. In 1958, a peace council drive was a prelude to Premier Khrushchev's sudden offensive against West Berlin.

Such operations often have double purposes. Frequently a propaganda drive is used to obscure trouble on the home front.

The Soviet people, paying 30 per cent more for meat and butter, have been told they must live with the idea of nagging shortages because of agricultural failures. Food shortages plague the rest of the Communist bloc.

Indications are ample in the Soviet press that the food price hikes were a bitter pill for the Soviet public after years of hoping for abundance. Apart from violent daily propaganda against U.S. "atomchiks" and American nuclear tests, much publicity is given to the peace congress. At the same time, papers dwell on economic conditions in the United States.

Could Be Berlin Again

All this may be part of a campaign to make the Soviet people feel better about their own economic troubles. They are told their government is working hard for peace, the only solution to their problems.

But too much peace can arouse too many popular hopes. Therefore, in the wake of the big Moscow peace rally, a new crisis may appear somewhere. Berlin always makes an attractive target.

Fix Jury In Deadlock Resumes

Discharge Plea Denied by Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A deadlocked federal court jury, ordered to keep trying for a verdict, began a third day of deliberations today in the bribery-conspiracy trial of State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh and two other men.

The order to stay on the job came from the judge when the jury asked to be discharged.

Not Full Limit

The jury attempted to report itself deadlocked Friday night, but U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld said the eight or nine hours it had spent trying to reach a verdict during two days did not represent "the outer limits of full consideration."

The panel of nine men and three women began its deliberations at 3:45 p.m. Thursday.

Keogh, 56, is on trial with former chief Asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner, 36, and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo, 47. They are accused of conspiring to obstruct justice, and face up to five years in prison if convicted.

Keogh and Kahaner were accused of trying to obtain leniency from Federal Judge Leo F. Rayfiel last year for Sanford Moore, 44, Long Island jukebox operator involved in a bankruptcy-fraud case.

Three Deny Charges

Dr. Robert M. Erdman, 43-year-old Manhattan orthopedic surgeon, testified that he paid Keogh $22,500 and Kahaner $12,500 to use their influence on Rayfiel. Corallo was accused of helping raise the $35,000.

The three defendants have denied the charges.

Md. Niterys Due For Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., says the world behind the footlights of honky tonk night clubs is a national disgrace.

McClellan's Senate investigations subcommittee hears more about it next week, with testimony due Tuesday on Baltimore night spots.

Counsel Jerome Adlerman said the subcommittee will look into charges that prostitution and rackets are flourishing in the Maryland port city's night clubs.

He said the senators will also hear testimony on suspected violations of immigration laws in bringing girls from Canada, Greece and possibly other nations to work as entertainers.

The subcommittee is investigating allegations that officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists AFL-CIO, have connived with underworld-operated night clubs which force girl entertainers into prostitution and drink-hustling.

One witness, comedienne Ann O'Connor of Chicago, told the senators Friday showgirls are exploited in some night clubs.

"I have always felt there was collusion between AGVA and the operators," she said.

Miss O'Connor said Jackie Bright, the union's $31,000 a year executive administrator, is the real boss of AGVA. She said the union's executive committee is a rubber stamp for Bright.

Bright is due to testify next week.

In Baltimore, Dorothy Lamour protested that some of the witnesses were attacking the entertainers' union for publicity and to get back at night club owners against whom they bear grudges.

The former movie star, an AGVA director, said if showgirls were abused at clubs with union contracts, it was their own fault.

New Hearing Set On Contested Will Of IBM Founder

COUDERSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A two-day hearing on the $4 million bequest of the late Charles Cole, a founder of the IBM Corp., ended Friday, with another hearing expected later in the summer.

Cole had left an estate of some $8,800,000 when he died in Feb., 1961, at the age of 84. His widow received about half of the estate. Cole had earmarked the rest—some $4 million in IBM stock—for the building of a memorial hospital.

His nephews, Frederick Cole of Coudersport and John Cole of Long Beach, Calif., each of whom inherited $10,000. are contesting the will.

The hearings held Thursday and Friday brought out testimony concerning the exact date Cole signed the will. His nephews have suggested that he signed it near the end of his life while under sedation for a heart ailment.

SEN. JOHN L. McCLELLAN

EDWARD M. GILBERT

Financier Won't Return, Hoping To Right Things

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Edward M. Gilbert, the New York financier who made unauthorized withdrawals of $2 million from his company and then flew to Brazil, says he hopes "to pay everybody back and make everything whole some day."

Improbable Though

But he admitted he does not know how he would be able to do it, the Brazil Herald reported today.

Gilbert, 38, flew to extradition-proof Brazil from New York last Wednesday after admitting the unauthorized withdrawals from the E.L. Bruce Co., the firm he headed.

He told the Brazil Herald he withdrew the funds to protect both himself and the company and that in subsequently coming to Rio he was "not fleeing United States justice."

Gilbert said he had intended to return to New York Friday night but decided against it after talking by telephone with his father and a lawyer in New York. He said he would be "crucified" if he went home now.

The Herald said Gilbert denied having contacted Jorge Chalupe Sobrinho, the Brazilian lawyer for two fugitive American financiers who took refuge in Brazil from business fraud charges in the United States.

Needs Time to Think

The lawyer said Friday Gilbert was his client and he was taking legal action to prevent any possibility of Gilbert's arrest or deportation.

Gilbert said he needs time to think before making any decision on returning to New York, where the district attorney's office and the U.S. Securities Exchange Commission are looking into his affairs.

"Since 'Blue Monday' on Wall Street, I've been all confused and now I want to think things over with no outside pressure," he said. "I did nothing to hurt anybody intentionally, although a lot of people did get hurt after things got out of control."

Firm Was His Concern

He apparently was referring to the May 28 "Blue Monday" stock market plunge — about the same time he made the withdrawals.

"I withdrew the funds not for myself alone," he continued. "I did it to protect the position of both E. L. Bruce Co. and myself."

He did not elaborate, but the company quoted him as saying shortly before he left New York that "the actions I have taken were directed to the protection of an acquisition program in behalf of the corporation and, in my judgement, were in the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders."

Amnesty for OAS Is Held Possible

ALGIERS (AP) — New fires broke out in Algiers in the European Secret Army Organization's scorched earth campaign today even as Europeans were reported making a final compromise peace bid to Moslem nationalists.

Word of the peace contact came as a surprise. The secret army said in ordering a new campaign of destruction Thursday that secret contacts with the Moslems had failed.

Role in Force Doubtful

Few believed the Moslems would agree to the secret army demands for additional guarantees for Algeria's European minority. But well-informed sources in Paris said an all-night session in Rocher Noir, the Algerian administrative capital, brought the possibility of a Moslem amnesty for the secret army when Algeria becomes independent.

Europeans want to be represented in the Moslem security force being created, too, but this demand was turned down flatly by Moslems, it was reported.

Taking part in the talks were Belkacem Krim, deputy premier of the nationalist regime, Abderrahmanes Fares, president of the Algerian provisional executive, and representatives of Algeria's European community, led by former Algiers Mayor Jacques Chevallier.

Answer Due Shortly

Paris informants said the European representatives conveyed the latest secret army proposal to the Moslems. Officials indicated any answer would come soon. They also hinted that Jean-Jacques Susini, believed to represent the moderate faction in the secret army, had made direct contact with Moslem leaders.

The Paris sources said the Moslem nationalists would not budge from the position that "not a single comma of the Evian accords" ending the Algerian rebellion would be changed.

But the question of amnesty, the informants said, is within the framework of a possible accord.

Would Halt Destruction

In return for a general amnesty, the secret army would halt its scorched earth policy aimed at destruction of buildings and facilities the Moslems will inherit when they achieve independence.

Spirals of smoke rose over Algiers as the European and Moslem spokesmen conferred. Arson commandos set fire to two gas stations in the Chateauneuf suburb and burned another store in town.

Secret army commandos shattered Algiers' massive City Hall with explosives Friday night, hours after heavily damaging a municipal hospital and wrecking a big power dam installation.

One Killed, 43 Wounded

Police said the City Hall blast killed one soldier and wounded 43 others. Newsmen reported seeing at least four dead being carried from the building, and one report said six persons were killed.

Teams of secret army gunmen attacked Moslem auxiliary policemen and French gendarmes during the night. Police picked up the bodies of two Europeans.

European terrorists also struck in France, wounding five Moslems and two Africans in machine gun attacks on two Paris area bars Friday.

Still Eye Flights

At Sidi Bel Abbes, Foreign Legion headquarters in western Algeria, one European and three Moslems were killed late Friday in a fight.

Crowds of Europeans gathered outside battered Algiers City Hall to see if they could still get passports and birth certificates needed for flight to France.

Grim police officials, standing ankle deep in shattered glass and debris, said the Secret Army had planted an estimated 200 pounds of explosives in the city hall weeks before a company of the Ninth Zouave Regiment moved in to guard the building.

They said the charges apparently were set off by someone who had only to saunter into the build-

Song Quits As Premier Of Korea

SEOUL (AP) — Pro-Western Premier Song Yo-Chan quit his poost today and South Koera's military government announced the resignation had been accepted.

A statement by the ruling junta also announced acceptance of the resignation of Finance minister Chun Byung-Kyu.

Others Also Step Down

The rest of the cabinet ministers had said they were stepping down, too, but the junta's announcement mentioned only Song and Chun.

The junta statement said the premier and finance minister had resigned for "personal reasons."

There have been reports that Song and Chun had been in sharp disagreement over economic policy, one of the toughest issues the military government has faced.

The junta issued its announcement after an emergency meeting under strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park.

Lauds Contributions

General Park, boss of the military government, said he was "extremely sorry" Song had resigned. He said Song had made a "great contribution" to the nation during the past year, a time when South Korea "was faced with one of its most difficult periods."

Park added that he hoped Song would continue to advise on the "path of the revolutionary government."

Canada Votes Monday, 2 Leaders Confident

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's hard-fought election campaign ends today amid indications the outcome will be decided mainly on economic issues which touched off fireworks in the contest between Conservatives and Liberals.

Unemployment and devaluation of the Canadian dollar were the issues hit hardest by Conservative Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson in the closing hours of the race which will be decided at the polls Monday.

Pearson, winding up his travels in Ottawa, claimed the prime minister's predictions of full employment were a "cruel hoax." He contended that devaluation of the dollar would raise prices on goods bought by Canadians.

Diefenbaker argued that Canada's economic condition is healthy and that the Liberals were trying to get into office on a "gloom and doom" policy. He concludes his campaign in his home town of Prince Albert, Sask.

All signs continued to point to a close election, with the two splinter parties—the New Democratic party and the Social Credit party—possibly picking up enough seats to hold the balance of power in the House of Commons.

Both Diefenbaker and Pearson continued to insist their parties will win a clear majority of the 264 seats to be filled. Public opinion polls and surveys are divided.

Failure of any party to get a clear majority probably would result in a new election within less than a year.

In Canada—as in England—the voters do not ballot directly for the party leaders but only for their own local candidates for the House of Commons. The leader of the winning party becomes prime minister and forms the government. The government may call a new election at any time up to a maximum of five years after it takes office.

Two HS Girls Killed, Four Hurt in Sideswipe Crash

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Two high-school girls were killed and four youths were injured early today in the sideswipe collision of two automobiles in the suburb of Southport.

Two of the injured were in critical condition.

The girls were Catherine A. Gerard, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Bortle of Southport, and Patricia Lilies, 16, of Elmira, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Liles of Rochester.

The escorts of the two girls were in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital here. They are Charles W. Firenze, 20, and Richard A. Falls, 17, both of Elmira.

In fair condition are Leo Williams, 21, of Elmira and Daniel Mehalozo, 15, of Southport, occupants of the other car.

The sheriff's office said the accident occurred when one car tried to pass the other, sideswiped it and careened into a tree.

Miss Liles' grandmother, Mrs. Graya Warren, said the youngsters had been to a drive-in movie and had stopped later for pizza.

The council says the congress will attract representatives from 100 countries around the world. Most are run-of-the mill Communists and fellow travelers. Many will be Communist-leaning artists, writers, professional people, public figures.

Meetings like the one scheduled have preceded such actions as the Berlin blockade, the Korean invasion and other major moves. In 1958, a peace council drive was a prelude to Premier Khrushchev's sudden offensive against West Berlin.

Such operations often have double purposes. Frequently a propaganda drive is used to obscure trouble on the home front.

The Soviet people, paying 30 per cent more for meat and butter, have been told they must live with the idea of nagging shortages because of agricultural failures. Food shortages plague the rest of the Communist bloc.

Indications are ample in the Soviet press that the food price hikes were a bitter pill for the Soviet public after years of hoping for abundance. Apart from violent daily propaganda against U.S. "atomchiks" and American nuclear tests, much publicity is given to the peace congress. At the same time, papers dwell on economic conditions in the United States.

Could Be Berlin Again

All this may be part of a campaign to make the Soviet people feel better about their own economic troubles. They are told their government is working hard for peace, the only solution to their problems.

But too much peace can arouse too many popular hopes. Therefore, in the wake of the big Moscow peace rally, a new crisis may appear somewhere. Berlin always makes an attractive target.

Fix Jury In Deadlock Resumes

Discharge Plea Denied by Court

NEW YORK (AP) — A deadlocked federal court jury, ordered to keep trying for a verdict, began a third day of deliberations today in the bribery-conspiracy trial of State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh and two other men.

The order to stay on the job came from the judge when the jury asked to be discharged.

Not Full Limit

The jury attempted to report itself deadlocked Friday night, but U.S. Dist. Judge Edward Weinfeld said the eight or nine hours it had spent trying to reach a verdict during two days did not represent "the outer limits of full consideration."

The panel of nine men and three women began its deliberations at 3:45 p.m. Thursday.

Keogh, 56, is on trial with former chief Asst. U.S. Atty. Elliott Kahaner, 36, and labor racketeer Antonio (Tony Ducks) Corallo, 47. They are accused of conspiring to obstruct justice, and face up to five years in prison if convicted.

Keogh and Kahaner were accused of trying to obtain leniency from Federal Judge Leo F. Rayfiel last year for Sanford Moore, 44, Long Island jukebox operator involved in a bankruptcy-fraud case.

Three Deny Charges

Dr. Robert M. Erdman, 43-year-old Manhattan orthopedic surgeon, testified that he paid Keogh $22,500 and Kahaner $12,500 to use their influence on Rayfiel. Corallo was accused of helping raise the $35,000.

The three defendants have denied the charges.

Md. Niterys Due For Senate Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., says the world behind the footlights of honky tonk night clubs is a national disgrace.

McClellan's Senate investigations subcommittee hears more about it next week, with testimony due Tuesday on Baltimore night spots.

Counsel Jerome Adlerman said the subcommittee will look into charges that prostitution and rackets are flourishing in the Maryland port city's night clubs.

He said the senators will also hear testimony on suspected violations of immigration laws in bringing girls from Canada, Greece and possibly other nations to work as entertainers.

The subcommittee is investigating allegations that officials of the American Guild of Variety Artists AFL-CIO, have connived with underworld - operated night clubs which force girl entertainers into prostitution and drink-hustling.

One witness, comedienne Ann O'Connor of Chicago, told the senators Friday showgirls are exploited in some night clubs.

"I have always felt there was collusion between AGVA and the operators," she said.

Miss O'Connor said Jackie Bright, the union's $31,000 a year executive administrator, is the real boss of AGVA. She said the union's executive committee is a rubber stamp for Bright.

Bright is due to testify next week.

In Baltimore, Dorothy Lamour protested that some of the witnesses were attacking the entertainers' union for publicity and to get back at night club owners against whom they bear grudges.

The former movie star, an AGVA director, said if showgirls were abused at clubs with union contracts, it was their own fault.

New Hearing Set On Contested Will Of IBM Founder

COUDERSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A two-day hearing on the $4 million bequest of the late Charles Cole, a founder of the IBM Corp., ended Friday, with another hearing expected later in the summer.

Cole had left an estate of some $8,800,000 when he died in Feb., 1961, at the age of 84. His widow received about half of the estate. Cole had earmarked the rest—some $4 million in IBM stock—for the building of a memorial hospital.

His nephews, Frederick Cole of Coudersport and John Cole of Long Beach, Calif., each of whom inherited $10,000, are contesting the will.

The hearings held Thursday and Friday brought out testimony concerning the exact date Cole signed the will. His nephews have suggested that he signed it near the end of his life while under sedation for a heart ailment.

SEN. JOHN L. McCLELLAN

EDWARD M. GILBERT

Financier Won't Return, Hoping To Right Things

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Edward M. Gilbert, the New York financier who made unauthorized withdrawals of $2 million from his company and then flew to Brazil, says he hopes "to pay everybody back and make everything whole some day."

Improbable Though

But he admitted he does not know how he would be able to do it, the Brazil Herald reported today.

Gilbert, 38, flew to extradition-proof Brazil from New York last Wednesday after admitting the unauthorized withdrawals from the E.L. Bruce Co., the firm he headed.

He told the Brazil Herald he withdrew the funds to protect both himself and the company and that in subsequently coming to Rio he was "not fleeing United States justice."

Gilbert said he had intended to return to New York Friday night but decided against it after talking by telephone with his father and a lawyer in New York. He said he would be "crucified" if he went home now.

The Herald said Gilbert denied having contacted Jorge Chalupe Sobrinho, the Brazilian lawyer for two fugitive American financiers who took refuge in Brazil from business fraud charges in the United States.

Needs Time to Think

The lawyer said Friday Gilbert was his client and he was taking legal action to prevent any possibility of Gilbert's arrest or deportation.

Gilbert said he needs time to think before making any decision on returning to New York, where the district attorney's office and the U.S. Securities Exchange Commission are looking into his affairs.

"Since 'Blue Monday' on Wall Street, I've been all confused and now I want to think things over with no outside pressure," he said. "I did nothing to hurt anybody intentionally, although a lot of people did get hurt after things got out of control."

Firm Was His Concern

He apparently was referring to the May 28 "Blue Monday" stock market plunge — about the same time he made the withdrawals.

"I withdrew the funds not for myself alone," he continued. "I did it to protect the position of both E. L. Bruce Co. and myself."

He did not elaborate, but the company quoted him as saying shortly before he left New York that "the actions I have taken were directed to the protection of an acquisition program in behalf of the corporation and, in my judgement, were in the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders."

Two HS Girls Killed, Four Hurt in Sideswipe Crash

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Two high-school girls were killed and four youths were injured early today in the sideswipe collision of two automobiles in the suburb of Southport.

Two of the injured were in critical condition.

The girls were Catherine A. Gerard, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Bortle of Southport, and Patricia Lilies, 16, of Elmira, daughter of Mrs. Nancy Liles of Rochester.

The escorts of the two girls were in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital here. They are Charles W. Firenze, 20, and Richard A. Falls, 17, both of Elmira.

In fair condition are Leo Williams, 21, of Elmira and Daniel Mehalozo, 15, of Southport, occupants of the other car.

The sheriff's office said the accident occurred when one car tried to pass the other, sideswiped it and careened into a tree.

Miss Liles' grandmother, Mrs. Graya Warren, said the youngsters had been to a drive-in movie and had stopped later for pizza.

Amnesty for OAS Is Held Possible

ALGIERS (AP) — New fires broke out in Algiers in the European Secret Army Organization's scorched earth campaign today even as Europeans were reported making a final compromise peace bid to Moslem nationalists.

Word of the peace contact came as a surprise. The secret army said in ordering a new campaign of destruction Thursday that secret contacts with the Moslems had failed.

Role in Force Doubtful

Few believed the Moslems would agree to the secret army demands for additional guarantees for Algeria's European minority. But well-informed sources in Paris said an all-night session in Rocher Noir, the Algerian administrative capital, brought the possibility of a Moslem amnesty for the secret army when Algeria becomes independent.

Europeans want to be represented in the Moslem security force being created, too, but this demand was turned down flatly by Moslems, it was reported.

Taking part in the talks were Belkacem Krim, deputy premier of the nationalist regime, Abderrahmanes Fares, president of the Algerian provisional executive, and representatives of Algeria's European community, led by former Algiers Mayor Jacques Chevallier.

Answer Due Shortly

Paris informants said the European representatives conveyed the latest secret army proposal to the Moslems. Officials indicated any answer would come soon. They also hinted that Jean-Jacques Susini, believed to represent the moderate faction in the secret army, had made direct contact with Moslem leaders.

The Paris sources said the Moslem nationalists would not budge from the position that "not a single comma of the Evian accord" ending the Algerian rebellion would be changed.

But the question of amnesty, the informants said, is within the framework of a possible accord.

Would Halt Destruction

In return for a general amnesty, the secret army would halt its scorched earth policy aimed at destruction of buildings and facilities the Moslems will inherit when they achieve independence.

Spirals of smoke rose over Algiers as the European and Moslem spokesmen conferred. Arson commandos set fire to two gas stations in the Chateauneuf suburb and burned another store in town.

Secret army commandos shattered Algiers' massive City Hall with explosives Friday night, hours after heavily damaging a municipal hospital and wrecking a big power dam installation.

One Killed, 43 Wounded

Police said the City Hall blast killed one soldier and wounded 43 others. Newsmen reported seeing at least four dead being carried from the building, and one report said six persons were killed.

Teams of secret army gunmen attacked Moslem auxiliary policemen and French gendarmes during the night. Police picked up the bodies of two Europeans.

European terrorists also struck in France, wounding five Moslems and two Africans in machine gun attacks on two Paris area bars Friday.

Still Eye Flights

At Sidi Bel Abbes, Foreign Legion headquarters in western Algeria, one European and three Moslems were killed late Friday in a fight.

Crowds of Europeans gathered outside battered Algiers City Hall to see if they could still get passports and birth certificates needed for flight to France.

Grim police officials, standing ankle deep in shattered glass and debris, said the Secret Army had planted an estimated 200 pounds of explosives in the city hall weeks before a company of the Ninth Zouave Regiment moved in to guard the building.

They said the charges apparently were set off by someone who had only to saunter into the build-

Song Quits As Premier Of Korea

SEOUL (AP) — Pro-Western Premier Song Yo-Chan quit his poost today and South Koera's military government announced the resignation had been accepted.

A statement by the ruling junta also announced acceptance of the resignation of Finance minister Chun Byung-Kyu.

Others Also Step Down

The rest of the cabinet ministers had said tney were stepping down, too, but the junta's announcement mentioned only Song and Chun.

The junta statement said the premier and finance minister had resigned for "personal reasons."

There have been reports that Song and Chun had been in sharp disagreement over economic policy, one of the toughest issues the military government has faced.

The junta issued its announcement after an emergency meeting under strongman Gen. Chung Hee Park.

Lauds Contributions

General Park, boss of the military government, said he was "extremely sorry" Song had resigned. He said Song had made a "great contribution" to the nation during the past year, a time when South Korea "was faced with one of its most difficult periods."

Park added that he hoped Song would continue to advise on the "path of the revolutionary government."

Canada Votes Monday, 2 Leaders Confident

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's hard-fought election campaign ends today amid indications the outcome will be decided mainly on economic issues which touched off fireworks in the contest between Conservatives and Liberals.

Unemployment and devaluation of the Canadian dollar were the issues hit hardest by Conservative Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson in the closing hours of the race which will be decided at the polls Monday.

Pearson, winding up his travels in Ottawa, claimed the prime minister's predictions of full employment were a "cruel hoax." He contended that devaluation of the dollar would raise prices on goods bought by Canadians.

Diefenbaker argued that Canada's economic condition is healthy and that the Liberals were trying to get into office on a "gloom and doom" policy. He concludes his campaign in his home town of Prince Albert, Sask.

All signs continued to point to a close election, with the two splinter parties—the New Democratic party and the Social Credit party—possibly picking up enough seats to hold the balance of power in the House of Commons.

Both Diefenbaker and Pearson continued to insist their parties will win a clear majority of the 264 seats to be filled. Public opinion polls and surveys are divided.

Failure of any party to get a clear majority probably would result in a new election within less than a year.

In Canada—as in England—the voters do not ballot directly for the party leaders but only for their own local candidates for the House of Commons. The leader of the winning party becomes prime minister and forms the government. The government may call a new election at any time up to a maximum of five years after it takes office.

The POWER of FAITH

In a New York hospital named for the site of Christ's final agony, devoted nuns—the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor —answer the biblical question, "am I my brother's keeper?"

For the past 62 years the House of Calvary has been a place where cancer victims, during their last weeks, find solace through one another and through the power of faith. Their faces betray an inner peace, an answer.

The POWER of FAITH

In a New York hospital named for the site of Christ's final agony, devoted nuns—the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor—answer the biblical question, "am I my brother's keeper?"

For the past 62 years the House of Calvary has been a place where cancer victims, during their last weeks, find solace through one another and through the power of faith. Their faces betray an inner peace, an answer.

Area Business Leader Becomes Full-Time Pastor

The associate district lay leaders of the Kingston District of The New York Conference, The Methodist Church and their wives, held a dinner at the Van Valkenburgh Colonial House, Windham, on Wednesday evening to honor Mr. and Mrs. Newton B. Ford, of Ashland.

Mr. Ford has been the Kingston District lay leader for the past six years and is leaving this office on the Board of Lay Activities of the conference to enter into the full-time ministry as a lay preacher. He will minister to the Callicoon, Freemont Center, Hankins and North Branch churches of the Newburgh District. Mr. Ford's appointment was announced by Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke at the recent annual conference of the church held in Poughkeepsie. He will assume his new duties on July 1. Mr. and Mrs. Ford will reside in Callicoon

Mr. Ford has disposed of his business interests as a partner in the Mountain Top Insurance Agency at Windham, and their home in Ashland " to serve The Methodist Church in. a fuller measure."

The Fords have two children, a daughter, Nadine and a son, Neil.

Twenty-three guests were present at the dinner in Windham which was arranged by Philip Chien, associate lay leader from Hobart. All of the lay leaders present spoke of their pleasant and rewarding associations with Mr. Ford and expressed well wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Ford in their new chosen field of endeavor.

Thomas W. Miller of Kingston, whose appointment as new district lay leader was announced, presented Mrs. Ford with a white orchid corsage, on behalf of the associate lay leaders, and their wives and to Mr. Ford a portable communion service for use in his new field of Christian ministry.

In accepting the gift, Mr. Ford said that he and Mrs. Ford were "gaining more than we are giving up. Although the material things are important, the greater satisfaction to us will be the opportunity to serve."

The Rev. George P. Werner, superintendent of the Kingston District, expressed great satisfaction and appreciation for the leadership that Mr. Ford has given to the Kingston district. He praised his "great decision for Christ."

William Sluiter, former district lay leader, of Margaretville, spoke of "Newton's challenging example to his associates."

The Rev. Merton S. Cady, of Hensonville expressed great concern over the "great void that will be left in the district and especially in the mountain community where Newton has been such a powerful force for his church." Mr. Miller described Mr. Ford as "an ambassador for Christ."

Among the associate lay leaders and wives present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Crist, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Du Mond, Walton; Mr. and Mrs. William Green, South Bethlehem; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hyzer, Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Varney, Woodstock, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wickham, Margaretville; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Miller, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. William Sluiter, Margaretville; the Rev. and Mrs. George P. Werner; the Rev. and Mrs. Merton S. Cady, Hensonville; Philip Chien of Hobart. Mrs. Chien was unable to be present as were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dedie of Norton Hill.

Following the dinner, a brief business meeting of the lay leaders was conducted and initial plans made for the New York Conference Methodist Men's annual fall assembly to be held at Sugar Maples, Maplecrest, Sept. 14-16.

School No. 7 Graders Visit Museum Village

Fourth and Fifth Grader students of School No. 7 participated on a field trip to the Museum Village of Smith's Clove in Monroe, Orange County recently.

During their visit to this museum, the largest of its type in New York State, the children saw the weaver making cloth, the blacksmith shaping iron on his forge, and the broom maker at work in his shop.

While visiting the more than 35 buildings which make up the museum, the group was shown in interpretative displays and moving crafts the manner in which our forefathers lived and worked.

Ministers Must Know Themselves To Help Others

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A prominent mental health expert feels that anybody who becomes a clergyman ought to see a psychiatrist.

Dr. John P. Kildahl actually doesn't mean it quite that way; he's a clergyman himself, an ordained Lutheran minister.

But he also is a practicing psychotherapy specialist, as well as the head of the psychology department of Brooklyn's Lutheran Medical Center, and his double-edged experience has convinced him that "the demands on a minister's personality and emotions are greater than most other professions."

Must Know Themselves

Only by thoroughly understanding themselves, he said, can ministers help others solve their problems.

Dr. Kildahl believes clergymen must maintain a healthy detachment in their relations with their flocks, which isn't always easy. "If there's a death in the parish," he said, "the minister can't allow his own emotions to be affected if he expects to be of help to the bereaved family. He must be able to differentiate betwen sympathy and empathy."

He said most parishioners expect their pastor to be, as St. Paul put it, "all things to all men." But Dr. Kildahl feels this is all but impossible for a normal human being living in the 20th Century to take literally.

Led To Medicine

His desire to counsel others was what led Dr. Kildahl from the ministry to medicine.

After his graduation from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., in 1949 he entered the Lutheran Seminary in St. Paul. During his postgraduate years he served as a hospital chaplain and the experience whetted his appetite for more knowledge on the methods of dealing with others' emotional problems.

He entered New York University while serving as an assistant minister at Bethany Lutheran Church in Brooklyn. When he received his doctorate in 1957 he left the ministry and took up private practice as a psychologist.

State to Push Anew for Eviction On Arterial Line

A spokesman for the State Department of Public Works and the Attorney General's Office has made known that before June 30, the state will again ask Poughkeepsie City Judge Milton Haven for the eviction of John and Rachel Lindmark and for razing of their storehouse for books.

It was reported that Attorney General Lefkowitz hopes to bring about a mutually satisfactory settlement of the controversial action.

The request for the eviction order reportedly was delayed by the Attorney General's office because Lindmark is confined to his Poughkeepsie home after undergoing surgery at Vassar Hospital.

The building in question is the last one to be razed for construction of the $12,000,000 north-south arterial highway in downtown Poughkeepsie. The state recently served an official land-taking notice on the Lindmarks, which means that the building and property now belongs to the state.

The 311,000 books, valued by Lindmark at upwards of a million dollars, remain the property of the 72-year-old book dealer, according to Lindmark's attorney, Russell E. Aldrich.

PSC Issues Order On Rail Service In Upstate Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission ordered the Delaware and Hudson Railroad today to continue operation of its Albany-Saratoga Springs commuter trains while investigators attempt to determine the effect of proposed discontinuation of service.

The commission said it would conduct a hearing on the proposal July 17 here, adding, that a ruling would be made by Sept. 27.

D & H provides once - daily round - trip service, Monday - through Friday, with stops at Ballston Spa, Round Lake, Mechanicville, West Waterford, Cohoes, Watervliet, Colonie and Menands.

On May 22, the railroad notified commuters that service would be dropped June 30. It explained that an 81 per cent fare increase would be needed to cover costs of running two trains. Such an increase would force passengers to obtain other means of transportation, the railroad said.

More than 200 regular passengers petitioned for a public hearing on the proposal.

Long Hair Poses Youths Problems

CHICAGO (AP)— Two 15-year-old boys may not be allowed to participate in their school's graduation because of their elaborate pompadours.

Wayne Tiess and Ronald Warchol are 8th graders at Mark Twain Elementary School. And despite barbering overtures from their principal they are determined to keep their lengthy, nonparted manes.

Miss Mary P. Mackin, principal of the school, told the boys to have their hair sheared or receive their diplomas in her office next Wednesday.

The boys complied Thursday with the order, but managed to confine the tonsorial damage to a minimum—one that Miss Mackin does not approve of.

Miss Mackin said Thiess' hair is "long on the sides, parted across the crown, long in the back and with peaks that look like horns."

She added that Warchol wears his hair, "overly long, elaboratelv fluffed up in front, and falling over his forehead."

The boys are backed by their parents.

Wayne and Ronald said they are disappointed at the threat of missing the ceremony, but they vowed to keep their hair styles, claiming, "other guys in our class have even longer hair."

WASHINGTON (AP)—An $88,000 interest-free loan to the Town of Clarkstown, Rockland County, N.Y., for the planning of a $5,483,000 sewer system has been approved by the Community Facilities Administration, it was announced Friday.

PSC Authorizes New Bus Service For Five Routes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Service Commission today authorized two Western New York bus lines to provide temporary service on five local routes now handled by the Greyhound Corp.

Niagara Frontier Transit System of Buffalo will serve two routes and Blue Bird Coach Lines of Olean will serve three.

Frontier Transit will take over runs between Buffalo and East Aurora and between Buffalo and Arcade.

Blue Bird will serve between Yorkshire, Olean and the Pennsylvania State Line near Portville; between Olean and Bradford Junction and Between Salamanca and the Pennsylvania State Line south of Limestone. It also will provide through service between Buffalo, Yorkshire, Arcade, Olean and the Pennsylvania State Line near Portville.

The commission authorized Greyhound to discontinue operations on the routes but did not indicate how long the temporary permission would be in effect.

Greyhound had sought the discontinuance to eliminate strictly local service.

'17 Law Is Revived ToDiscourageSmokers

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Police have revived a 45-year-old state law in an attempt to discourage this city's children from smoking.

The law, enacted in 1917, makes it a misdemeanor to sell or supply cigarettes or other tobacco products to children under 18.

Educators have complained of widespread smoking by school pupils.

His desire to counsel others was what led Dr. Kildahl from the ministry to medicine.

After his graduation from St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., in 1949 he entered the Lutheran Seminary in St. Paul. During his postgraduate years he served as a hospital chaplain and the experience whetted his appetite for more knowledge on the methods of dealing with others' emotional problems.

He entered New York University while serving as an assistant minister at Bethany Lutheran Church in Brooklyn. When he received his doctorate in 1957 he left the ministry and took up private practice as a psychologist.

State to Push Anew for Eviction On Arterial Line

A spokesman for the State Department of Public Works and the Attorney General's Office has made known that before June 30, the state will again ask Poughkeepsie City Judge Milton Haven for the eviction of John and Rachel Lindmark and for razing of their storehouse for books.

It was reported that Attorney General Lefkowitz hopes to bring about a mutually satisfactory settlement of the controversial action.

The request for the eviction order reportedly was delayed by the Attorney General's office because Lindmark is confined to his Poughkeepsie home after undergoing surgery at Vassar Hospital.

The building in question is the last one to be razed for construction of the $12,000,000 north-south arterial highway in downtown Poughkeepsie. The state recently served an official land-taking notice on the Lindmarks, which means that the building and property now belongs to the state.

The 311,000 books, valued by Lindmark at upwards of a million dollars, remain the property of the 72-year-old book dealer, according to Lindmark's attorney, Russell E. Aldrich.

PSC Issues Order On Rail Service In Upstate Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission ordered the Delaware and Hudson Railroad today to continue operation of its Albar -Saratoga Springs commuter trains while investigators attempt to determine the effect of proposed discontinuation of service.

The commission said it would conduct a hearing on the proposal July 17 here, adding, that a ruling would be made by Sept. 27.

D & H provides once - daily round - trip service, Monday - through Friday, with stops at Ballston Spa, Round Lake, Mechanicville, West Waterford, Cohoes, Watervliet, Colonie and Menands.

On May 22, the railroad notified commuters that service would be dropped June 30. It explained that an 81 per cent fare increase would be needed to cover costs of running two trains. Such an increase would force passengers to obtain other means of transportation, the railroad said.

More than 200 regular passengers petitioned for a public hearing on the proposal.

Long Hair Poses Youths Problems

CHICAGO (AP)— Two 15-year-old boys may not be allowed to participate in their school's graduation because of their elaborate pompadours.

Wayne Tiess and Ronald Warchol are 8th graders at Mark Twain Elementary School. And despite barbering overtures from their principal they are determined to keep their lengthy, nonparted manes.

Miss Mary P. Mackin, principal of the school, told the boys to have their hair sheared or receive their diplomas in her office next Wednesday.

The boys complied Thursday with the order, but managed to confine the tonsorial damage to a minimum—one that Miss Mackin does not approve of.

Miss Mackin said Thiess' hair is "long on the sides, parted across the crown, long in the back and with peaks that look like horns."

She added that Warchol wears his hair, "overly long, elaborately fluffed up in front, and falling over his forehead."

The boys are backed by their parents.

Wayne and Ronald said they are disappointed at the threat of missing the ceremony, but they vowed to keep their hair styles, claiming, "other guys in our class have even longer hair."

Ex-Headmaster Of Storm King School Dies at 78

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — Raphael J. Shortlidge, of Keene, retired educator, died Friday in a hospital after a short illness. He was 78.

Shortlidge, a graduate of Haverford College, spent a year of graduate work at Harvard University before becoming a teacher at the Cascadilla School in Ithaca, N.Y. He became teacher and assistant headmaster of the Choate School in Wallingford, Conn. in 1908 and served there until 1927. He moved to the Storm King School, Cornwall-on-Hudson, N.Y., where he was headmaster until 1932.

Later he became headmaster of the Pawling, N.Y., School, where he served until retirement from preparatory school work in 1942.

Talks Are Set Monday in Lead Company's Tieup

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Negotiators will meet Monday in the first attempt to settle a three-week-old strike of 3,700 workers at four plants of the National Lead Co.'s Doehler-Jarvis Division.

Members of the United Auto Workers Union walked off their jobs May 26 after the company proposed a 14-cent hourly wage cut. The union had asked improved fringe benefits estimated by the company to be worth 29 cents an hour.

Plants idled by the dispute include those at Toledo, Batavia, N.Y., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Pottstown, Pa.

The U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service called the Monday session.

Sewer Loan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—An $88,000 interest-free loan to the Town of Clarkstown, Rockland County, N.Y., for the planning of a $5,483,000 sewer system has been approved by the Community Facilities Administration, it was announced Friday.

PSC Authorizes New Bus Service For Five Routes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Public Service Commission today authorized two Western New York bus lines to provide temporary service on five local routes now handled by the Greyhound Corp.

Niagara Frontier Transit System of Buffalo will serve two routes and Blue Bird Coach Lines of Olean will serve three.

Frontier Transit will take over runs between Buffalo and East Aurora and between Buffalo and Arcade.

Blue Bird will serve between Yorkshire, Olean and the Pennsylvania State Line near Portville; between Olean and Bradford Junction and Between Salamanca and the Pennsylvania State Line south of Limestone. It also will provide through service between Buffalo, Yorkshire, Arcade, Olean and the Pennsylvania State Line near Portville.

The commission authorized Greyhound to discontinue operations on the routes but did not indicate how long the temporary permission would be in effect.

Greyhound had sought the discontinuance to eliminate strictly local service.

'17 Law Is Revived ToDiscourageSmokers

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Police have revived a 45-year-old state law in an attempt to discourage this city's children from smoking.

The law, enacted in 1917, makes it a misdemeanor to sell or supply cigarettes or other tobacco products to children under 18.

Educators have complained of widespread smoking by school pupils.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 16, 1962

VACATION TRAVEL

It's a rare person these days who doesn't plan on taking at least one pleasure trip by automobile during the course of a year.

In actual figures, as compiled by the American Automobile Assn., 92 million persons drove a total of 70 billion miles in vacation or recreation travel last year.

Virginia was the most visited state in the Union, followed by North Carolina. New York, which does not report figures, is estimated to have been third. The latter state is also estimated to have led in motorist-visitor expenditures within its boundaries (about $2 billion), ahead of Florida and New Jersey.

But Florida leads in the number of motels (5,460). Michigan and California are close to each other as second and third. New York is fourth. Over 60 per cent of auto travelers stop at motels.

The nation's forests were the lure for the majority of vacationers (102 million), ahead of other kinds of parks (79 million). The most visited national park in 1961 was Great Smokies. Next were Shenandoah-Skyline Drive, Mount Rainier, and Acadia in Maine.

All in all, the "average" American will make from two to five trips or more this year.

The role played in the economy by automobile manufacturing and servicing is immense—from raw materials to salesmen's commission. A secondary role, the money spent by vacationers, is also huge and vital.

But in this aspect, it perhaps performs an even more, important function—by enabling more people to visit America's great natural wonders and cultural centers more frequently and freely; by conveying an awareness of America as one great broad land, though filled with diversity.

It may not be inappropriate to call the automobile the modern-day verision of the covered wagon. For it is the means whereby the 20th-century American still seeks the far horizon.

AGE OF BIGNESS

By the time World War II was over, thoughtful observers like French author Raymond Aron were saying that war was so big it was running the generals.

Now some say almost the same thing of the $90 billion federal government we have. Can department secretaries really manage agencies which spend billions a year? Can any president put a controlling hand on the whole complex? The doubters grow more numerous.

As if all this were not enough, some educators are complaining that the same unmanageability is afflicting our universities—where conceivably we should be developing the values and purposes which might lead to better control of our massive activities.

Robert M. Hutchins, top educator, calls the modern university so conglomerate a mass that nobody can tell by looking at it what it is. Any demands can be made upon it, because no demand appears to be unsuitable."

A good many Americans are running around saying bigness "as such" is not bad. But we seem to be some distance from figuring out how to handle it.

HIGH HOPES

The disappearance of green spaces around the nation's cities is one of the well-known problems of our time. But most folks would be surprised to learn that there is a growing demand for real estate on mountain tops.

The need is not for scenic views from living rooms, however, but for sites for microwave relay towers, used in telephone and radio communications.

In 1955, according to Business Week, there were only 400 of these towers. Today, there are over 4,500. Not all are on mountain peaks because easy access has been needed for maintenance. But the development of improved and miniaturized equipment promises a real boom in the mountain-top market in the future.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CURSE OF KEYNES

To be told, at this late date, that we shall return to the Keynesian concept of planned deficit spending and to tax cutting without balancing the budget, is discouraging because one is expected to learn by experience and experience is against any such program. President Kennedy has heretofore not given the impression that he favored deficit financing.

It is unfortunate that President Kennedy in his Yale speech gave the country this dose of Miltown. We do not need to have our nerves quited; we need to be stimulated so that we can move forward. And the economy of this country cannot move forward unless drastic steps are taken in specific directions:

1. Government spending needs to be cut to the bone because there is no honest money available for wasteful expenditures;
2. Foreign aid must be cut to the bone because we are running out of funds to aid countries which do not need aid and do not know how to use our aid;
3. Taxes must be cut immediately both for corporations and individuals to stimulate economic activity and to restore a greater respect for the payment of taxes; postponement to April 1964 will not help much now;
4. A diligent search must be made for hidden American money and for tax evaded possessions abroad. The thief who evades taxes is as much a thief as one who steals a purse;
5. If a ceiling is put on prices, it must be put on wages; otherwise industry will become obsolescent;
6. GATT cannot be permitted to control the American tariff which must be free to function as necessary to protect American industry and the jobs of American workers from unfair competition in the American market. If this is done, a "Buy American" campaign will progress among our people which would hamper the Administration in its foreign negotiations;
7. We cannot afford to go on playing tiddlywinks with Soviet Russia or with any other country which seeks to destroy us. Our weapons must be sharp and swift.

Action along these lines will restore confidence. Inaction makes for confusion and confusion adds to fear. The President's economic advisers may know economics but not the psychology of the American people. The current recession is psychological and must be treated that way.

In his Yale spech, President Kennedy sought to restore confidence but he spoke to the Yale faculty not to the country and the Yale faculty, while undoubtedly erudite, is not enough of an audience to matter. For instance, the President treats the loss of confidence, which sent the stock market tumbling, as due to myth—the perpetuation of myths. He said:

"In recent months many have come to feel as I do that the dialogue between the parties—between business and government — between the Government and the public—is clogged by illusion and platitude and fails to reflect the true realities of contemporary American society."

He also said:

"Mythology distracts us everywhere—in government as in business, in politics as in economics, in foreign affairs as in domestic affairs."

But that is not quite the whole story. Money rushes toward profits and runs away from losses. That is the nature of the critter. There is no myth about this. To restore confidence, the President needs to assure those who work at the mechanism called money that they will not be harassed, that they will have a fair chance to do their jobs, to earn a profit, and to rebuild their plants and equipment. Those assurances do not appear in the President's speech in clear-cut, clarion tones, although a sympathetic person can say that is what he understands the President means.

But the sympathetic person does not count as the unsympathetic person, particularly the frightened person who lost money in the stock market and still does not understand why.

There can be no question but that President Kennedy has come to the Presidency at a very hard time. All the mistakes of his predecessors have fallen into his lap. Those are the fortunes of politics. He faces a tough age and out of it will emerge either a hero or a frightened man. The choice is his.

The President is entitled to support in any effort to save our currency, to make it possible to renew plant and equipment and to achieve full employment. But his program needs to be understood. American businessmen prefer to support their President rather than to oppose him.

The Mature Parent

Here's a Sound Approach On Handling of Children

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a sample of a dialogue contained in a new book which offers much wise counsel to parents:

Mother: But we are supposed to show affection to a child.

Dr. B: Who said that? I never said you were "supposed" to show affection.

Second Mother: Well, any authority you read advocates it.

Dr. B: I don't read authorities and then do as they tell me. I read books that can start me thinking on my own.

Mother: Anyway, kissing children isn't the only form of showing affection.

Dr. B: Look, can we start all over again? I think we've just been presented with something much more important than the problems of "showing" affection. As for kissing babies, I think we should leave that to political candidates. More important is your statement that according to all authorities you read, you're supposed to show affection whether you have it or not. . . .

The book is "Dialogues With Mothers" and the Dr. B who gives it to us is Dr. Bruno Bettelheim, psychoanalyst and noted director of the University of Chicago's Sonia Shankman Orthogenic School, a treatment center for emotionally disturbed chidren.

As you may have noted, I seldom recommend books by child guidance experts in this column. I refuse to recommend the majority of such books because their authors are often much more intent upon getting us to respect their superior knowledge of children than they are upon encouraging us to respect our own feelings toward our particular Johnny or Marilyn.

I joyously recommend Dr. Bettelheim's "Dialogues With Mothers" because he doesn't give a hoot about our respect for his knowledge of children. He is interested in teaching us methods by which we can reach our own knowledge of what Johnny is experiencing when he resists bedtime, what goes on in Marilyn when she tries to shove baby sister from our lap.

By leading us back into our own experiences with fears of loneliness, of being disappointing, of showing ourselves hurt, angry and aggressive, Dr. Bettelheim leads us forward into compassion for similar emotions in Johnny and Marilyn.

This one, dear reader, is a reliable expert.

The book is a transcription of a series of meetings he held with groups of mothers of normal children over a period of years. What we read is the step-by-step process by which the mothers discovered that the questions they asked about their children's behavior were actually questions about their rights to feel what they felt about the children's behavior. As he says:

"We just don't trust ourselves enough to believe that we have the answers right inside us if we dared to look into ourselves."

Dr. Bettelheim taught his fortunate students how to do just that. In his book you can feel the mothers' self-confidence growing as they come into deeper contact with Dr. Bettelheim's uncompromising acceptance of himself.

Let Dad Have His Day

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Political strength of the right wing movement in America got its first test in the California primary. Results are by no means clear.

ON THE ONE HAND, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the Republican gubernatorial nomination after repudiating the John Birch Society. This can be taken as an indication that right wing support is not necessary for victory this year.

But California experts point out that GOP Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel—running for renomination without repudiating the Birchites — defeated two right wing opponents by far greater majorities than Nixon defeated State Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell, a conservative who asked for and got right wing support.

This poses a big question for Nixon in the coming campaign to defeat Democratic Gov. Pat Brown.

Nixon can't possibly win in November unless he draws to his banner all the Republicans and right wingers who voted for Mr. Shell.

Nixon must also get support from thousands of registered Democrats, who are in a majority in California. If he now appeals to the right wingers, he loses the Democrats.

IT TOOK FORTITUDE, for Nixon to repudiate the John Birch Society in the primary.

But as one national GOP leader in Washington sizes up the situation, "A candidate in a close race can't afford to repudiate anyone. He should campaign on the principle, "I'm going to make the best governor you ever had. So I want everyone to vote for me, and I don't care who you are.'"

Another angle to this story is that a third member of the John Birch Society, Republican H. L. Richardson of Temple City, won nomination for Congress from a new 29th district in the Los Angeles area. This is also the area from which the two incumbent Birchites in Congress come — Reps. John Rousselot and Edgar Hiestand.

Since all 30 of the incumbent California congressmen — 16 Democrats and 14 Republicans — won renomination, this last point does not mean too much.

It leaves the real test for the eight additional House seats which the state gained in the 1960 census.

STILL ANOTHER important factor is that the total primary vote, an estimated three million, is only about half of the over-six milion votes cast for Kennedy and Nixon in 1960.

This is normal for a mid-term primary. But there may have been special circumstances in California.

Brown was a shoo-in for renomination, so many Democrats saw no point in voting. Republicans who didn't like the way Nixon and Shell split the party just sat this one out. Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, in Washington recently, predicted many voters would stay home.

Los Angeles is the heartland of the California right wing movement. There are 280 California organizations listed in the "Directory of Rightist Groups."

First Washington analyses of California results were that they might set a pattern for the 1962 congressional elections. While the right wing groups are not united into strong state-wide central organizations, they do have strength in many localities and congressional districts, particularly in the South and West. They could conceivably increase the conservative strength in the next Congress.

A Democratic appraisal is that the right wing movements of the last two years are more shadow than substance. This is the basis for predictions that the usual mid-term election trend in which the party in control of the White House traditionally loses some strength in Congress could be reversed this year.

Retired Postal Employe Feted; Served 35 Years

HIGH FALLS — Arnold G. vanLaer was honored by past and present personnel of the High Falls Post Office at a picnic supper recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sarr.

Those present include Mr. and Mrs. Eli Zwick and son, Stephen, Mrs. Helen Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbeck and children Roy, Carl and Martha; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stokes and children Kathy, Peggy and Jenny Sue; Mrs. Elsa D. Hart, Miss Anna Draudt, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Ghear, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Countryman, Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck, Mrs. George Hoertel, Mr. Wilfred Neff, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sarr and children Jane, Linda and Peter; Edward and Ronnie Hunlock and Miss Bonnie Roosa. Mr. vanLaer was presented with rosebushes for his garden.

Mr. vanLaer retired from his duties as rural carrier from the High Falls Post Office on April 1 after serving the community for 35 years. He served under three postmasters; the late LeRoy Krom, Elsa D. Hart and Eli Zwick.

When he entered the postal service in August 1927 under Mr. Krom, the route covered 20 miles, a long route for the horse and buggy he used in those days. As the area grew and people demanded more service, the route grew into 60 miles. This was too much even for more modern transportation and in 1958, an auxiliary carrier was appointed. This later became route two.

In his thirty-five years, there was only one day that he was unable to travel the three miles from his home to the post office and there were very few days he was unable to cover all or nearly all of his route. There never was any extra services too great for him. He will long be remembered by the people on the route by his kindness and faithfulness.

When the National Post Office Department inaugurated their safe driving program, he was one of the first to receive their citation and he continued to receive them annually up to the time of his retirement.

Mr. Van Laer served his country in World War I as a member of the National Guard, Troop B, First New York Cavalry stationed in Wyoming. In December, 1917, he went overseas and was in France for a year and a half. He was on the committee of local veterans who were instrumental in forming the Town of Marbletown Post 1512 of the American Legion. He is a former commissioner of the High Falls Fire Company. He belongs to the National Rural Letter Carriers Association, the John Burroughs Natural History Society and the High Falls Reformed Church.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

June 16, 1942 — A sewage disposal plant was proposed for the site of the former U & D Railroad shops.

City trucks had picked up some 500 pounds of scrap rubber in two days.

An action was brought in Supreme Court by Dr. John Weiss, of Ellenville, against the Town of Wawarsing for damages attributed to poor maintenance of a town highway.

Area resorts were preparing for the first big rush of the season over the July 4 holiday.

June 16, 1952 — The Ulster County Health Department reported a polio case in the city.

Excelsior Hose Company met to plan for the holiday of a circus and carnival here.

Area police sought the driver of a car which crashed into another on Route 32 two miles south of the city and pushed it into a rock wall injuring two Esopus women.

Stafford Slater, of Tremper Avenue, was honored by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. for completing 30 years of service.

Here is a hand from the Silodor - Tierney book which shows what deceptive defense can do to upset a declarer.

Silodor points out that North's two club Stayman bid was wrong. He should have jumped right to three no-trump with his 4-3-3-3 distribution.

South ducked the first heart but had to take the continuation. Most declarers would go right over to dummy to take the diamond finesse, whereupon they would wind up with ten easy tricks and possibly 11 if they played exactly right.

This particular South decided that he might not have to try the diamond finesse at all. The queen of spades might drop, so South cashed his ace and king and sure enough East dropped the queen. Now South could count on four spade tricks so he led the deuce and finessed dummy's nine. East produced the ten spot together with the remark, "I just found it among my clubs." Back came a heart and another game had bit the dust.

I want to add my fervent amen to Silodor's remark that North should not have used Stayman. When your partner opens no-trump and you have 4-3-3-3 distribution there is a good chance that you will make as many tricks in no-trump as in a 4-4 major fit and if you don't find that fit, you will help the defense. Thus, East knew surely that South did not have four spades and felt safe in making his brilliant play on the second spade lead.

Trinity Sunday will be the sermon topic this week, at the Reformed Church. This will be the last 11 a. m. service of the season. Beginning June 24, worship service will be held at 10 a. m. The summer schedule will be in effect through Sunday, Sept. 2.

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be observed June 24.

The fellowship hall of the Reformed Church Education Building will again be open for the Teen Night each Wednesday evening during the summer, begining June 20. All young people of the New Paltz area in grades 8 through 12, as of September may attend. A small donation will be received and refreshments will be sold.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Culver are chairmen of an advisory committee which also includes: Harry Cornwell, Stanley Hasbrouck Jr., Mrs. Robert Jansen, Mrs. Richard Ordway, Grant Shaffer and Mrs. Charles Van Alst, as well as the Rev. Roger Leonard, associate minister and one of the leaders of the junior-high and the senior-high youth fellowships. A teen council will soon be selected to set the policy of the group.

The Ladies' Aid will meet Friday afternoon, June 22, at 2:30 p. m. in the Fireside Room of the Reformed Church Education Building. Mrs. Eva Belcher will be the hostess.

Miss Mary Jacobson and Miss Bernice Paradies were honored at a surprise party given by the choir of the Reformed Church. Gilbert Clough, choir president, presented a gift to each of the honored guests. Refreshments were served.

Lutheran Church Notes

Sunday, the Day of Pentecost, two young ladies were confirmed into adult membership in the church. They are Judith Einenkle and Monika Gaides. Trinity Sunday, they will receive their first Communion.

The 34th and final convention of the United Lutheran Synod of New York and New England, a 232,000 member church, was held at Wagner College, Staten Island, June 4-6. In attendance as delegates from New Paltz Redeemer Church were Mrs. Elsie Mertes, Charles Braitling and the Rev. Paul Mertzlufft.

Starting June 13 a pastor's class will be held Wednesday 8 p. m. at the church. The purpose of the class is to inform all prospective members and interested members about the like and work of the church.

The second annual strawberry festival will be held at the Redeemer Lutheran Church, 12 Church Street, Friday, June 22, at 7 p. m. There will be a variety of combinations of strawberries, cake, ice cream and whipped cream.

Central School Notes

In memory of H. Leland Walthery and in the name of her son, Peter, class of 1954 of New Paltz Central School, Mrs. Dorothea Walthery has presented the New Paltz Art Department with a complete set of photographic equipment, including a 35 mm enlarger. She has also given a lapridary wheel with all its parts, including stones which she picked up around New Paltz.

The Girls Athletic Association of New Paltz Central School held a square and round dance on the school parking lot recently. Gerow Smiley called the dances.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JUNE 16, 1962

VACATION TRAVEL

It's a rare person these days who doesn't plan on taking at least one pleasure trip by automobile during the course of a year.

In actual figures, as compiled by the American Automobile Assn., 92 million persons drove a total of 70 billion miles in vacation or recreation travel last year.

Virginia was the most visited state in the Union, followed by North Carolina. New York, which does not report figures, is estimated to have been third. The latter state is also estimated to have led in motorist-visitor expenditures within its boundaries (about $2 billion), ahead of Florida and New Jersey.

But Florida leads in the number of motels (5,460). Michigan and California are close to each other as second and third. New York is fourth. Over 60 per cent of auto travelers stop at motels.

The nation's forests were the lure for the majority of vacationers (102 million), ahead of other kinds of parks (79 million). The most visited national park in 1961 was Great Smokies. Next were Shenandoah-Skyline Drive, Mount Rainier, and Acadia in Maine.

All in all, the "average" American will make from two to five trips or more this year.

The role played in the economy by automobile manufacturing and servicing is immense—from raw materials to salesmen's commission. A secondary role, the money spent by vacationers, is also huge and vital.

But in this aspect, it perhaps performs an even more, important function—by enabling more people to visit America's great natural wonders and cultural centers more frequently and freely; by conveying an awareness of America as one great broad land, though filled with diversity.

It may not be inappropriate to call the automobile the modern-day verision of the covered wagon. For it is the means whereby the 20th-century American still seeks the far horizon.

AGE OF BIGNESS

By the time World War II was over, thoughtful observers like French author Raymond Aron were saying that war was so big it was running the generals.

Now some say almost the same thing of the $90 billion federal government we have. Can department secretaries really manage agencies which spend billions a year? Can any president put a controlling hand on the whole complex? The doubters grow more numerous.

As if all this were not enough, some educators are complaining that the same unmanageability is afflicting our universities—where conceivably we should be developing the values and purposes which might lead to better control of our massive activities.

Robert M. Hutchins, top educator, calls the modern university so conglomerate a mass that nobody can tell by looking at it what it is. Any demands can be made upon it, because no demand appears to be unsuitable."

A good many Americans are running around saying bigness "as such" is not bad. But we seem to be some distance from figuring out how to handle it.

HIGH HOPES

The disappearance of green spaces around the nation's cities is one of the well-known problems of our time. But most folks would be surprised to learn that there is a growing demand for real estate on mountain tops.

The need is not for scenic views from living rooms, however, but for sites for microwave relay towers, used in telephone and radio communications.

In 1955, according to Business Week, there were only 400 of these towers. Today, there are over 4,500. Not all are on mountain peaks because easy access has been needed for maintenance. But the development of improved and miniaturized equipment promises a real boom in the mountain-top market in the future.

'These Days'

THE CURSE OF KEYNES

To be told, at this late date, that we shall return to the Keynesian concept of planned deficit spending and to tax cutting without balancing the budget, is discouraging because one is expected to learn by experience and experience is against any such program. President Kennedy has heretofore not given the impression that he favored deficit financing.

It is unfortunate that President Kennedy in his Yale speech gave the country this dose of Miltown. We do not need to have our nerves quited; we need to be stimulated so that we can move forward. And the economy of this country cannot move forward unless drastic steps are taken in specific directions:

1. Government spending needs to be cut to the bone because there is no honest money available for wasteful expenditures;
2. Foreign aid must be cut to the bone because we are running out of funds to aid countries which do not need aid and do not know how to use our aid;
3. Taxes must be cut immediately both for corporations and individuals to stimulate economic activity and to restore a greater respect for the payment of taxes; postponement to April 1964 will not help much now;
4. A diligent search must be made for hidden American money and for tax evaded possessions abroad. The thief who evades taxes is as much a thief as one who steals a purse;
5. If a ceiling is put on prices, it must be put on wages; otherwise industry will become obsolescent;
6. GATT cannot be permitted to control the American tariff which must be free to function as necessary to protect American industry and the jobs of American workers from unfair competition in the American market. If this is done, a "Buy American" campaign will progress among our people which would hamper the Administration in its foreign negotiations;
7. We cannot afford to go on playing tiddlywinks with Soviet Russia or with any other country which seeks to destroy us. Our weapons must be sharp and swift.

Action along these lines will restore confidence. Inaction makes for confusion and confusion adds to fear. The President's economic advisers may know economics but not the psychology of the American people. The current recession is psychological and must be treated that way.

In his Yale spech, President Kennedy sought to restore confidence but he spoke to the Yale faculty not to the country and the Yale faculty, while undoubtedly erudite, is not enough of an audience to matter. For instance, the President treats the loss of confidence, which sent the stock market tumbling, as due to myth—the perpetuation of myths. He said:

"In recent months many have come to feel as I do that the dialogue between the parties—between business and government — between the Government and the public—is clogged by illusion and platitude and fails to reflect the true realities of contemporary American society."

He also said:

"Mythology distracts us everywhere—in government as in business, in politics as in economics, in foreign affairs as in domestic affairs."

But that is not quite the whole story. Money rushes toward profits and runs away from losses. That is the nature of the critter. There is no myth about this. To restore confidence, the President needs to assure those who work at the mechanism called money that they will not be harassed, that they will have a fair chance to do their jobs, to earn a profit, and to rebuild their plants and equipment. Those assurances do not appear in the President's speech in clear-cut, clarion tones, although a sympathetic person can say that is what he understands the President means.

But the sympathetic person does not count as the unsympathetic person, particularly the frightened person who lost money in the stock market and still does not understand why.

There can be no question but that President Kennedy has come to the Presidency at a very hard time. All the mistakes of his predecessors have fallen into his lap. Those are the fortunes of politics. He faces a tough age and out of it will emerge either a hero or a frightened man. The choice is his.

The President is entitled to support in any effort to save our currency, to make it possible to renew plant and equipment and to achieve full employment. But his program needs to be understood. American businessmen prefer to support their President rather than to oppose him.

The Mature Parent

Here's a Sound Approach On Handling of Children

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a sample of a dialogue contained in a new book which offers much wise counsel to parents:

Mother: But we are supposed to show affection to a child.

Dr. B: Who said that? I never said you were "supposed" to show affection.

Second Mother: Well, any authority you read advocates it.

Dr. B: I don't read authorities and then do as they tell me. I read books that can start me thinking on my own.

Mother: Anyway, kissing children isn't the only form of showing affection.

Dr. B: Look, can we start all over again? I think we've just been presented with something much more important than the problems of "showing" affection. As for kissing babies, I think we should leave that to political candidates. More important is your statement that according to all authorities you read, you're supposed to show affection whether you have it or not. . . .

The book is "Dialogues With Mothers" and the Dr. B who gives it to us is Dr. Bruno Bettelheim, psychoanalyst and noted director of the University of Chicago's Sonia Shankman Orthogenic School, a treatment center for emotionally disturbed chidren.

As you may have noted, I seldom recommend books by child guidance experts in this column. I refuse to recommend the majority of such books because their authors are often much more intent upon getting us to respect their superior knowledge of children than they are upon encouraging us to respect our own feelings toward our particular Johnny or Marilyn.

I joyously recommend Dr. Bettelheim's "Dialogues With Mothers" because he doesn't give a hoot about our respect for his knowledge of children. He is interested in teaching us methods by which we can reach our own knowledge of what Johnny is experiencing when he resists bedtime, what goes on in Marilyn when she tries to shove baby sister from our lap.

By leading us back into our own experiences with fears of loneliness, of being disappointing, of showing ourselves hurt, angry and aggressive, Dr. Bettelheim leads us forward into compassion for similar emotions in Johnny and Marilyn.

This one, dear reader, is a reliable expert.

The book is a transcription of a series of meetings he held with groups of mothers of normal children over a period of years. What we read is the step-by-step process by which the mothers discovered that the questions they asked about their children's behavior were actually questions about their rights to feel what they felt about the children's behavior. As he says:

"We just don't trust ourselves enough to believe that we have the answers right inside us if we dared to look into ourselves."

Dr. Bettelheim taught his fortunate students how to do just that. In his book you can feel the mothers' self-confidence growing as they come into deeper contact with Dr. Bettelheim's uncompromising acceptance of himself.

Let Dad Have His Day

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Political strength of the right wing movement in America got its first test in the California primary. Results are by no means clear.

ON THE ONE HAND, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the Republican gubernatorial nomination after repudiating the John Birch Society. This can be taken as an indication that right wing support is not necessary for victory this year.

But California experts point out that GOP Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel—running for renomination without repudiating the Birchites — defeated two right wing opponents by far greater majorities than Nixon defeated State Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell, a conservative who asked for and got right wing support.

This poses a big question for Nixon in the coming campaign to defeat Democratic Gov. Pat Brown.

Nixon can't possibly win in November unless he draws to his banner all the Republicans and right wingers who voted for Mr. Shell.

Nixon must also get support from thousands of registered Democrats, who are in a majority in California. If he now appeals to the right wingers, he loses the Democrats.

IT TOOK FORTITUDE, for Nixon to repudiate the John Birch Society in the primary.

But as one national GOP leader in Washington sizes up the situation, "A candidate in a close race can't afford to repudiate anyone. He should campaign on the principle, "I'm going to make the best governor you ever had. So I want everyone to vote for me, and I don't care who you are.' "

Another angle to this story is that a third member of the John Birch Society, Republican H. L. Richardson of Temple City, won nomination for Congress from a new 29th district in the Los Angeles area. This is also the area from which the two incumbent Birchites in Congress come — Reps. John Rousselot and Edgar Hiestand.

Since all 30 of the incumbent California congressmen — 16 Democrats and 14 Republicans — won renomination, this last point does not mean too much.

It leaves the real test for the eight additional House seats which the state gained in the 1960 census.

STILL ANOTHER important factor is that the total primary vote, an estimated three million, is only about half of the over-six milion votes cast for Kennedy and Nixon in 1960.

This is normal for a mid-term primary. But there may have been special circumstances in California.

Brown was a shoo-in for renomination, so many Democrats saw no point in voting. Republicans who didn't like the way Nixon and Shell split the party just sat this one out. Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, in Washington recently, predicted many voters would stay home.

Los Angeles is the heartland of the California right wing movement. There are 280 California organizations listed in the "Directory of Rightist Groups."

First Washington analyses of California results were that they might set a pattern for the 1962 congressional elections. While the right wing groups are not united into strong state-wide central organizations, they do have strength in many localities and congressional districts, particularly in the South and West. They could conceivably increase the conservative strength in the next Congress.

A Democratic appraisal is that the right wing movements of the last two years are more shadow than substance. This is the basis for predictions that the usual mid-term election trend in which the party in control of the White House traditionally loses some strength in Congress could be reversed this year.

Retired Postal Employe Feted; Served 35 Years

HIGH FALLS — Arnold G. vanLaer was honored by past and present personnel of the High Falls Post Office at a picnic supper recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sarr.

Those present include Mr. and Mrs. Eli Zwick and son, Stephen, Mrs. Helen Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbeck and children Roy, Carl and Martha; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stokes and children Kathy, Peggy and Jenny Sue; Mrs. Elsa D. Hart, Miss Anna Draudt, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Ghear, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Countryman, Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck, Mrs. George Hoertel, Mr. Wilfred Neff, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Sarr and children Jane, Linda and Peter; Edward and Ronnie Hunlock and Miss Bonnie Roosa. Mr. vanLaer was presented with rosebushes for his garden.

Mr. vanLaer retired from his duties as rural carrier from the High Falls Post Office on April 1 after serving the community for 35 years. He served under three postmasters; the late LeRoy Krom, Elsa D. Hart and Eli Zwick.

When he entered the postal service in August 1927 under Mr. Krom, the route covered 20 miles, a long route for the horse and buggy he used in those days. As the area grew and people demanded more service, the route grew into 60 miles. This was too much even for more modern transportation and in 1958, an auxiliary carrier was appointed. This later became route two.

In his thirty-five years, there was only one day that he was unable to travel the three miles from his home to the post office and there were very few days he was unable to cover all or nearly all of his route. There never was any extra services too great for him. He will long be remembered by the people on the route by his kindness and faithfulness.

When the National Post Office Department inaugurated their safe driving program, he was one of the first to receive their citation and he continued to receive them annually up to the time of his retirement.

Mr. Van Laer served his country in World War I as a member of the National Guard, Troop B, First New York Cavalry stationed in Wyoming. In December, 1917, he went overseas and was in France for a year and a half. He was on the committee of local veterans who were instrumental in forming the Town of Marbletown Post 1512 of the American Legion. He is a former commissioner of the High Falls Fire Company. He belongs to the National Rural Letter Carriers Association, the John Burroughs Natural History Society and the High Falls Reformed Church.

Here is a hand from the Silodor - Tierney book which shows what deceptive defense can do to upset a declarer.

Silodor points out that North's two club Stayman bid was wrong. He should have jumped right to three no-trump with his 4-3-3-3 distribution.

South ducked the first heart but had to take the continuation. Most declarers would go right over to dummy to take the diamond finesse, whereupon they would wind up with ten easy tricks and possibly 11 if they played exactly right.

This particular South decided that he might not have to try the diamond finesse at all. The queen of spades might drop, so South cashed his ace and king and sure enough East dropped the queen. Now South could count on four spade tricks so he led the deuce and finessed dummy's nine. East produced the ten spot together with the remark, "I just found it among my clubs." Back came a heart and another game had bit the dust.

I want to add my fervent amen to Silodor's remark that North should not have used Stayman. When your partner opens no-trump and you have 4-3-3-3 distribution there is a good chance that you will make as many tricks in no-trump as in a 4-4 major fit and if you don't find that fit, you will help the defense. Thus, East knew surely that South did not have four spades and felt safe in making his brilliant play on the second spade lead.

Graham Suggests Missionary Work For Young People

CHICAGO (AP) — A call for youth to give up their lives of leisure and accept the challenge of missionary work has been issued by evangelist Billy Graham in his "Crusade for Christ" in Chicago.

Graham said young people are needed as missionaries both overseas and at home in their own communities.

Making his strongest appeal thus far in the crusade for replacing idleness by "doing a real service for Christ," Graham said Friday night:

"I have been to most of the countries of the free world and I am convinced that many of them need our help. What a challenge for young people to accept by taking Christ and His gospel to the ends of the earth."

Speaking to a crowd of 43,000 at McCormick Place in the 17th rally of the 19-day crusade, Graham told those under 25 in the audience they should make these committments to God:

"I am willing to study. I am willing to become a missionary.

"I am willing to go out under the banner of Christ.

"I am willing to go to the University of Oklahoma and other schools where I can study linguistics.

"I am willing to go to Bible school and learn the scriptures.

"I want to go out and be a missionary in Chicago — in my crowd, in my gang."

"God can use you to build a hospital in Nigeria," Graham told the young people in his audience. "God can use you to help some illiterate people in Indonesia. But you don't want to give up your leisure time."

Graham said the youth of today don't have enough to do. "Too much leisure has often led to gang war, gambling and murder and all the rest," Graham said.

Crusade officials said 1,650 persons made what they call "decisions for Christ" after Graham's sermon. Nearly 14,000 have done so thus far.

The crusade will close with a huge rally Sunday in Chicago's Soldier Field.

Consultant Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee plans to call next week a consultant who warned Commercial Solvents Corp. in 1960 that the company's deal with Billie Sol Estes "has within it the seeds of self destruction."

These seeds of self destruction, wrote James A. McConnell, are "Billie's tremendous desire for money, power and prestige. Billie may some day become unmanageable."

McConnell sent his warning to Maynard C. Wheeler, Commercial Solvents' president, who completed three days of testimony Friday before the subcommittee.

McConnell formerly headed the Department of Agriculture's surplus grain organization under the Eisenhower administration. He resigned to become a director and consultant of Commercial Solvents.

No Deals With Shell: Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A California Republican official says Richard M. Nixon told him no deals would be made with Joseph C. Shell to get the assemblyman's support in Nixon's bid for the governorship.

Caspar Weinberger, vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, quoted Nixon Friday as saying:

"There will be no deals of any kind, but I'll talk with any candidates or party leaders on their ideas for the party platform and program."

Shell, a conservative who was defeated by the former vice president in the Republican gubernatorial primary, offered Thursday to support Nixon if he met two "minimum conditions": Give the Republicans who voted for Shell 35 per cent of the California delegation to the 1964 GOP National Convention and promise a $200 million cut in the state budget.

Weinberger said Nixon rejected the proposed deal when he returned from a brief vacation in Baja California, Mexico.

Shell, meanwhile, was also criticized by the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, John Krehbiel, and by GOP assemblymen who threatened to oust him as the assembly minority leader.

Krehbiel said that Shell was establishing himself as "the worst loser in the history of California politics."

All-Out Offensive

The Secret Army command in Algiers proclaimed an all-out offensive of destruction to begin last Thursday midnight. In the first 24 hours it spread through the territory. European terrorists in the west threatened even greater destructive efforts.

Terrorists blew up three surgical pavilions and the modernistic laboratory of the 2,500-bed Mustaphan Hospital, setting off two hours of chaos and panic. No one was injured, but officials feared the $100,000 damage could not be repaired under present conditions.

Other Secret Army agents struck 100 miles to the east, blowing up the control installations of the Darguina Dam, a major supplier of power for Algiers. Officials said repairs would take 8 to 10 months.

In Side Bel Abbes, historic home of the French Foreign Legion, six grade schools and a high school were burned.

Heed Army Orders

Europeans fleeing the territory by the thousands heeded Secret Army orders to burn everything that might be of use to the Moslems. Stores and office buildings were burned to the ground in scattered parts of Algiers. Automobiles were set afire in the streets where they were abandoned. Even household furniture went up in smoke.

Secret Army commandos armed with automatic weapons attacked a police encampment in Oran, wounding six persons. Other terrorist attacks killed four persons there.

River Work Listed

WASHINGTON (AP)—An $838,716 contract for improvements to the approach channel to the Troy lock and dam on the Hudson River and to upstream guide walls has been announced by the Army Engineers.

The engineers said Friday that work would be done by the Vaughn Construction Corp. of Long Island City.

3 Persons Hurt In City Mishaps

Three persons were injured in three automobile accidents in the city Friday afternoon and evening.

Helen Brodhead, 46, of 129 Hunter Street and John Brodhead, 8, of that same address were injured yesterday when two cars collided at 3:30 p. m. on Hunter Street at the intersection of Hone Street, according to police reports. The woman was reportedly injured about the leg, arm and back and the youth about the left shoulder.

Police reports say that a car being operated by John Brodhead, 47, of 127 Hunter Street had come to a stop on Hunter Street at the intersection with Hone Street when a car operated by Irene C. Benkert, 24, of 21 Washington Avenue came up Hone Street, turned right on to Hunter and collided with the Brodhead vehicle. Both the injured persons were passengers in the Brodhead vehicle.

Private Arrest Made

A woman was injured and a private person arrest was made as the result of a two-car accident Friday evening on Crown Street at the intersection of John Street, according to police reports.

The reports say that Mabel Todd, 64, of 130 St. James Street, suffered a possible concussion when a vehicle operated by James H. R. Moreau, 27, of 418 Mill Street, Waterbury, Conn., passed through a full stop sign and collided with a vehicle being operated by Earl Finch, 64, of Box 224. The Finch vehicle was reportedly headed south on Crown Street and the Moreau vehicle passed through the stop sign at John Street when the accident occurred.

Reports Hit-Run

Moreau was arrested by Finch and taken to police headquarters where he was released in his own custody for appearance in City Court, today. Disposition of the case was adjourned until Monday.

Frank Esper of Stone Ridge reported to city police this morning that an unknown vehicle operator had struck his 1960 auto while it was parked on Grand Street near Ten-Broeck Avenue. The left front and rear fenders and the rear bumper were damaged according to the report.

Strike Is Still Facing Air Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flight engineers kept a mid-afternoon strike threat hanging today over three airlines — Pan American, Eastern and Trans World.

The choice facing the union—the Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO — still appeared to be whether to stage a walkout in face of President Kennedy's stern warning against one, or to accept Kennedy's arbitration proposal.

The 1,700 engineers have twice rejected Kennedy's settlement formula, agreeing to arbitrate all issues except the key one—a controvrsy over manning jet planes.

A strike on the three airlines would ground 40 per cent of the nation's commercial airline service, amounting to an average of 60,000 domestic and 20,000 international passengers daily.

Couple and Man Killed in Crash

WEST CARTHAGE, N.Y. (AP—Three persons, including a husband and wife, were killed Friday night in a two-car collision on a county road near this northern New York community.

They were: Albert G. Ryther, 77, of Copenhagen; his wife, Ruth, 57, and Richard S. Currier, 26, of Carthage.

State Police said the cars crashed head-on at a curve in the road.

Currier was married and the father of two. Ryther was a retired carpenter.

Blast Scares Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A gas main explosion followed by a towering fire touched off a king-sized scare northeast of Columbus early today. But no injuries evidently resulted, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

At first, just after the blast and flash fire, the patrol reported an airliner had crashed. Port Columbus Airport is on the northeast edge of the city.

The gas main blowup, which occurred in an uninhabited, open-field area near the village of New Albany, sent flames on high. Alarmed citizens telephoned authorities and news media—some of them also fearing a plane had fallen.

The fire burned brightly and was visible for miles but subsided in less than an hour.

Preliminary word was that an electric wire may have fallen across a break in the main.

Approve Integration

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—A move to integrate the Methodist Church Negro and white jurisdictions has won the unanimous endorsement of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of Methodists.

At its 94th annual meeting here the conference voted 243-0 Friday to merge the all-Negro Baltimore jurisdiction with the central Pennsylvania group's parent Northeastern jurisdiction, which includes some 20 conferences.

The northeastern jurisdiction of the Methodist Church includes a region running from Washington, D.C., to Maine and west from the Atlantic Coast to Ohio.

A conference spokesman said the Central Pennsylvania group's action follows a church-wide effort to do away with separate Negro jurisdictions.

The Baltimore jurisdiction is headed by Bishop Edgar A. Love, of Baltimore.

Reuther Favors $5 Billion Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh from a discussion of the economic situation with President Kennedy, union leader Walter Reuther has called again for a $5 billion tax cut in lower and middle incomes.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO, told reporters at the White House Friday that a tax cut in these income brackets would release "high velocity purchasing power and give the country a real economic thrust."

He added: "If we go much lower in steel production, we will have as much idle capacity in this country as the Soviet Union has capacity in production."

2 Teeners Die In Road Crash

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — An automobile left a highway on a curve early today and rolled over several times, killing two teenagers.

David J. Corser, 19, of Cortland, and Sally Huson, 19, of Homer, the victims, were the first persons to die in a motor-vehicle accident this year in Cortland County.

The accident occurred on Route 41 near the outskirts of Cortland.

Estes Faces Action

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes has a final chance t meet with his creditors next week and arrange settlement of debts which he admits total $17.5 million.

If he fails, a federal judge says he will begin bankruptcy proceedings immediately.

The date of the meeting to be held in Dallas has not been divulged.

Estes submitted a plan Friday to pay off his creditors and help 4-H Club youths also. But his creditors rejected the proposal and asked the court to initiate bankruptcy proceedings.

Estes listed assets of $20,793,155.95 and liabilitiss mf $38,387,o35.87.

The West Texas promoter is under federal indictment for alleged interstate transportation of fraudulent chattel mortgages used in his fertilizer business.

Night Clubs Active

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Night clubs and cabarets in most of the nation's entertainment centers today were reported doing business as usual for the peak summer trade season.

The brisk trade reports came in the face of Senate disclosures of unsavory doings in entertainment meccas in many sections of the country where so-called "B-girl" clubs operate.

City fathers, police officials and cabaret owners in practically all cities questioned denied such establishments as B-girl clubs were in operation to begin with.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm of New York City said: "We have no B-girl clubs in this city."

New Label for Hams

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has ordered that smoked hams with water added must be labeled: "ham—water added."

Originally, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had directed that such hams be marked "imitation hams" but the order was voided by the supreme court, thus the new labeling directive Friday.

Addition of up to 10 per cent moisture to hams during curing was authorized by former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson after packers contended that it gave hams a more appealing texture and taste.

Iran to Protest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran will protest to Moscow over Soviet demands for the recall of Iranian press attache Bahram Bousheripour on charges of selling foreign currency to Soviet citizens, a government official said today.

The official called the charges "baseless" and said Iran will demand recall of the Soviet press attache here.

Await JFK Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mexican President Miguel Aleman says the Mexican people are looking forward to the visit later this month of President Kennedy.

Aleman, special ambassador and president of the Mexican Tourist Board, said Friday his people "will speak with one voice in making the President welcome."

Talks to Resume For Idled 50,000

DETROIT (AP) — Union bargainers were expected to return to the Ford Motor Co. office today for talks which could decide when more than 50,000 Ford employes across the nation can go back to work.

The firm stopped the last of its auto assembly operations Friday night because, Ford said, an Ohio strike has choked off the supply of hoods, doors, roofs and other parts.

Ford, the nation's second largest auto manufacturing empire, blamed the closures on a strike at Ford's Walton Hills stamping plant near Cleveland which began eight days ago.

Big Day for Gus

MITCHELL, Ind. (AP) — The hometown turned out today to honor Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom—astronaut, Air Force captain and Kentucky colonel.

Gov. Matthew E. Welsh and President Frederick L. Hovde of Purdue University, Grissom's alma mater, headed the list of notables coming for the celebration.

After spending the night at his parents' home on Grissom Avenue (newly renamed), Grissom, 36, was scheduled to lay the cornerstone for Mitchell's new high school, which will be named the Virgil I. Grissom Building.

America's second man in space came home late Friday.

Graham Suggests Missionary Work For Young People

CHICAGO (AP) — A call for youth to give up their lives of leisure and accept the challenge of missionary work has been issued by evangelist Billy Graham in his "Crusade for Christ" in Chicago.

Graham said young people are needed as missionaries both overseas and at home in their own communities.

Making his strongest appeal thus far in the crusade for replacing idleness by "doing a real service for Christ," Graham said Friday night:

"I have been to most of the countries of the free world and I am convinced that many of them need our help. What a challenge for young people to accept by taking Christ and His gospel to the ends of the earth."

Speaking to a crowd of 43,000 at McCormick Place in the 17th rally of the 19-day crusade, Graham told those under 25 in the audience they should make these committments to God:

"I am willing to study. I am willing to become a missionary.

"I am willing to go out under the banner of Christ.

"I am willing to go to the University of Oklahoma and other schools where I can study linguistics.

"I am willing to go to Bible school and learn the scriptures.

"I want to go out and be a missionary in Chicago — in my crowd, in my gang."

"God can use you to build a hospital in Nigeria," Graham told the young people in his audience. "God can use you to help some illiterate people in Indonesia. But you don't want to give up your leisure time."

Graham said the youth of today don't have enough to do. "Too much leisure has often led to gang war, gambling and murder and all the rest," Graham said.

Crusade officials said 1,650 persons made what they call "decisions for Christ" after Graham's sermon. Nearly 14,000 have done so thus far.

The crusade will close with a huge rally Sunday in Chicago's Soldier Field.

Consultant Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee plans to call next week a consultant who warned Commercial Solvents Corp. in 1960 that the company's deal with Billie Sol Estes "has within it the seeds of self destruction."

These seeds of self destruction, wrote James A. McConnell, are "Billie's tremendous desire for money, power and prestige. Billie may some day become unmanageable."

McConnell sent his warning to Maynard C. Wheeler, Commercial Solvents' president, who completed three days of testimony Friday before the subcommittee.

McConnell formerly headed the Department of Agriculture's surplus grain organization under the Eisenhower administration. He resigned to become a director and consultant of Commercial Solvents.

Fever Kills Fifty

No Deals With Shell: Nixon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A California Republican official says Richard M. Nixon told him no deals would be made with Joseph C. Shell to get the assemblyman's support in Nixon's bid for the governorship.

Caspar Weinberger, vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, quoted Nixon Friday as saying:

"There will be no deals of any kind, but I'll talk with any candidates or party leaders on their ideas for the party platform and program."

Shell, a conservative who was defeated by the former vice president in the Republican gubernatorial primary, offered Thursday to support Nixon if he met two "minimum conditions": Give the Republicans who voted for Shell 35 per cent of the California delegation to the 1964 GOP National Convention and promise a $200 million cut in the state budget.

Weinberger said Nixon rejected the proposed deal when he returned from a brief vacation in Baja California, Mexico.

Shell, meanwhile, was also criticized by the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, John Krehbiel, and by GOP assemblymen who threatened to oust him as the assembly minority leader.

Krehbiel said that Shell was establishing himself as "the worst loser in the history of California politics."

All-Out Offensive

The Secret Army command in Algiers proclaimed an all-out offensive of destruction to begin last Thursday midnight. In the first 24 hours it spread through the territory. European terrorists in the west threatened even greater destructive efforts.

Terrorists blew up three surgical pavilions and the modernistic laboratory of the 2,500-bed Mustaphan Hospital, setting off two hours of chaos and panic. No one was injured, but officials feared the $100,000 damage could not be repaired under present conditions.

Other Secret Army agents struck 100 miles to the east, blowing up the control installations of the Darguina Dam, a major supplier of power for Algiers. Officials said repairs would take 8 to 10 months.

In Side Bel Abbes, historic home of the French Foreign Legion, six grade schools and a high school were burned.

Heed Army Orders

Europeans fleeing the territory by the thousands heeded Secret Army orders to burn everything that might be of use to the Moslems. Stores and office buildings were burned to the ground in scattered parts of Algiers. Automobiles were set afire in the streets where they were abandoned. Even household furniture went up in smoke.

Secret Army commandos armed with automatic weapons attacked a police encampment in Oran, wounding six persons. Other terrorist attacks killed four persons there.

3 Persons Hurt In City Mishaps

Three persons were injured in three automobile accidents in the city Friday afternoon and evening.

Helen Brodhead, 46, of 129 Hunter Street and John Brodhead, 8, of that same address were injured yesterday when two cars collided at 3:30 p. m. on Hunter Street at the intersection of Hone Street, according to police reports. The woman was reportedly injured about the leg, arm and back and the youth about the left shoulder.

Police reports say that a car being operated by John Brodhead, 47, of 127 Hunter Street had come to a stop on Hunter Street at the intersection with Hone Street when a car operated by Irene C. Benkert, 24, of 21 Washington Avenue came up Hone Street, turned right on to Hunter and collided with the Brodhead vehicle. Both the injured persons were passengers in the Brodhead vehicle.

Private Arrest Made

A woman was injured and a private person arrest was made as the result of a two-car accident Friday evening on Crown Street at the intersection of John Street, according to police reports.

The reports say that Mabel Todd, 64, of 130 St. James Street, suffered a possible concussion when a vehicle operated by James H. R. Moreau, 27, of 418 Mill Street, Waterbury, Conn., passed through a full stop sign and collided with a vehicle being operated by Earl Finch, 64, of Box 224. The Finch vehicle was reportedly headed south on Crown Street and the Moreau vehicle passed through the stop sign at John Street when the accident occurred.

Reports Hit-Run

Moreau was arrested by Finch and taken to police headquarters where he was released in his own custody for appearance in City Court, today. Disposition of the case was adjourned until Monday.

Frank Esper of Stone Ridge reported to city police this morning that an unknown vehicle operator had struck his 1960 auto while it was parked on Grand Street near TenBroeck Avenue. The left front and rear fenders and the rear bumper were damaged according to the report.

Strike Is Still Facing Air Lines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Flight engineers kept a mid-afternoon strike threat hanging today over three airlines — Pan American, Eastern and Trans World.

The choice facing the union—the Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO — still appeared to be whether to stage a walkout in face of President Kennedy's stern warning against one, or to accept Kennedy's arbitration proposal.

The 1,700 engineers have twice rejected Kennedy's settlement formula, agreeing to arbitrate all issues except the key one—a controvrsy over manning jet planes.

A strike on the three airlines would ground 40 per cent of the nation's commercial airline service, amounting to an average of 60,000 domestic and 20,000 international passengers daily.

Couple and Man Killed in Crash

WEST CARTHAGE, N.Y. (AP—Three persons, including a husband and wife, were killed Friday night in a two-car collision on a county road near this northern New York community.

They were: Albert G. Ryther, 77, of Copenhagen; his wife, Ruth, 57, and Richard S. Currier, 26, of Carthage.

State Police said the cars crashed head-on at a curve in the road.

Currier was married and the father of two. Ryther was a retired carpenter.

Blast Scares Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A gas main explosion followed by a towering fire touched off a king-sized scare northeast of Columbus early today. But no injuries evidently resulted, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

At first, just after the blast and flash fire, the patrol reported an airliner had crashed. Port Columbus Airport is on the northeast edge of the city.

The gas main blowup, which occurred in an uninhabited, openfield area near the village of New Albany, sent flames on high. Alarmed citizens telephoned authorities and news media—some of them also fearing a plane had fallen.

The fire burned brightly and was visible for miles but subsided in less than an hour.

Preliminary word was that an electric wire may have fallen across a break in the main.

Approve Integration

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—A move to integrate the Methodist Church Negro and white jurisdictions has won the unanimous endorsement of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of Methodists.

At its 94th annual meeting here the conference voted 243-0 Friday to merge the all-Negro Baltimore jurisdiction with the central Pennsylvania group's parent Northeastern jurisdiction, which includes some 20 conferences.

The northeastern jurisdiction of the Methodist Church includes a region running from Washington, D.C., to Maine and west from the Atlantic Coast to Ohio.

A conference spokesman said the Central Pennsylvania group's action follows a church-wide effort to do away with separate Negro jurisdictions.

The Baltimore jurisdiction is headed by Bishop Edgar A. Love, of Baltimore.

Reuther Favors $5 Billion Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fresh from a discussion of the economic situation with President Kennedy, union leader Walter Reuther has called again for a $5 billion tax cut in lower and middle incomes.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO, told reporters at the White House Friday that a tax cut in these income brackets would release "high velocity purchasing power and give the country a real economic thrust."

He added: "If we go much lower in steel production, we will have as much idle capacity in this country as the Soviet Union has capacity in production."

2 Teeners Die In Road Crash

CORTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — An automobile left a highway on a curve early today and rolled over several times,, killing two teenagers.

David J. Corser, 19, of Cortland, and Sally Huson, 19, of Homer, the victims, were the first persons to die in a motor-vehicle accident this year in Cortland County.

The accident occurred on Route 41 near the outskirts of Cortland.

Estes Faces Action

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Billie Sol Estes has a final chance t meet with his creditors next week and arrange settlement of debts which he admits total $17.5 million.

If he fails, a federal judge says he will begin bankruptcy proceedings immediately.

The date of the meeting to be held in Dallas has not been divulged.

Estes submitted a plan Friday to pay off his creditors and help 4-H Club youths also. But his creditors rejected the proposal and asked the court to initiate bankruptcy proceedings.

Estes listed assets of $20,793,155.95 and liabilitiss mf $38,387,o35.87.

The West Texas promoter is under federal indictment for alleged interstate transportation of fraudulent chattel mortgages used in his fertilizer business.

Night Clubs Active

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Night clubs and cabarets in most of the nation's entertainment centers today were reported doing business as usual for the peak summer trade season.

The brisk trade reports came in the face of Senate disclosures of unsavory doings in entertainment meccas in many sections of the country where so-called "B-girl" clubs operate.

City fathers, police officials and cabaret owners in practically all cities questioned denied such establishments as B-girl clubs were in operation to begin with.

Deputy Police Commissioner Walter Arm of New York City said: "We have no B-girl clubs in this city."

New Label for Hams

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has ordered that smoked hams with water added must be labeled: "ham—water added."

Originally, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had directed that such hams be marked "imitation hams" but the order was voided by the supreme court, thus the new labeling directive Friday.

Addition of up to 10 per cent moisture to hams during curing was authorized by former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson after packers contended that it gave hams a more appealing texture and taste.

Iran to Protest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran will protest to Moscow over Soviet demands for the recall of Iranian press attache Bahram Bousheripour on charges of selling foreign currency to Soviet citizens, a government official said today.

The official called the charges "baseless" and said Iran will demand recall of the Soviet press attache here.

Await JFK Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mexican President Miguel Aleman says the Mexican people are looking forward to the visit later this month of President Kennedy.

Aleman, special ambassador and president of the Mexican Tourist Board, said Friday his people "will speak with one voice in making the President welcome."

Talks to Resume For Idled 50,000

DETROIT (AP) — Union bargainers were expected to return to the Ford Motor Co. office today for talks which could decide when more than 50,000 Ford employes across the nation can go back to work.

The firm stopped the last of its auto assembly operations Friday night because, Ford said, an Ohio strike has choked off the supply of hoods, doors, roofs and other parts.

Ford, the nation's second largest auto manufacturing empire, blamed the closures on a strike at Ford's Walton Hills stamping plant near Cleveland which began eight days ago.

Big Day for Gus

MITCHELL, Ind. (AP) — The hometown turned out today to honor Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom—astronaut, Air Force captain and Kentucky colonel.

Gov. Matthew E. Welsh and President Frederick L. Hovde of Purdue University, Grissom's alma mater, headed the list of notables coming for the celebration.

After spending the night at his parents' home on Grissom Avenue (newly renamed), Grissom, 36, was scheduled to lay the cornerstone for Mitchell's new high school, which will be named the Virgil I. Grissom Building.

America's second man in space came home late Friday.

Weigel-Van Tassell Wedding Announced; Ceremony Takes Place in Wyckoff, N. J.

MRS. THOMAS J. VAN TASSELL (Wilkins photo)

Doris Lynn Weigel of Paterson, N. J., and Thomas J. Van Tassell of Hyde Park, exchanged marriage vows at the Second Reformed Church in Wyckoff, N. J. on Saturday, June 9 at 3 p. m. Officiating was the Rev. James W. Baar, pastor. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boniface W. Weigel of Paterson, N. J.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Van Tassell of Hyde Park.

The couple exchanged rings during the candlelight ceremony.

Miss Inez Hudgins was the organist and Harold Woodhouse was the soloist. A reception was given at the Casino De Charlz, Totowa, N. J.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a chapel length gown of silk faced peau de soie styled with fitted bodice, controlled skirt, scoop neckline trimmed with Alencon lace. The skirt was chapel length. A double bow of silk faced peau de soie held her elbow length bouffant veil. She carried a cascade of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Thomas Sanders of Paterson, N. J., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a peacock blue taffeta and organza floor length gown and carried a basket of Shasta daisies, tinted mums and baby's breath.

Attendants were Miss Mary Stagg, Haledon, N. J., Mrs. Davis Tenhor, Prospect Park, N. J., and Miss Gloria Jean Wentink, No. Haledon, N. J., cousin of the bride. Their turquoise gowns were styled similarly to that worn by the honor attendant. They also carried similar flower arrangements.

Norman Smith of Hyde Park was best man. Ushers were Bruce Holmes of Kingston, N. Y.; Robert Rietdorf, Hawthorne, N. J. cousin of the bride; Thomas Sanders, Paterson, N. J., brother-in-law of the bride; and David Tenhor of Prospect Park, N. J.

Miss Valerie Van Tassell of Hyde Park, sister of the bridegroom, was the junior bridesmaid.

Mrs. Van Tassell was graduated from Paterson Central and attenfded Hope College, Holland, Mich., and Paterson State College, Wayne, N. J. Prior to marriage, she was employed as a commodity research analyst by Standard Brands Inc., New York City. Her husband, an alumnus of Hyde Park High School, attended Hope College. He is a salesman for Van Tassell Paint Company in Kingston.

When Mr. and Mrs. Van Tassell return from their wedding trip to Florida, they will be at home at 119 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

Court Santa Maria Installs Officers; Reception Is Given

Mrs. Walter Fallon was installed as grand regent of Court Santa Maria No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America on Thursday, June 14. Members attended the installation ceremony held in conjunction with a reception and meeting at 14 Henry Street. Mrs. Fallon accepted the gavel from outgoing regent, Miss Joan Woinoski.

Re-elected officers include Mrs. Jacob G. Schatzel, vice grand regent; Mrs. Andrew Grier, financial secretary; Mrs. Charles Hoehing, treasurer; Miss Alice Krom, historian; Miss Helen VanSteenbergh, monitor; Miss Laura Albrecht, sentinel; Mrs. Henry Peskie, lecturer; Miss Jane Madden, Miss Helen Barry, Mrs. Agnes Atkins and Mrs. Burton Shoemaker, trustees.

All officers assumed their duties on June 1. Installation was held under the direction of Miss Julia Phelan, District Deputy from Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Elizabeth Finn, also of Poughkeepsie, acted as assisting monitor.

Special guests included Miss Margaret Phelan, sister of the district deputy, Miss Margaret Gorman, financial secretary, Mrs. Frances Hawcroft, historian, all members of Court Irenita in Poughkeepsie.

The Rt. Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain of the Kingston Court, was present and spoke briefly about his recent silver jubilee in the priesthood.

Congratulations were extended by Miss Phelan on behalf of the Court to four past grand regents who were present at the installation, Mrs. Kathryn Liscom and the Misses Jane Madden, Helen Barry and Joan L. Woinoski.

Miss Laura Albrecht reported on the Catholic Daughter convention which was held in Rochester last month. It was announced that on June 17 Miss Albrecht, Mrs. Kathryn Liscom and Mrs. Marguerite Murphy will be members of the Court 45 years.

Miss Helen Barry and Mrs. Burton Shoemaker were elected chairman and secretary of the trustees.

On June 28, a public card party will be given. The grand regent appointed the Misses Helen Barry and Elizabeth McDonough in charge.

Miss Woinoski, retiring grand regent, extended congratulations to the new grand regent, Mrs. Walter Fallon and to all the officers and trustees. She thanked the members for having given her the honor of serving in an official capacity for Catholic Daughters. Appreciation was offered to the 1961-1962 officers and committee chairmen who served during her term of office. Miss Woinoski asked that the same faithfulness and cooperation be extended to Mrs. Fallon in order that the "organization might continue to succeed and prosper."

Mrs. Fallon, newly elected grand regent, has served Court Santa Maria previously as financial secretary for nine years. During the past year she acted as chairman of the annual Communion breakfast and the golden anniversary tea which was held in February.

Other organizational capacities held by Mrs. Fallon include past secretary and treasurer of the Mothers' Club of School No. 5, vice-chairman of the Wiltwyck unit of Home Extension Service and she was one of the first volunteer workers on the chest X-ray program when it was first introduced in Kingston.

Mrs. Fallon was president of St. Mary's Rosary Society for two years and is now one of the promoters of the Sacred Heart at St. Mary's parish. She taught metalcraft and textile stenciling at the TB Hospital and has worked on various charitable drives in the city. Mrs. Fallon holds the distinction of being a charter member of Columbiettes, Kingston Council No. 275 of Kingston.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by the Mmes. Daniel Halloran and Walter Fallon and their committee.

Bernice M. Buono of Glasco Exchanges Vows With Frank A. Palumbo Jr., on June 10

MR. AND MRS. FRANK A. PALUMBO JR. (Johnstone photo)

Bernice Mary Buono of Glasco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Buono Sr., exchanged marriage vows with Frank Anthony Palumbo Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palumbo Sr., on Sunday, June 10, at 2 p. m. ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco. The Rev. Archibald Damm officiated.

Patrick Buonfiglio was organist for the occasion.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and the pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta styled with fitted bodice, modified Sabrina neckline, and short sleeves with matching mitts. The bodice was accented with appliques of embroidered organza. Her full chapel length skirt featured a bustle. Her crown held a five tiered bouffant French imported veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white miniature carnations centered with light pink gardenias.

The bride's matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Vincent Buono. She wore a gown of peacock blue silk organza over taffeta styled with fitted bodice, modified neckline, cap sleeves, floor length skirt with bustle. A matching rose headpiece held a flirtation veil. She carried a cascade of light and dark pink carnations centered with white gardenias.

Michael Palumbo of Port Ewen was best man for his brother. Ushers were Joseph Palumbo of Glasco, brother of the bridegroom, and Albert Buono of Glasco, brother of the bride.

A receptin was given at The Capri in Port Ewen for approximately 112 guests.

For her wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a green print dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anthony Palumbo Jr., will make their home in Kingston. The bride was graduated from Saugerties High School and attended Sheddan's School of Beauty Culture in Newburgh. She is a beautician in The Artistic Beauty Salon in Kingston. The bridegroom served with the U. S. Armed Forces in Korea and is now in the construction business.

WHEN A FRIEND COMES TO TOWN

Q: When someone comes to town who has many friends here, is it up to the friends to go to see her or for the visitor to go to see them? There seems to be mixed feelings about this.

A: It is usually up to those who are living in town to make a gesture of hospitality to their friend who is a visitor. In the first place, the visitor is generally pressed for time and the friends who are living at home can more easily arrange their hours to the convenience of a guest.

Alcoholic Cocktails With Canapes

Q: Is it suitable to serve tomato juice or fruit juice in the living room with canapes, when serving nothing stronger to drink as well? This would ordinarily be the first course at the meal but as I have no one to wait on table, serving it this way in the living room is simpler and dinner could begin with the first course. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

A: Tomato and fruit juice cocktails may be served with canapes in the living room just exactly as stronger ones are. Even when stronger ones are served, there should also be an alternate choice of something nonalcoholic.

Who Suggests Leaving

Q: My husband and I have been married six months and we have a question we would like you to settle. When we visit relatives, who should be the one to make the move to leave: my husband or me? I usually say something when we visit my relatives; but, when we visit his, I think it is up to him to make the move to leave. I feel his relatives will think that I am not enjoying their company if I say something.

A: It is not very important, but it would be better for him to suggest leaving when you visit relatives of his for the reason that you give.

MRS. THOMAS J. VAN TASSELL

(Wilkins photo)

Doris Lynn Weigel of Paterson, N. J., and Thomas J. Van Tassell of Hyde Park, exchanged marriage vows at the Second Reformed Church in Wyckoff, N. J. on Saturday, June 9 at 3 p. m. Officiating was the Rev. James W. Baar, pastor. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boniface W. Weigel of Paterson, N. J.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Van Tassell of Hyde Park.

The couple exchanged rings during the candlelight ceremony.

Miss Inez Hudgins was the organist and Harold Woodhouse was the soloist. A reception was given at the Casino De Charlz, Totowa, N. J.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a chapel length gown of silk faced peau de soie styled with fitted bodice, controlled skirt, scoop neckline trimmed with Alencon lace. The skirt was chapel length. A double bow of silk faced peau de soie held her elbow length bouffant veil. She carried a cascade of roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Thomas Sanders of Paterson, N. J., was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a peacock blue taffeta and organza floor length gown and carried a basket of Shasta daisies, tinted mums and baby's breath.

Attendants were Miss Mary Stagg, Haledon, N. J., Mrs. Davis Tenhor, Prospect Park, N. J., and Miss Gloria Jean Wentink, No. Haledon, N. J., cousin of the bride. Their turquoise gowns were styled similarly to that worn by the honor attendant. They also carried similar flower arrangements.

Norman Smith of Hyde Park was best man. Ushers were Bruce Holmes of Kingston, N. Y.; Robert Rietdorf, Hawthorne, N. J. cousin of the bride; Thomas Sanders, Paterson, N. J., brother-in-law of the bride; and David Tenhor of Prospect Park, N. J.

Miss Valerie Van Tassell of Hyde Park, sister of the bridegroom, was the junior bridesmaid.

Mrs. Van Tassell was graduated from Paterson Central and attenfded Hope College, Holland, Mich., and Paterson State College, Wayne, N. J. Prior to marriage, she was employed as a commodity research analyst by Standard Brands Inc., New York City. Her husband, an alumnus of Hyde Park High School, attended Hope College. He is a salesman for Van Tassell Paint Company in Kingston.

When Mr. and Mrs. Van Tassell return from their wedding trip to Florida, they will be at home at 119 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

Court Santa Maria Installs Officers; Reception Is Given

Mrs. Walter Fallon was installed as grand regent of Court Santa Maria No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America on Thursday, June 14. Members attended the installation ceremony held in conjunction with a reception and meeting at 14 Henry Street. Mrs. Fallon accepted the gavel from outgoing regent, Miss Joan Woinoski.

Re-elected officers include Mrs. Jacob G. Schatzel, vice grand regent; Mrs. Andrew Grier, financial secretary; Mrs. Charles Hoehing, treasurer; Miss Alice Krom, historian; Miss Helen VanSteenbergh, monitor; Miss Laura Albrecht, sentinel; Mrs. Henry Peskie, lecturer; Miss Jane Madden, Miss Helen Barry, Mrs. Agnes Atkins and Mrs. Burton Shoemaker, trustees.

All officers assumed their duties on June 1. Installation was held under the direction of Miss Julia Phelan, District Deputy from Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Elizabeth Finn, also of Poughkeepsie, acted as assisting monitor.

Special guests included Miss Margaret Phelan, sister of the district deputy, Miss Margaret Gorman, financial secretary, Mrs. Frances Hawcroft, historian, all members of Court Irenita in Poughkeepsie.

The Rt. Rev. Austin V. Carey, chaplain of the Kingston Court, was present and spoke briefly about his recent silver jubilee in the priesthood.

Congratulations were extended by Miss Phelan on behalf of the Court to four past grand regents who were present at the installation, Mrs. Kathryn Liscom and the Misses Jane Madden, Helen Barry and Joan L. Woinoski.

Miss Laura Albrecht reported on the Catholic Daughter convention which was held in Rochester last month. It was announced that on June 17 Miss Albrecht, Mrs. Kathryn Liscom and Mrs. Marguerite Murphy will be members of the Court 45 years.

Miss Helen Barry and Mrs. Burton Shoemaker were elected chairman and secretary of the trustees.

On June 28, a public card party will be given. The grand regent appointed the Misses Helen Barry and Elizabeth McDonough in charge.

Miss Woinoski, retiring grand regent, extended congratulations to the new grand regent, Mrs. Walter Fallon and to all the officers and trustees. Who Suggests Leaving

Q: My husband and I have been married six months and we have a question we would like you to settle. When we visit relatives, who should be the one to make the move to leave: my husband or me? I usually say something when we visit my relatives; but, when we visit his, I think it is up to him to make the move to leave. I feel his relatives will think that I am not enjoying their company if I say something.

A: It is not very important, but it would be better for him to suggest leaving when you visit relatives of his for the reason that you give.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rural Electrification Administration announced Friday a loan of $532,000 to the Northern Counties Telephone Corp., Hammond, N.Y., to improve service to 564 subscribers and furnish initial service to 342.

PHILHARMONIC BALL TONIGHT— Members and friends of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society will attend a benefit Ball at the Innisfree estate tonight. Proceeds will help defray expenses of the annual concert series given in Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties. Innisfree is located outside of Millbrook and is operated by the Innisfree foundation. The Gallery, where the Ball is to take place, is a stone and stucco mansion built in the Queen Anne style in 1930. Now open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays, it contains the Innisfree Foundation's valuable art collections. The Gallery's atmosphere is Oriental. Tapestries, all mosaics and art objects are all Chinese. Outside the Gallery are brick terraces where refreshments will be served during the Ball. Co-chairman of the event is Mrs. Amos Newcombe of Kingston.

Camp Wendy Ready For Summer Season; Personnel Announced

Over 300 girls between the ages of eight and 17 will have two weeks of camping at Camp Wendy, the established camp of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.

The campers will be led and guided by mature and experienced staff chosen for their skills and interests in working with young people. The following Ulster County residents will be staff members at Camp Wendy this summer.

Catherine Hammesfahr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hammesfahr of Wallkill, is returning to the Wendy staff for the fifth year. She is a graduate of Central College in Pella, Iowa, where she majored in music. Miss Hammesfahr will be the assistant director for the second summer.

Mrs. Robert Davidson from New Paltz will be the health supervisor. A graduate of Simmons College, Mrs. Davidson is a registered nurse and has had experience in Girl Scout Camping. She is now the troop committee chairman for her daughter's Girl Scout Troop in New Paltz.

Anna Jean Vree who will be a Unit leader is not only an elementary school teacher in Saugerties but manages to lead an Intermediate Girl Scout Troop. She is a graduate of Barrington College, Providence, R. I. and has taken many graduate courses in chlid development at New Paltz.

Mary Wickes of Wallkill, a graduate of Wallkill Central School will be a unit assistant. She has been a Girl Scout in Wallkill for many years and was a Wendy camper for three years.

Janet Boos, an art education major at New Paltz State University College, will also be an unit assistant. She has been helping Girl Scout troops with their craft work.

Carole Sue Seidel, Kingston, is a 1962 graduate of Kingston High School. Miss Seidel is a senior life saver, was a Wendy camper for six years and has been a counselor at Camp Camelot, Woodstock. Miss Seidel will be an assistant on the waterfront.

Jeanne Helmich from Rifton has been a Wendy camper and served one summer as a kitchen aide. She is a 1962 Kingston High School graduate and has won scholarships to continue her education in the field of nursing. She will be a unit assistant.

Mrs. Anna Boos, New Paltz, is a graduate of New York University and has taken many Girl Scout leadership courses. She is a Girl Scout leader in Cottekill and will serve on the Wendy staff as a unit counselor.

Returning for the third year are Wendy camper's favorite cooks, Mrs. Pearl Smith and Mrs. Palmyra Yeaple of Marlboro. Mrs. Smith is a school cook and has had much experience in institutional food management. Mrs. Yeaple, will assist Mrs. Smith in serving wholesome meals to all Wendy campers.

The entire staff will be under the direction of Mrs. William Groft, camp director. Mrs. Groft of Matawan, N. J., is returning for the second summer as camp director. Before coming to Wendy, she had 14 years experience as a Girl Scout Camp director and has taken courses in leader training, outdoor leadership, advanced outdoor leadership, and camp directing.

St. James Brownies Present Awards Fete

Memorial and Court of Awards were presented recently by Brownie Troop 59 of St. James Methodist Church.

The program was opened by a memorial parade, each Brownie carrying an American flag and marching to the tune of America and Onward Christian Soldiers. They were accompanied by Tom Dittus and Mathew Marnell on the drums.

Pledge to the flag and Brownie promise were renewed. Everyone sang the Star Spangled Banner. Janine Cave played Yankee Doodle and the Marine Hymn on the clarinet.

The troop sang several Brownie songs. Lillian Raff, Nancy Winchell, Janine Cave and Debby Wolven sang The Dumplins. Diane Freer and Debby Wolven sang a duet. Nancy Winchell played a piano selection. Barbara Smith entertained with a song and dance, The Runaway Dancing Shoes. Paula Robinson, performed a ballet dance, and Mary Ann Marnell, Frances Smith and Patty Dickerson, a puppet show.

The entertainment was brought to a close by the entire troop singing What Ever Will Be Will Be. For the song they wore fancy flowered hats they made themselves and net stoles.

Twenty-five Brownies received star pins for one year membership. Mrs. John Palen, cookie chairman for the troop reported to the leaders a total of 1,008 boxes of cookies sold by troop 59. This is an all time high. Cheryl Kolts received first place for outstanding effort in selling cookies. She sold 102 boxes. Debby Wolven competed selling 100 boxes winning second place. Third place was won by Diane Freer, 89 boxes. Eleven girls received World Association pins for their effort in selling cookies. Ten Brownies received smaller awards.

Mrs. Kenneth Dittus, leader was assisted by Mrs. John Palen assistant leader in planning the program. The Rev. C. P. Hunter and the Women's Society of Christian Service helped in making it a successful program.

Brownie Troop 59 had its first covered dish supper recently. The tables were decorated with clusters of yellow roses made by the Brownies. Every parent brought a covered dish. The troop supplied the beverages meat and dessert. Mrs. Robert Winchell and Mrs. Ray Armater were hostesses for the evening.

Home Extension Service News

Preventing and removing mildew is discussed in the following article by Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association:

Preventive treatment is imperative in combating mildew—which can cause damage to clothing, shoes, books, and even wood in hot, humid weather, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletin, just issued.

The new edition of "Preventing and Removing Mildew," (HG-68) prepared by home economists of U.S.D.A.'s Agricultural Research Service, gives many suggestions for getting rid of dampness and musty odors, and for removing mildew stains. Of primary importance is keeping things clean and dry in order to discourage the growth of molds that cause mildew odor and damaging stain.

Mildew often appears in new houses, because of moisture remaining in the building materials. The molds thrive where it is dark, warm, damp, and poorly aired. Mildew grows on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood, and paper but many man-made fibers are resistant to mildew. Clean clothing is less likely to mildew than soiled clothing.

Good ventilation is important for removing moisture from cooking, laundering, and bathing, which can add as much as two gallons of water a day to the air in a house. Ventilation is necessary in linen and clothes closets. Hang garments so air circulates around them. Shoes, suitcases or other leather articles are safer at the top of a closet, preferably on a perforated shelf, than on the floor. Mechanical dehumidifiers are successful in getting rid of dampness in the air but should be used only with doors and windows closed.

In closed storage closets, chests, or trunks, special water-absorbing chemicals give good protection against mildew. They are sold by drugstores, department stores and building-supply dealers under various trade names. Activated alumina or silica gel may be hung in cloth bags or placed on an open container inside closts. Both are harmless to fabrics. They can be dried out in a slow oven when necessary (300 F.)

Calcium chloride takes up and holds moisture. Specially prepared products of calcium chloride on clay do not drip and can be dried out in the oven. Granular calcium cholride, however, becomes liquid as it absorbs moisture; it should not touch clothing and linens because it can eat holes in fabrics.

Paradichlorobenzene, a well known mothprofing chemical, is also a good mildew preventive in trunks, packages, garment bags, and closed book cases. The bulletin cautions that it damages some plastics.

Anti-mildew sprays are effective in removing mustiness from closets and small areas, if they contain a fungicide to stop growth of molds.

When mildew stains do appear, they should be treated immediately to stop the mold from eating into the fabric. Brush off as much mildew as possible outdoors to avoid scattering the spores in the house. Washable fabrics should be laundered and sun-dried and any remaining stain bleached with lemon juice and salt, sodium perborate or other bleach suitable for the fabric. For colored fabrics, test a sample first. Have non-washable fabrics dry cleaned promptly.

The bulletin also tells how to protect from mildew such household fabrics as shower curtains, draperies, slipcovers, and mattresses, as well as shoes and other leather goods, paper, and wood.

Single copies of "Preventing and Removing Mildew" (HG-68) are free from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C.

Coach House Dinner Slated for Tonight

Coach House Players will hold its 12th annual banquet tonight at Broglio's in West Park. The social hour will begin at 6:30 and dinner will be served promptly at 7:30. W. Scott Foster will be toastmaster for the program.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Vera Rushforth Irwin, associate producer of drama at the State University College, New Paltz. Mrs. Irwin has studied drama at Columbia University and the University of Colorado and has had considerable professional dramatics experience with Margaret Webster at Woodstock, N. Y., with the Croton Community Players, Highland Summer Theatre, and many others.

Tillson Firemen Elect Coddington

Assistant Chief John Coddington was elected chief of Tillson Fire Company at the regular meeting this week. The resignation of Kenneth Gordon, as chief, necessitated this action. Gordon resigned due to the pressure of his work.

During Gordon's term as chief the company acquired a 1961 International pumper with a 750 gallon-per-minute pump and a great deal of extra equipment which has helped to modernize the unit.

Thirteen new members were received into the company, an initial step in rebuilding the company. Chief Coddington stressed the fact to the future firemen that there would be a training program for all members.

Also under discussion, by the newly elected chief was the feasibility of purchasing two walkie-talkies and a bull horn. While at Cragsmoor, last Saturday night, it was discovered how useful this equipment could be. This will be referred to the Board of Fire Commissioners for consideration.

Plans for the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association parade at North Tarrytown were also discussed. It was voted to attend with the new International pumper and at least 20 fully uniformed men. After the return home from the parade there, will be a buffet supper for all firemen and their wives and guests. This will take place at the Happy Hour in Tillson at 8 p. m. The parade is to take place June 23.

The company also accepted invitations to attend the July 4 parade in Stone Ridge and the Pioneer parade in Ellenville on September 8.

Air Service Fares To Canada Are Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fares for air transportation between the United States and Canada will be payable after July 16 only in U.S. currency or its equivalent, under a plan announced by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The CAB said Friday that the recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar made it necessary to rescind a waiver that permits payments of fares in either U.S. or Canadian currency.

Nine U.S. airlines have complained they are losing money on transactions for which they accept Canadian dollars. The U.S. dollar now is worth eight per cent more than the Canadian dollar.

American Airlines said about one-half of its annual $2. million volume in such trans-border transportation was sold in the United States and was subject to this loss.

Student Views Sought

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Pupils in selected high schools in New York State are filling out questionnaires pertaining to the use of alcoholic beverages by the pupils and their parents.

The survey is being conducted by the National Council on Alcoholism Inc. of New York City and may have a bearing on any change in the state's drinking age. The pupils do not sign their names and are not required to answer the questions if they object.

PR Would Drop Five More Trains

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner has under study a proposal by the Pennsylvania Railroad to drop five trains running between New York City and Buffalo, N.Y., via Philadelphia, Lancaster, Harrisburg and Williamsport, Pa., and Olean, N.Y.

An ICC spokesman said the reduction in service would leave only one train making the route in each direction each day.

To be dropped would be two west-bound trains and three east-bound trains.

Hearings in the case have been held at Harrisburg, Williamsport and Olean. An early decision by the examiner is not anticipated, the spokesman said.

The PRR maintained at the hearings the trains average only 53 passengers daily each way on the 312-mile run. An annual saving of about $500,000 can be achieved by eliminating the five train runs, the railroad said.

Under ICC regulations there is no time limit for an examiner to issue a decision. When he does, attorneys may file exceptions with in a 30-day period.

The examiner's recommendations go to the full commission for a final decision, which can be appealed. But should the commission stand by its decision, the only other recourse is to the federal courts.

Former Kingston IBM Employe Is Going to Germany

Announcement was made today of the appointment of John H. Ciovacco as assistant to C. F. McElwain, world trade director of manufacturing for International Business Machines Corp.

Here in 1955

Ciovacco, who began his career with IBM in 1952, formerly was assistant to the plant manager of the electric typewriter plant in Kingston. After this promotion in 1955, he went to Poughkeepsie in 1958 as assistant personnel manager and subsequently served as personnel manager, superintendent of electro-mechanical assembly, superintendent of electronic assembly and quality manager.

In his new post, Ciovacco will be initially located in Stuttgart, Germany.

A. W. Vandewinckel will succeed Ciovacco as manufacturing engineering manager in Poughkeepsie. Vandewinckel was formerly SLT program manager in Poughkeepsie.

Is Tufts Graduate

Ciovacco holds a B.S.M.E. degree from Tufts College and has completed the IBM Executive Training Program at Sands Point. He is a member of the A.S.T.M.E., the Poughkeepsie Rotary, the Little Red Schoolhouse and Dutchess Rehabilitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ciovacco and their two children reside at 14 Carmen Drive, Poughkeepsie.

Vandewinckel joined IBM in 1951 as a technical engineer in the Product Development Laboratory. In September 1954 he became a Test Equipment Engineer in the Plant. In June 1957, he became Assistant Manufacturing Engineer for Test Equipment Engineering. In June 1960, Vandewinckel became a senior engineer responsible for systems manufacturing engineering.

Vandewinckel received his B.S. E.E. degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1950.

Mrs. and Mrs. Vandewinckel and their four children reside at Lake Oniad Drive in Wappingers Falls.

Camp Wendy Ready For Summer Season; PersonnelAnnounced

Over 300 girls between the ages of eight and 17 will have two weeks of camping at Camp Wendy, the established camp of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.

The campers will be led and guided by mature and experienced staff chosen for their skills and interests in working with young people. The following Ulster County residents will be staff members at Camp Wendy this summer.

Catherine Hammesfahr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hammesfahr of Wallkill, is returning to the Wendy staff for the fifth year. She is a graduate of Central College in Pella, Iowa, where she majored in music. Miss Hammesfahr will be the assistant director for the second summer.

Mrs. Robert Davidson from New Paltz will be the health supervisor. A graduate of Simmons College, Mrs. Davidson is a registered nurse and has had experience in Girl Scout Camping. She is now the troop committee chairman for her daughter's Girl Scout Troop in New Paltz.

Anna Jean Vree who will be a Unit leader is not only an elementary school teacher in Saugerties but manages to lead an Intermediate Girl Scout Troop. She is a graduate of Barrington College, Providence, R. I. and has taken many graduate courses in chlid development at New Paltz.

Mary Wickes of Wallkill, a graduate of Wallkill Central School will be a unit assistant. She has been a Girl Scout in Wallkill for many years and was a Wendy camper for three years.

Janet Boos, an art education major at New Paltz State University College, will also be an unit assistant. She has been helping Girl Scout troops with their craft work.

Carole Sue Seidel, Kingston, is a 1962 graduate of Kingston High School. Miss Seidel is a senior life saver, was a Wendy camper for six years and has been a counselor at Camp Camelot, Woodstock. Miss Seidel will be an assistant on the waterfront.

Jeanne Helmich from Rifton has been a Wendy camper and served one summer as a kitchen aide. She is a 1962 Kingston High School graduate and has won scholarships to continue her education in the field of nursing. She will be a unit assistant.

Mrs. Anna Boos, New Paltz, is a graduate of New York University and has taken many Girl Scout leadership courses. She is a Girl Scout leader in Cottekill and will serve on the Wendy staff as a unit counselor.

Returning for the third year are Wendy camper's favorite cooks, Mrs. Pearl Smith and Mrs. Palmyra Yeaple of Marlboro. Mrs. Smith is a school cook and has had much experience in institutional food management. Mrs. Yeaple, will assist Mrs. Smith in serving wholesome meals to all Wendy campers.

The entire staff will be under the direction of Mrs. William Groft, camp director. Mrs. Groft of Matawan, N. J., is returning for the second summer as camp director. Before coming to Wendy, she had 14 years experience as a Girl Scout Camp director and has taken courses in leader training, outdoor leadership, advanced outdoor leadership, and camp directing.

St. James Brownies Present Awards Fete

Memorial and Court of Awards were presented recently by Brownie Troop 59 of St. James Methodist Church.

The program was opened by a memorial parade, each Brownie carrying an American flag and marching to the tune of America and Onward Christian Soldiers. They were accompanied by Tom Dittus and Mathew Marnell on the drums.

Pledge to the flag and Brownie promise were renewed. Everyone sang the Star Spangled Banner. Janine Cave played Yankee Doodle and the Marine Hymn on the clarinet.

The troop sang several Brownie songs. Lillian Raff, Nancy Winchell, Janine Cave and Debby Wolven sang The Dumplins. Diane Freer and Debby Wolven sang a duet. Nancy Winchell played a piano selection. Barbara Smith entertained with a song and dance, The Runaway Dancing Shoes. Paula Robinson, performed a ballet dance, and Mary Ann Marnell, Frances Smith and Patty Dickerson, a puppet show.

The entertainment was brought to a close by the entire troop singing What Ever Will Be Will Be. For the song they wore fancy flowered hats they made themselves and net stoles.

Twenty-five Brownies received star pins for one year membership. Mrs. John Palen, cookie chairman for the troop reported to the leaders a total of 1,008 boxes of cookies sold by troop 59. This is an all time high. Cheryl Kolts received first place for outstanding effort in selling cookies. She sold 102 boxes. Debby Wolven competed selling 100 boxes winning second place. Third place was won by Diane Freer, 89 boxes. Eleven girls received World Association pins for their effort in selling cookies. Ten Brownies received smaller awards.

Mrs. Kenneth Dittus, leader was assisted by Mrs. John Palen assistant leader in planning the program. The Rev. C. P. Hunter and the Women's Society of Christian Service helped in making it a successful program.

Brownie Troop 59 had its first covered dish supper recently. The tables were decorated with clusters of yellow roses made by the Brownies. Every parent brought a covered dish. The troop supplied the beverages meat and dessert. Mrs. Robert Winchell and Mrs. Ray Armater were hostesses for the evening.

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

Will Address Area Engineers At Ladies Night

Mid-Hudson Chapter of American Institute of Industrial Engineers announced today that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be the guest speaker at its fifth annual Ladies Night program Wednesday night at the Lamplighters Inn, Poughkeepsie.

She will speak on National and International Problems Before Us.

Mrs. Roosevelt, widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, is a world traveler, lecturer, newspaper columnist, magazine writer and book author, in addition to many other activities, including the United Nations. She serves as chairman of the board of directors of the American Association for the United Nations.

She will be introduced by Dr. Margaret Meyers of Vassar College.

Guests are invited and may secure reservations by contacting the Lamplighters Inn.

Home Extension Service News

Preventing and removing mildew is discussed in the following article by Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association:

Preventive treatment is imperative in combating mildew—which can cause damage to clothing, shoes, books, and even wood in hot, humid weather, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletin, just issued.

The new edition of "Preventing and Removing Mildew," (HG-68) prepared by home economists of U.S.D.A.'s Agricultural Research Service, gives many suggestions for getting rid of dampness and musty odors, and for removing mildew stains. Of primary importance is keeping things clean and dry in order to discourage the growth of molds that cause mildew odor and damaging stain.

Mildew often appears in new houses, because of moisture remaining in the building materials. The molds thrive where it is dark, warm, damp, and poorly aired. Mildew grows on cotton, linen, rayon, silk, wool, leather, wood, and paper but many manmade fibers are resistant to mildew. Clean clothing is less likely to mildew than soiled clothing.

Good ventilation is important for removing moisture from cooking, laundering, and bathing, which can add as much as two gallons of water a day to the air in a house. Ventilation is necessary in linen and clothes closets. Hang garments so air circulates around them. Shoes, suitcases or other leather articles are safer at the top of a closet, preferably on a perforated shelf, than on the floor. Mechanical dehumidifiers are successful in getting rid of dampness in the air but should be used only with doors and windows closed.

In closed storage closets, chests, or trunks, special water-absorbing chemicals give good protection against mildew. They are sold by drugstores, department stores and building-supply dealers under various trade names. Activated alumina or silica gel may be hung in cloth bags or placed on an open container inside closts. Both are harmless to fabrics. They can be dried out in a slow oven when necessary (300 F.)

Calcium chloride takes up and holds moisture. Specially prepared products of calcium chloride on clay do not drip and can be dried out in the oven. Granular calcium cholride, however, becomes liquid as it absorbs moisture; it should not touch clothing and linens because it can eat holes in fabrics.

Paradichlorobenzene, a well known mothprofing chemical, is also a good mildew preventive in trunks, packages, garment bags, and closed book cases. The bulletin cautions that it damages some plastics.

Anti-mildew sprays are effective in removing mustiness from closets and small areas, if they contain a fungicide to stop growth of molds.

When mildew stains do appear, they should be treated immediately to stop the mold from eating into the fabric. Brush off as much mildew as possible outdoors to avoid scattering the spores in the house. Washable fabrics should be laundered and sun-dried and any remaining stain bleached with lemon juice and salt, sodium perborate or other bleach suitable for the fabric. For colored fabrics, test a sample first. Have non-washable fabrics dry cleaned promptly.

The bulletin also tells how to protect from mildew such household fabrics as shower curtains, draperies, slipcovers, and mattresses, as well as shoes and other leather goods, paper, and wood.

Single copies of "Preventing and Removing Mildew" (HG-68) are free from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C.

Coach House Dinner Slated for Tonight

Coach House Players will hold its 12th annual banquet tonight at Broglio's in West Park. The social hour will begin at 6:30 and dinner will be served promptly at 7:30. W. Scott Foster will be toastmaster for the program.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Vera Rushforth Irwin, associate producer of drama at the State University College, New Paltz. Mrs. Irwin has studied drama at Columbia University and the University of Colorado and has had considerable professional dramatics experience with Margaret Webster at Woodstock, N. Y., with the Croton Community Players, Highland Summer Theatre, and many others.

Tillson Firemen Elect Coddington

Assistant Chief John Coddington was elected chief of Tillson Fire Company at the regular meeting this week. The resignation of Kenneth Gordon, as chief, necessitated this action. Gordon resigned due to the pressure of his work.

During Gordon's term as chief the company acquired a 1961 International pumper with a 750 gallon-per-minute pump and a great deal of extra equipment which has helped to modernize the unit.

Thirteen new members were received into the company, an initial step in rebuilding the company. Chief Coddington stressed the fact to the future firemen that there would be a training program for all members.

Also under discussion, by the newly elected chief was the feasibility of purchasing two walkie-talkies and a bull horn. While at Cragsmoor, last Saturday night, it was discovered how useful this equipment could be. This will be referred to the Board of Fire Commissioners for consideration.

Plans for the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association parade at North Tarrytown were also discussed. It was voted to attend with the new International pumper and at least 20 fully uniformed men. After the return home from the parade there, will be a buffet supper for all firemen and their wives and guests. This will take place at the Happy Hour in Tillson at 8 p. m. The parade is to take place June 23.

The company also accepted invitations to attend the July 4 parade in Stone Ridge and the Pioneer parade in Ellenville on September 8.

Air Service Fares To Canada Are Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fares for air transportation between the United States and Canada will be payable after July 16 only in U.S. currency or its equivalent, under a plan announced by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The CAB said Friday that the recent devaluation of the Canadian dollar made it necessary to rescind a waiver that permits payments of fares in either U.S. or Canadian currency.

Nine U.S. airlines have complained they are losing money on transactions for which they accept Canadian dollars. The U.S. dollar now is worth eight per cent more than the Canadian dollar.

American Airlines said about one-half of its annual $2. million volume in such trans - border transportation was sold in the United States and was subject to this loss.

Student Views Sought

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Pupils in selected high schools in New York State are filling out questionnaires pertaining to the use of alcoholic beverages by the pupils and their parents.

The survey is being conducted by the National Council on Alcoholism Inc. of New York City and may have a bearing on any change in the state's drinking age. The pupils do not sign their names and are not required to answer the questions if they object.

PR Would Drop Five More Trains

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner has under study a proposal by the Pennsylvania Railroad to drop five trains running between New York City and Buffalo, N.Y., via Philadelphia, Lancaster, Harrisburg and Williamsport, Pa., and Olean, N.Y.

An ICC spokesman said the reduction in service would leave only one train making the route in each direction each day.

To be dropped would be two west-bound trains and three east-bound trains.

Hearings in the case have been held at Harrisburg, Williamsport and Olean. An early decision by the examiner is not anticipated, the spokesman said.

The PRR maintained at the hearings the trains average only 53 passengers daily each way on the 312-mile run. An annual saving of about $500,000 can be achieved by eliminating the five train runs, the railroad said.

Under ICC regulations there is no time limit for an examiner to issue a decision. When he does, attorneys may file exceptions with in a 30-day period.

The examiner's recommendations go to the full commission for a final decision, which can be appealed. But should the commission stand by its decision, the only other recourse is to the federal courts.

JOHN H. CIOVACCO

Former Kingston IBM Employe Is Going to Germany

Announcement was made today of the appointment of John H. Ciovacco as assistant to C. F. McElwain, world trade director of manufacturing for International Business Machines Corp.

Here in 1955

Ciovacco, who began his career with IBM in 1952, formerly was assistant to the plant manager of the electric typewriter plant in Kingston. After this promotion in 1955, he went to Poughkeepsie in 1958 as assistant personnel manager and subsequently served as personnel manager, superintendent of electro-mechanical assembly, superintendent of electronic assembly and quality manager.

In his new post, Ciovacco will be initially located in Stuttgart, Germany.

A. W. Vandewinckel will succeed Ciovacco as manufacturing engineering manager in Poughkeepsie. Vandewinckel was formerly SLT program manager in Poughkeepsie.

Is Tufts Graduate

Ciovacco holds a B.S.M.E. degree from Tufts College and has completed the IBM Executive Training Program at Sands Point. He is a member of the A.S.T.M.E., the Poughkeepsie Rotary, the Little Red Schoolhouse and Dutchess Rehabilitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ciovacco and their two children reside at 14 Carmen Drive, Poughkeepsie.

Vandewinckel joined IBM in 1951 as a technical engineer in the Product Development Laboratory. In September 1954 he became a Test Equipment Engineer in the Plant. In June 1957, he became Assistant Manufacturing Engineer for Test Equipment Engineering. In June 1960, Vandewinckel became a senior engineer responsible for systems manufacturing engineering.

Vandewinckel received his B.S. E.E. degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in 1950.

Mrs. and Mrs. Vandewinckel and their four children reside at Lake Oniad Drive in Wappingers Falls.

Dr. Sartorius Reappointed as College Trustee

Dr. Ina Craig Sartorius of the Town of Rochester was reappointed a trustee of Ulster County Community College for a nine year term, effective July 1, 1962. She had originally been named to the one year term, which expires June 30, 1962. Her term will expire June 30, 1971.

Prior to her reappointment as a member of the board of trustees of the Community College, a communication had been read from the Town of Rochester Town Board, requesting the Board of Supervisors to consider her appointment. The resolution stated that she has served "with distinction in her official capacity" during the first year of the college program.

Appointment of Dr. Sartorius to the college board was one of three appointments made by supervisors Thursday night.

Joseph M. Deyo, Gardiner, was reappointed a member of the Ulster County Civil Service Board. His present term expired June 1, 1962, and he is reappointed for a six year term to expire June 1, 1968.

The third appointment was that of E. Robert Fuhr of Stone Ridge to fill the vacancy of deputy county fire coordinator to succeed the Rev. David Arnold of Stone Ridge who is leaving Stone Ridge to assume another charge. The appointment is effective immediately.

Legion-Sponsored Explorer Scouts Receive Charter

The newly formed Explorer Troop sponsored by Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, received its charter as part of the regular installation program of the Esopus Legion.

Explorer Post 12 led by Assistant Adviser William Shutts and President Richard Rose conducted the ceremony leading to the presentation of the charter by Alex McDonald, Scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council, BSofA. In his remarks, McDonald bade the newly inducted specialty explorers to shoot for the stars as the new explorer program is limited only by the willingness of the boys to sacrifice effort and time toward their goals. He praised the committee and parents who attended the training course during the formation of the Explorer Post. The parents were presented with pocketsize diplomas in recognition of their attendance at three sessions. McDonald called attention to the similarity of the Explorer Code and Legion Preamble both dedicated to the highest ideals of American citizenship.

Receiving cards as committee members were Warren Spinnenweber, advisor; Charles Montafia Jr., assistant advisor; Charles Montafia Sr., institutional representative; and Irving Maurer, chairman. Also receiving cards were Roger Mabie, Bruce Davis, Chester Barth, Floyd Light, Paul Mercier, Harry Tholin and Bud Potter as members of the committee.

Ceremonies of installation of Town of Esopus Post 1298 American Legion followed and were conducted by chaplain of the post, Edgar M. Maurer. Installed as commander for the 1962-63 term was Walter Sismilich. Vice commanders are Vernon Frost, William Barkley and Frank Lutz; adjutant, G. Knute Beichert; finance officer, Frank Auringer Sr.; sergeant-at-arms, Milton Tsitsera; historian, Rodney Whittaker. Members of the executive committee all past commanders of the post are Kenneth Bonville, C. W. Barth, Edgar Ward, Burton Heldron and Herbert Nestell.

The new commander thanked the Legionnaires for their confidence in electing him to the post's highest office and pledged his every effort toward the Legion program during the coming term.

Following the ceremonies open house was held and refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Travis of the auxiliary and her committee.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By Charles Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y. FE 8-1111 (Monday through Friday 9 to 5).

Insurance—A veteran insured under any government life insurance plan may change his beneficiary or the method of paying his beneficiary at any time without the knowledge or consent of the beneficiary. This applies to both the U. S. Government Life Insurance which was issued from World War 1 until Oct. 1940, and to National Service Life Insurance which has been issued since Oct. 1940.

Medical — Prior authorization must be obtained from the Veterans Administration for ambulance service or other types of transportation of patients to its hospitals. The VA can pay for such service only when such prior authorization has been given. Private physicians who contact VA hospital in medical emergencies to request an emergency admission of a veteran may secure prior authorization for the transportation of the veteran to the hospital from the hospital by telephone at the time they are securing the emergency admission of the veteran.

Internment—Veterans of any war are entitled to a statutory burial allowance up to $250 whether or not their death is attributal to causes due to service.

Legislation—A measure has been introduced in the U. S. Senate to reopen the National Service Life Insurance program. This legislation as it now is written provides for insurance upon which dividends would be paid on a five year level premium term basis, which may be granted but not renewed on the term plan after the applicant reaches age 50. The program would be reopened for a period of one year. Applications for this insurance would be accepted for one year after the enactment of the law. World War 2 and Korean veterans with service-connected disabilities would be able to apply for this insurance without regard to their service-connected disability. The GI policyholders would bear all administrative expenses, including medical examinations of applicants. The pension rates for this insurance would be based on the 1958 Commissioner's Standard Ordinary Table of Mortality. Although this bill has been introduced in the Senate reliable sources indicate that hearings have not been scheduled by the Veteran's Affairs Committee of the U. S. House of Representatives nor is any other formal action planned on bills concerning the reopening of the National Service Life Insurance Program.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted o Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler for individual attention at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York — Monday thru Friday, 9 to 5, FE 8-1111.

Siller Beef Co. To Expand Plant In Near Future

An increase in business is calling for expansion plans at the Siller Beef Company, Inc., it was announced today.

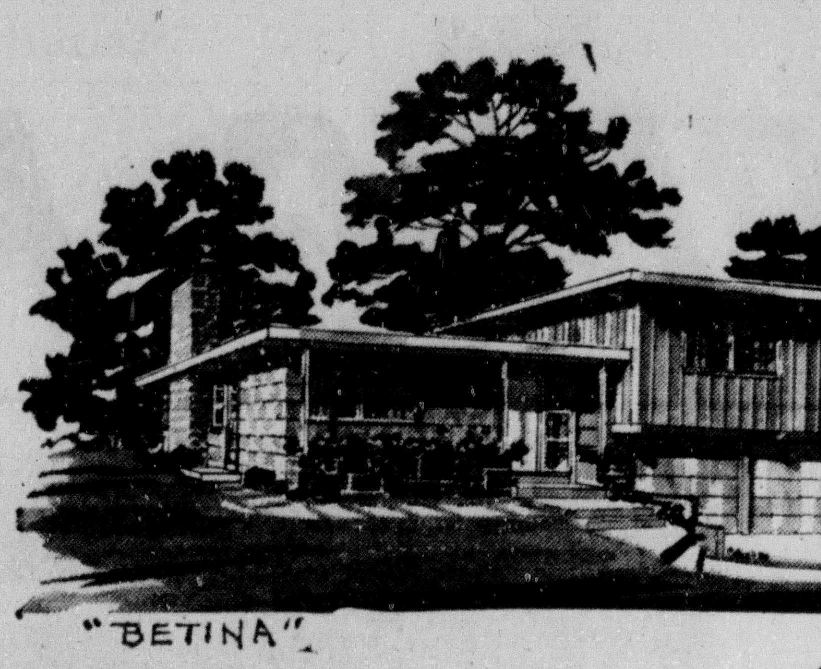
The plant on Hurley Road, Route 209, here has offices in New York, Poughkeepsie and Albany.

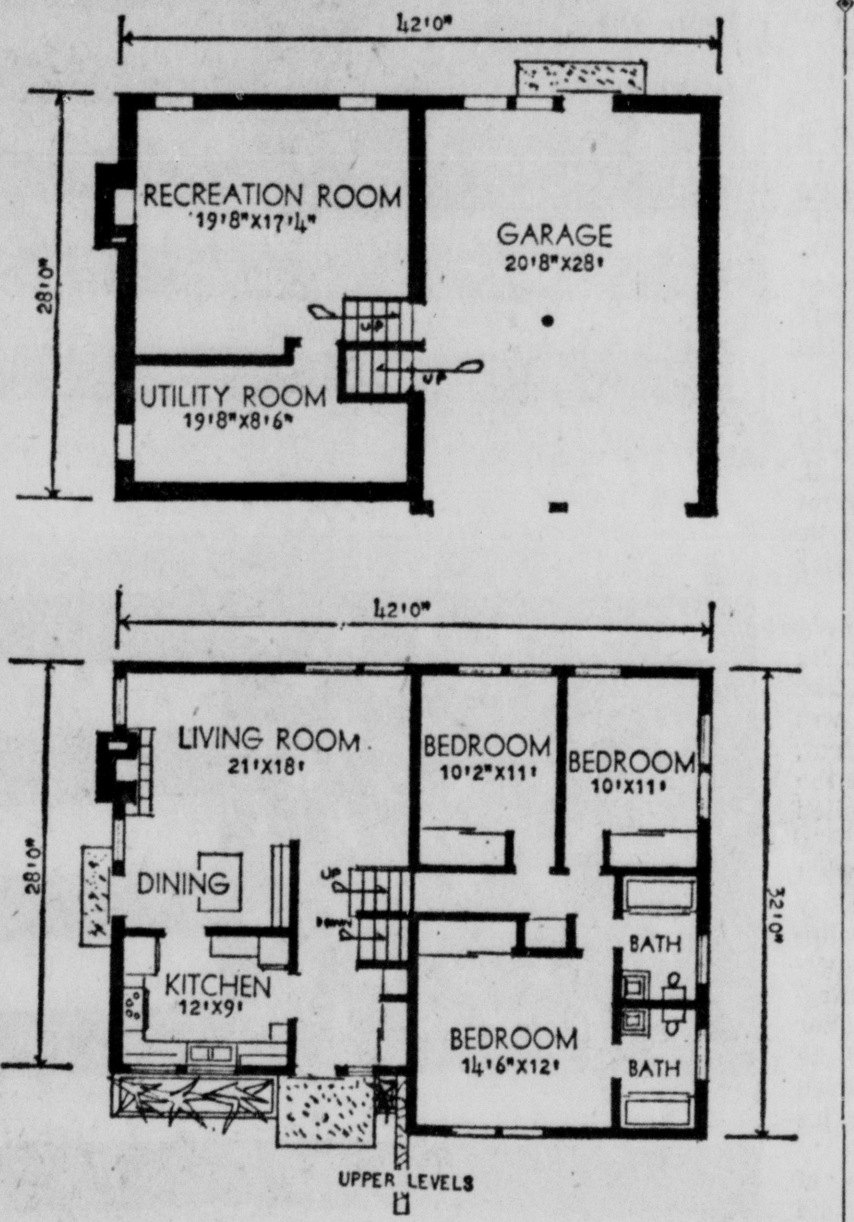
"A sharp increase in volume has made planning for further expansion mandatory in the near future," a spokesman for the packing firm said.

The company serves customers in Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Long Island and metropolitan New York, also in many counties within the state.

Officers of the company are Louis M. Siller, president; August L. Wiedemann, vice president, and Herbert M. Siller, secretary-treasurer.

The Siller firm employs 61 people.





Flexibility Is Important Factor in Split-Level Home

(By Jack McEleney)

Flexibility is an important factor in home planning and Associated Architects today shows a split level design that possesses this quality in good measure.

"The Betina" has several alternates designed to meet the family's space needs. At the same time they can be considered an economy factor.

One of these features deals with the basement area. As drawn, the plans provide for a big recreation room and a utility room at the basement level. But if the room is not required a big saving can be realized by eliminating the basement in favor of a concrete slab foundation for the main living area.

"The Betina" is designed with two baths, an important factor in a three-bedroom home, but they are placed back to back to provide a big saving in plumbing costs.

Balanced Exterior

The exterior of "The Betina" is well balanced with the bedroom area protruding, garrison style, over the garage with exposed beams and the use of stone and boards and batten.

The roof is flat with just enough pitch to shed water and has an all-around overhang of four feet. The living level to the side of the garage calls for shingles or clapboards and the use of stone for the exposed masonry. An exposed chimney completes the picture.

The 1,264 square feet of living space provided in this split level is well divided between the living and sleeping areas.

Efficient Planning

The front entrance opens on a vestibule containing a good-size guest closet. To the left of the vestibule is the kitchen, a self-contained area, with counter work areas and appliances wisely placed for efficiency.

A corridor leads from the front vestibule, past one flight of steps down to the garage and another up to the sleeping area, to the rear living room that extends the full width of the main level.

Sleeping Area Privacy

The sleeping area of this split level has complete privacy. The three bedrooms are reached by a flight of steps that leads up from the main level corridor and are completely isolated from the normal sounds of the main living area.

The main bath is located at the end of a hall to be easily reached from the two bedrooms. The bath for the master bedroom is located in the right front corner of the level.

A big garage, capable of holding not only two cars but plenty of garden equipment is located beneath the sleeping area. At the rear is a door that opens on the yard.

The cubage of "The Betina" is 14.658 cubic feet with basement and 13,482 without. The garage adds 7,140 cubic feet.

Installed Outdoors

Refrigeration units for low-cost air-cooled air conditioning systems are installed out of doors away from the living and sleeping areas of the home. The newer units, such as those by American Furnace Company, are given special weather and safety proofing and are designed to blend with the home and landscaping.

Free Booklet Offered

Need help in building your wood deck? Want ideas for snappy, functional, easy-to-build patio accessories? Write for your free copy of "Decks and Patios," Department 32, West Coast Lumbermen's Association, 1410 S.W. Morrison Street, Portland 5, Oregon.

Livable Lovelines

Kitchen cabinets built of west coast hemlock lumber are in demand because the wood's delicate champagne shade and fine vertical grain complement any color scheme.

Dr. Sartorius Reappointed as College Trustee

Dr. Ina Craig Sartorius of the Town of Rochester was reappointed a trustee of Ulster County Community College for a nine year term, effective July 1, 1962. She had originally been named to the one year term, which expires June 30, 1962. Her term will expire June 30, 1971.

Prior to her reappointment as a member of the board of trustees of the Community College, a communication had been read from the Town of Rochester Town Board, requesting the Board of Supervisors to consider her appointment. The resolution stated that she has served "with distinction in her official capacity" during the first year of the college program.

Appointment of Dr. Sartorius to the college board was one of three appointments made by supervisors Thursday night.

Joseph M. Deyo, Gardiner, was reappointed a member of the Ulster County Civil Service Board. His present term expired June 1, 1962, and he is reappointed for a six year term to expire June 1, 1968.

The third appointment was that of E. Robert Fuhr of Stone Ridge to fill the vacancy of deputy county fire coordinator to succeed the Rev. David Arnold of Stone Ridge who is leaving Stone Ridge to assume another charge. The appointment is effective immediately.

Legion-Sponsored Explorer Scouts Receive Charter

The newly formed Explorer Troop sponsored by Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, received its charter as part of the regular installation program of the Esopus Legion.

Explorer Post 12 led by Assistant Adviser William Shutts and President Richard Rose conducted the ceremony leading to the presentation of the charter by Alex McDonald, Scout executive of Rip Van Winkle Council, BSofA. In his remarks, McDonald bade the newly inducted specialty explorers to shoot for the stars as the new explorer program is limited only by the willingness of the boys to sacrifice effort and time toward their goals. He praised the committee and parents who attended the training course during the formation of the Explorer Post. The parents were presented with pocketsize diplomas in recognition of their attendance at three sessions. McDonald called attention to the similarity of the Explorer Code and Legion Preamble both dedicated to the highest ideals of American citizenship.

Receiving cards as committee members were Warren Spinnenweber, advisor; Charles Montafia Jr., assistant advisor; Charles Montafia Sr., institutional representative; and Irving Maurer, chairman. Also receiving cards were Roger Mabie, Bruce Davis, Chester Barth, Floyd Light, Paul Mercier, Harry Tholin and Bud Potter as members of the committee.

Ceremonies of installation of Town of Esopus Post 1298 American Legion followed and were conducted by chaplain of the post, Edgar M. Maurer. Installed as commander for the 1962-63 term was Walter Sismilich. Vice commanders are Vernon Frost, William Barkley and Frank Lutz; adjutant, G. Knute Beichert; finance officer, Frank Auringer Sr.; sergeant-at-arms, Milton Tsitsera; historian, Rodney Whittaker. Members of the executive committee all past commanders of the post are Kenneth Bonville, C. W. Barth, Edgar Ward, Burton Heldron and Herbert Nestell.

The new commander thanked the Legionnaires for their confidence in electing him to the post's highest office and pledged his every effort toward the Legion program during the coming term.

Following the ceremonies open house was held and refreshments were served by Mrs. Jack Travis of the auxiliary and her committee.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

By Charles Culver, NYS Veteran Counselor, NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y. FE 8-1111 (Monday through Friday 9 to 5).

Insurance—A veteran insured under any government life insurance plan may change his beneficiary or the method of paying his beneficiary at any time without the knowledge or consent of the beneficiary. This applies to both the U. S. Government Life Insurance which was issued from World War 1 until Oct. 1940, and to National Service Life Insurance which has been issued since Oct. 1940.

Medical — Prior authorization must be obtained from the Veterans Administration for ambulance service or other types of transportation of patients to its hospitals. The VA can pay for such service only when such prior authorization has been given. Private physicians who contact VA hospital in medical emergencies to request an emergency admission of a veteran may secure prior authorization for the transportation of the veteran to the hospital from the hospital by telephone at the time they are securing the emergency admission of the veteran.

Internment—Veterans of any war are entitled to a statutory burial allowance up to $250 whether or not their death is attributal to causes due to service.

Legislation—A measure has been introduced in the U. S. Senate to reopen the National Service Life Insurance program. This legislation as it now is written provides for insurance upon which dividends would be paid on a five year level premium term basis, which may be granted but not renewed on the term plan after the applicant reaches age 50. The program would be reopened for a period of one year. Applications for this insurance would be accepted for one year after the enactment of the law. World War 2 and Korean veterans with service-connected disabilities would be able to apply for this insurance without regard to their service-connected disability. The GI policyholders would bear all administrative expenses, including medical examinations of applicants. The pension rates for this insurance would be based on the 1958 Commissioner's Standard Ordinary Table of Mortality. Although this bill has been introduced in the Senate reliable sources indicate that hearings have not been scheduled by the Veteran's Affairs Committee of the U. S. House of Representatives nor is any other formal action planned on bills concerning the reopening of the National Service Life Insurance Program.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted o Mr. Culver or Mr. Tyler for individual attention at 32 Main Street, Kingston, New York — Monday thru Friday, 9 to 5, FE 8-1111.

Flexibility Is Important Factor in Split-Level Home

(By Jack McEleney)

Flexibility is an important factor in home planning and Associated Architects today shows a split level design that possesses this quality in good measure.

"The Betina" has several alternates designed to meet the family's space needs. At the same time they can be considered an economy factor.

One of these features deals with the basement area. As drawn, the plans provide for a big recreation room and a utility room at the basement level. But if the room is not required a big saving can be realized by eliminating the basement in favor of a concrete slab foundation for the main living area.

"The Betina" is designed with two baths, an important factor in a three-bedroom home, but they are placed back to back to provide a big saving in plumbing costs.

Balanced Exterior

The exterior of "The Betina" is well balanced with the bedroom area protruding, garrison style, over the garage with exposed beams and the use of stone and boards and batten.

The roof is flat with just enough pitch to shed water and has an all-around overhang of four feet. The living level to the side of the garage calls for shingles or clapboards and the use of stone for the exposed masonry. An exposed chimney completes the picture.

The 1,264 square feet of living space provided in this split level is well divided between the living and sleeping areas.

Efficient Planning

The front entrance opens on a vestibule containing a good-size guest closet. To the left of the vestibule is the kitchen, a self-contained area, with counter work areas and appliances wisely placed for efficiency.

A corridor leads from the front vestibule, past one flight of steps down to the garage and another up to the sleeping area, to the rear living room that extends the full width of the main level.

Sleeping Area Privacy

The sleeping area of this split level has complete privacy. The three bedrooms are reached by a flight of steps that leads up from the main level corridor and are completely isolated from the normal sounds of the main living area.

The main bath is located at the end of a hail to be easily reached from the two bedrooms. The bath for the master bedroom is located in the right front corner of the level.

A big garage, capable of holding not only two cars but plenty of garden equipment is located beneath the sleeping area. At the rear is a door that opens on the yard.

The cubage of "The Betina" is 14,658 cubic feet with basement and 13,482 without. The garage adds 7,140 cubic feet.

John's Duty Was to Watch

John ran up Penn's Hill frightened by the sound of the firing, yet full of excitement at what he might see. His mother had told him to mark this day well, this 17th of June, for he would want to tell his grandchildren about it.

They had been wakened early that morning by what sounded like thunder, only to learn that it was the sound of battle.

"Come on, Charlie," he called, when he reached the top of the hill, "we've got to keep watch."

"I don't want to watch," his younger brother panted, "it's too hot—I want to play." He sat down on a rock facing Boston, but jumped up quickly. "That rock's too hot to touch," he said.

John looked through his spyglass, and his heart beat hard at the sight of the smoky scene ten miles away. It made him weak to think that the redcoats might do the same to the houses along the highway.

Charlie had seen the billowing smoke, too. He turned to his brother pale and shaken. "Are the redcoats going to burn our house, Johnny?" he asked.

John wanted to deny the possibility, but that wouldn't be the honest thing to do. The weight of adult responsibility was heavy on his 10-year-old shoulders.

"The redcoats wouldn't stop at burning us out," Johnny answered carefully, his dark eyes growing darker. He looked towards the highway to make sure they weren't already on the march. "That's why we're up here. We can warn mother in plenty of time."

"We should be at Uncle Peter's farm—at least it's off the main highway," Charlie said, wiping his moist face.

"As soon as mother thinks it's necessary, we will leave," Johnny replied. "She's already packed Papa's books off."

"I wish Papa was home," Charlie said, echoing Johnny's thoughts.

"Papa's needed at the Continental Congress," Johnny remarked, feeling obliged to defend his parent. "He's working on a plan for independence. I heard him discussing it with mother."

"Well, we need him here, too," Charlie insisted, deserting his post. "Come on, Johnny, let's play something—there's no one coming."

"No, I promised mother I'd watch."

"But it's so hot," Charlie said, "mother wouldn't want us to fry up here. If you won't play, I'm going down to the orchard—it's cooler."

"Mother would expect us to do our duty," Johnny said, as Charlie started down the hill.

"You ALWAYS do the right thing, John Quincy," Charlie called back. "I'm going under the trees."

John Quincy Adams did not deny his brother's words. He had to do the right thing. The son of John Adams, who was to be our second president, John Quincy later became the sixth president of the United States.

His unbending will in what he felt was good for humanity made him unpopular in political circles. Yet, for all his personal unpopularity, his integrity could not be doubted; nor could his brilliant mind be denied. He served in eleven important offices during his lifetime.

That memorable day of June 17, 1775 the British did not come to the Adams' house, but John Quincy remained on Penn's Hill until the danger had passed.

And he lived long enough to say, not only to his children, but to his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. "Yes, I heard the thundering cannon, and saw the smoke of battle. What a day in the annals of mankind is Bunker Hill!"

Early flag, above, looks little like our fifty-star flag, below. Yet the idea was there. Note that on the early-day flag there were more white stripes than red. Present day use of red stripes gives Old Glory a distinctive-looking border.

Old Glory Has a Long And Interesting History

Since its beginning in 1777, our flag has added a lot of interesting facts to its colorful history.

The first salute to the Stars and Stripes and to the young country she represented was given in Quiberon Bay, France. The ship that flew this flag was the Ranger, commanded by John Paul Jones.

When he put into Quiberon Bay, he demanded gun for gun to honor the United States. But France's Admiral Piquet told Jones it was their practice to return only nine shots for the 13 they received. Before accepting four guns less than he gave, Jones made certain that Piquot spoke the truth. It was on February 14, 1778 that the Ranger fired a salute of 13 guns and the French returned nine.

The first ship to carry the Stars and Stripes around the globe was the Columbia. This is the same ship after which the Columbia River was named. After Captain Robert Gray discovered and explored the great river, his ship was outfitted for a round-the-world trip.

The Columbia, commanded by Captain Gray, took with her a cargo of furs and brought back a rich cargo of tea and spices. This voyage opened up a trade in which American ships made their mark.

The nick-name, Old Glory, was first used in 1831, by Captain William Driver of Salem, Mass. A large crowd had gathered to see the sailing of the brig, the Charles Daggett, skippered by Captain Driver. A new flag was being hoisted to the masthead, to celebrate the occasion. As the red, white and blue unfurled in the sea breeze, Captain Driver exclaimed, "I'll call her Old Glory, boys, Old Glory." From that time on, Old Glory went wherever Captain Driver went. Even his monument bears the words, "His ship, his country and his flag—Old Glory."

The oldest fort in existence flying the United States flag is the Fort of San Lorenzo, in the Panama Canal Zone. It was built on top of an 80-foot cliff, by Spaniards, in the 16th century. It served as a protection against the privateer Sir Frances Drake who was raiding along the northern coast of Panama.

The fort has no military value today, but history-loving tourists thrill at the sight of our flag atop the ancient fort.

The first all American made flag was hoisted on the National Capitol in 1866. Until then they were made from materials imported from England.

The flag which Admiral Robert E. Peary carried to the top of the world was made by Mrs. Peary in 1898. She made two flags for the expedition. Parts of one were left in containers, under piles of stones, as evidence of the points reached by the expedition. The flag was divided in such a way that at least one star and a piece of the red and white stripes showed. One of these sections was recovered by the Crockerland expedition in 1914.

It was presented to the American Museum of Natural History in New York. The second flag made by Mrs. Peary is also in this museum.

Perhaps one of the more interesting bits of history of our flag is its code, adopted by the Daughters of the American Revolution. It declares that the American flag stands for courage, chivalry, generosity, honor and is the symbol of the brotherhood of man.

Short Story by Gary Barger---

WEATHERMAN FOILS THE PLOT TO STEAL SUMMER

All week long the Weatherman had been busily preparing for summer—stitching silver linings for rainclouds, weaving the silken gauze he used for making rainbows, and cutting jagged bolts of lightning from gold paper.

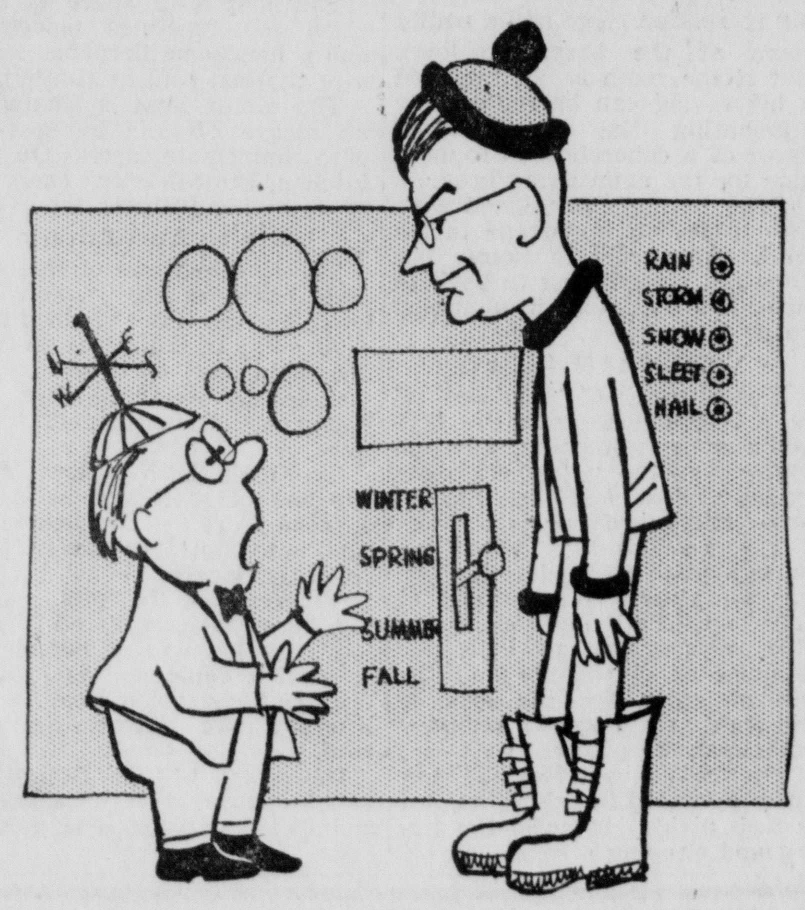
Just as he was ironing out the very last rainbow, a tremendous clatter arose outside his window. Suddenly the window was torn open by an icy blast of wind, and in bounded the King of Winter himself.

"Well, bless my soul!" exclaimed the Weatherman. "If it isn't old Deep Snow Phil." The little man stared at the King in frank curiosity. "What brings YOU here at this time of year?"

"You do," replied Phil bluntly. "What's this I hear about summer coming soon?"

"June the twenty-first, to be exact," said the Weatherman taking on a dignified look. "Now, mind you, no trouble about this. There's a time for winter and a time for summer—and this is the time for summer."

At this the King of Winter got so hot under the collar, his suit nearly melted. But calming with great effort, he said, "Why should I give up my throne for the Queen of summer? winter, you must admit, is quite the better season, and—"



"Summer is very nice, too," interrupted the Weatherman.

"Summer is very nice, too," interrupted the Weatherman calmly. "Harrumph," snorted the King, with a frosty glare at the Weatherman. Then, suddenly, he pushed the Weatherman over and scrambled to the weather machines.

"Wait—don't," begged the Weatherman. But it was too late. Deep Snow Phil had pushed five fatal buttons—snow, sleet, ice, wind and hail.

With a roar that could knock down a building, the great wintery King leaped out the window and breezed off into the storm, leaving the horrified Weatherman to his rainbows and sunbeams.

"Good gracious me!" spluttered the little fellow. "I must stop that winter weather before it was too late." But, "Dear me," he wheezed as he tugged frantically at the discontinuation lever. Horrors! It was stuck tight! Now what could he do?

With a helpless sigh, the Weatherman sank into a chair and let out a deep groan. He was ruined as a weatherman, that was certain. And the Queen of Summer would be absolutely furious. But who could blame her? And who could control Deep Snow Phil?

Who indeed? Who else but Mrs. Phil? Of course!

The Weatherman raced out to his barn and hitched up the flying sleigh he used during the winter. Winged horses obediently carried sleigh and driver through the whirling snow, landing them at the home of Deep Snow Phil and his wife, Betty.

"Open up!" demanded the Weatherman, banging on the door of the cottage with frozen fists. "Betty, it's me, Weatherman."

The door opened slowly to reveal the rosy, cheery face of Betty Phil.

"Well, as I live and breathe!" cried Betty. "Old Mr. Weatherman, what brings you to these frigid parts?"

"Deep Snow," explained the Weatherman, "has done it again."

"Oh, no!" gasped Betty.

"Yes, he's trying to stop summer again by pulling all the winter weather switches. I thought maybe you might be able—"

"I most certainly am," declared the King's wife. "Just wait 'till I grab my shawl. I'll show that mister a thing or three." Snatching up a warm winter cloak, the Queen of Winter boarded the Weatherman's sleigh, and they were off in an instant.

Before long they sighted a tired, worn figure stumbling around in the snow. It was the King of Winter.

"Deep Snow, darling," called the King's wife. "Come here this second!"

Deep Snow Phil came, but very slowly and sullenly. "You were right," he told the Weatherman sadly. "Some people don't want winter all year 'round. Some of them don't even like Winter. They told me so themselves. How foolish I've been!"

"Well I should think," choked his wife. "If we had winter all year long, you and I would never have a vacation."

"By the way, I turned the machine off. The storm will be over by morning. And now," muttered Deep Snow, "I'd like to go home and rest. Its been a long winter, and I'm rather tired."

With a little nod, the Weatherman turned the sleigh around, the King stepped aboard and the three of them disappeared into the night.

Charlie had seen the billowing smoke, too. He turned to his brother pale and shaken. "Are the redcoats going to burn our house, Johnny?" he asked.

John wanted to deny the possibility, but that wouldn't be the honest thing to do. The weight of adult responsibility was heavy on his 10-year-old shoulders.

"The redcoats wouldn't stop at burning us out," Johnny answered carefully, his dark eyes growing darker. He looked towards the highway to make sure they weren't already on the march. "That's why we're up here. We can warn mother in plenty of time."

"We should be at Uncle Peter's farm—at least it's off the main highway," Charlie said, wiping his moist face.

"As soon as mother thinks it's necessary, we will leave," Johnny replied. "She's already packed Papa's books off."

"I wish Papa was home," Charlie said, echoing Johnny's thoughts.

"Papa's needed at the Continental Congress," Johnny remarked, feeling obliged to defend his parent. "He's working on a plan for independence. I heard him discussing it with mother."

"Well, we need him here, too," Charlie insisted, deserting his post. "Come on, Johnny, let's play something—there's no one coming."

"No, I promised mother I'd watch."

"But it's so hot," Charlie said, "mother wouldn't want us to fry up here. If you won't play, I'm going down to the orchard—it's cooler."

"Mother would expect us to do our duty," Johnny said, as Charlie started down the hill.

"You ALWAYS do the right thing, John Quincy," Charlie called back. "I'm going under the trees."

John Quincy Adams did not deny his brother's words. He had to do the right thing. The son of John Adams, who was to be our second president, John Quincy later became the sixth president of the United States.

His unbending will in what he felt was good for humanity made him unpopular in political circles. Yet, for all his personal unpopularity, his integrity could not be doubted; nor could his brilliant mind be denied. He served in eleven important offices during his lifetime.

That memorable day of June 17, 1775 the British did not come to the Adams' house, but John Quincy remained on Penn's Hill until the danger had passed.

And he lived long enough to say, not only to his children, but to his grandchildren and great-grandchildren. "Yes, I heard the thundering cannon, and saw the smoke of battle. What a day in the annals of mankind is Bunker Hill!"

Early flag, above, looks little like our fifty-star flag, below. Yet the idea was there. Note that on the early-day flag there were more white stripes than red. Present day use of red stripes gives Old Glory a distinctive-looking border.

Short Story by Gary Barger---

WEATHERMAN FOILS THE PLOT TO STEAL SUMMER

All week long the Weatherman had been busily preparing for summer—stitching silver linings for rainclouds, weaving the silken gauze he used for making rainbows, and cutting jagged bolts of lightning from gold paper.

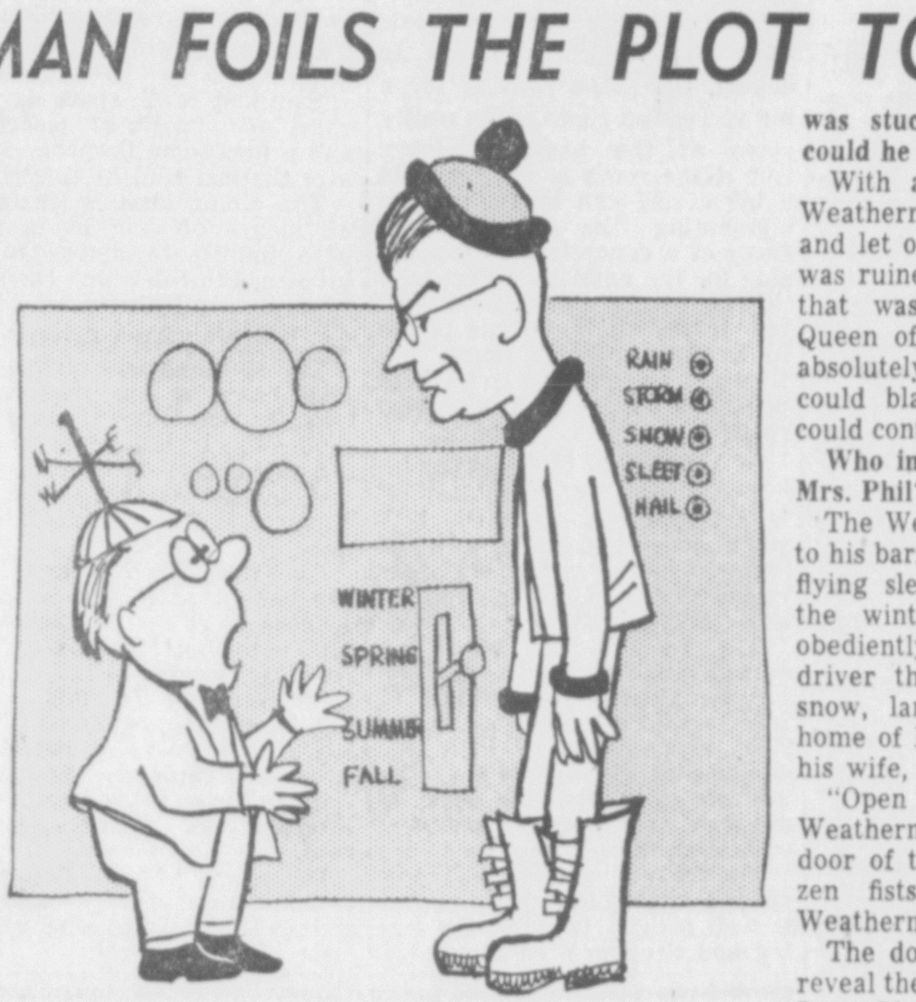
Just as he was ironing out the very last rainbow, a tremendous clatter arose outside his window. Suddenly the window was torn open by an icy blast of wind, and in bounded the King of Winter himself.

"Well, bless my soul!" exclaimed the Weatherman. "If it isn't old Deep Snow Phil." The little man stared at the King in frank curiosity. "What brings YOU here at this time of year?"

"You do," replied Phil bluntly. "What's this I hear about summer coming soon?"

"June the twenty-first, to be exact," said the Weatherman taking on a dignified look. "Now, mind you, no trouble about this. There's a time for winter and a time for summer—and this is the time for summer."

At this the King of Winter got so hot under the collar, his suit nearly melted. But calming with great effort, he said, "Why should I give up my throne for the Queen of summer? winter, you must admit, is quite the better season, and—"



"Summer is very nice, too," interrupted the Weatherman.

"Summer is very nice, too," interrupted the Weatherman calmly. "Harrumph," snorted the King, with a frosty glare at the Weatherman. Then, suddenly, he pushed the Weatherman over and scrambled to the weather machines.

"Wait—don't," begged the Weatherman. But it was too late. Deep Snow Phil had pushed five fatal buttons—snow, sleet, ice, wind and hail.

With a roar that could knock down a building, the great wintery King leaped out the window and breezed off into the storm, leaving the horrified Weatherman to his rainbows and sunbeams.

"Good gracious me!" spluttered the little fellow. "I must stop that winter weather before it was too late." But, "Dear me," he wheezed as he tugged frantically at the discontinuation lever. Horrors! It was stuck tight! Now what could he do?

With a helpless sigh, the Weatherman sank into a chair and let out a deep groan. He was ruined as a weatherman, that was certain. And the Queen of Summer would be absolutely furious. But who could blame her? And who could control Deep Snow Phil?

Who indeed? Who else but Mrs. Phil? Of course!

The Weatherman raced out to his barn and hitched up the flying sleigh he used during the winter. Winged horses obediently carried sleigh and driver through the whirling snow, landing them at the home of Deep Snow Phil and his wife, Betty.

"Open up!" demanded the Weatherman, banging on the door of the cottage with frozen fists. "Betty, it's me, Weatherman."

The door opened slowly to reveal the rosy, cheery face of Betty Phil.

"Well, as I live and breathe!" cried Betty. "Old Mr. Weatherman, what brings you to these frigid parts?"

"Deep Snow," explained the Weatherman, "has done it again."

"Oh, no!" gasped Betty.

"Yes, he's trying to stop summer again by pulling all the winter weather switches. I thought maybe you might be able—"

"I most certainly am," declared the King's wife. "Just wait 'till I grab my shawl. I'll show that mister a thing or three." Snatching up a warm winter cloak, the Queen of Winter boarded the Weatherman's sleigh, and they were off in an instant.

Before long they sighted a tired, worn figure stumbling around in the snow. It was the King of Winter.

"Deep Snow, darling," called the King's wife. "Come here this second!"

Deep Snow Phil came, but very slowly and sullenly. "You were right," he told the Weatherman sadly. "Some people don't want winter all year 'round. Some of them don't even like Winter. They told me so themselves. How foolish I've been!"

"Well I should think," choked his wife. "If we had winter all year long, you and I would never have a vacation."

"By the way, I turned the machine off. The storm will be over by morning. And now," muttered Deep Snow, "I'd like to go home and rest. Its been a long winter, and I'm rather tired."

With a little nod, the Weatherman turned the sleigh around, the King stepped aboard and the three of them disappeared into the night.

Old Glory Has a Long And Interesting History

Since its beginning in 1777, our flag has added a lot of interesting facts to its colorful history.

The first salute to the Stars and Stripes and to the young country she represented was given in Quiberon Bay, France. The ship that flew this flag was the Ranger, commanded by John Paul Jones.

When he put into Quiberon Bay, he demanded gun for gun to honor the United States. But France's Admiral Piquet told Jones it was their practice to return only nine shots for the 13 they received. Before accepting four guns less than he gave, Jones made certain that Piquot spoke the truth. It was on February 14, 1778 that the Ranger fired a salute of 13 guns and the French returned nine.

The first ship to carry the Stars and Stripes around the globe was the Columbia. This is the same ship after which the Columbia River was named. After Captain Robert Gray discovered and explored the great river, his ship was outfitted for a round-the-world trip.

The Columbia, commanded by Captain Gray, took with her a cargo of furs and brought back a rich cargo of tea and spices. This voyage opened up a trade in which American ships made their mark.

The nick-name, Old Glory, was first used in 1831, by Captain William Driver of Salem, Mass. A large crowd had gathered to see the sailing of the brig, the Charles Daggett, skippered by Captain Driver. A new flag was being hoisted to the masthead, to celebrate the occasion. As the red, white and blue unfurled in the sea breeze, Captain Driver exclaimed, "I'll call her Old Glory, boys, Old Glory." From that time on, Old Glory went wherever Captain Driver went. Even his monument bears the words, "His ship, his country and his flag—Old Glory."

The oldest fort in existence flying the United States flag is the Fort of San Lorenzo, in the Panama Canal Zone. It was built on top of an 80-foot cliff, by Spaniards, in the 16th century. It served as a protection against the privateer Sir Frances Drake who was raiding along the northern coast of Panama.

The fort has no military value today, but history-loving tourists thrill at the sight of our flag atop the ancient fort.

The first all American made flag was hoisted on the National Capitol in 1866. Until then they were made from materials imported from England.

The flag which Admiral Robert E. Peary carried to the top of the world was made by Mrs. Peary in 1898. She made two flags for the expedition. Parts of one were left in containers, under piles of stones, as evidence of the points reached by the expedition. The flag was divided in such a way that at least one star and a piece of the red and white stripes showed. One of these sections was recovered by the Crockerland expedition in 1914.

It was presented to the American Museum of Natural History in New York. The second flag made by Mrs. Peary is also in this museum.

Perhaps one of the more interesting bits of history of our flag is its code, adopted by the Daughters of the American Revolution. It declares that the American flag stands for courage, chivalry, generosity, honor and is the symbol of the brotherhood of man.

HOW SOON, AFTER TAKING, MUST FILM BE DEVELOPED?

WE HAVE MENTIONED THE "LATENT IMAGE" — THE MYSTERIOUS RECORD ON EXPOSED BUT NOT-YET-DEVELOPED FILM. YOU HAVE PROBABLY DISCOVERED YOU CAN WAIT SEVERAL WEEKS OR EVEN MONTHS BEFORE GETTING FILM DEVELOPED. THE SENSIBLE THING IS, OF COURSE, TO DEVELOP PROMPTLY; BUT NO ONE REALLY KNOWS HOW LONG A LATENT IMAGE LASTS. HERE ARE TWO REMARKABLE CASES:

★ THE GREAT SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE AND FIRE OF 1906 WAS PHOTOGRAPHED BUT THE FILM WAS NOT DEVELOPED UNTIL 1937. THE 31-YEAR-OLD LATENT IMAGES MADE SATISFACTORY PICTURES.

★ THE ANDREE POLAR EXPEDITION OF 1897 ENDED WITH EVERY MAN DEAD. THE CAMP OF THE LAST SURVIVORS WAS DISCOVERED IN 1930. FILM FOUND IN ANDREE'S CAMERA WAS DEVELOPED. IT PRODUCED ENTIRELY USABLE PICTURES — 33 YEARS AFTER THEY WERE SNAPPED!

Pfc. Grant Halts Yankees; Red Hot Cards Whip Giants

Tribe Nears Top With 3-0 Verdict; 49,422 Watch Tilt

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Ralph Houk was in the Army things were never like this.

The New York Yankee manager was a major, decorated for combat, in World War II. He got few, if any weekend passes to play baseball, and Pfc's never gave him any trouble. Those were the days.

Pfc. Jim (Mudcat) Grant used his weekend pass Friday night to shut out Houk's Yankees for the Cleveland Indians, 3-0. In doing so, Grant became the first Cleveland pitcher to set the Yankees down without a run since Early Wynn did it on June 27, 1957.

It was the fourth Yankee loss in five games.

Minnesota, with a chance to take over the lead, dropped one to the Kansas City Athletics 6-1, the Los Angeles Angels lost to the Chicago White Sox 7-6 and the Detroit Tigers dropped their sixth straight, 3-0, to Boston. Baltimore whipped Washington 8-3.

When the smoke cleared, the Yankees still had a one percentage point lead over Minnesota, with Cleveland three percentage points back. In the games-behind department, the Twins were actually a half-game better than the Yanks.

A crowd of 49,422, largest of the year in Cleveland, roared when rookie Al Luplow banged a two-run homer in the sixth inning to break up a scoreless duel between Grant and Ralph Terry.

Pascual Loses

Camilo Pascual, the leading Minnesota pitcher, lost his third straight to Kansas City, as the A's tagged him for two runs in the second and knocked him out in the fourth wit' four more. Jerry Walker (7-4) won it for Kansas City with help from Ed Rakow.

The Angels had a 6-4 lead over the White Sox in the eighth, powered by home runs by Felix Torres, Leon Wagner and Billy Moran but the Sox got an unearned run in that inning and the winning pair in the last of the ninth. Russ Kemmerer (2-1) got the win after Early Wynn failed to hold an early lead.

Boston righthander Gene Conley, in trouble all the way, did the shutout job on the slumping Tigers, who left 11 men on base. The loss string was the longest of the year for Detroit.

Milt Pappas (7-3), scattered eight Washington hits and hit his fourth home run of the season. Jackie Brandt also homered for Baltimore, and Joe Hicks and Chuck Hinton hit homers for the Senators.

Tie Silk Wins At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Tie Silk closed boldly in the stretch to win Friday's $3,000 Invitational Handicap Trot by a neck in 2:03 4/5—fastest time of the season for a trotter at Monticello Raceway.

Victory was the second straight for the six-year-old son of Rodney at Monticello. He won here in his seasonal debut in 2:04 3/5 a week ago.

Tie Silk, owned by Adrien and Gerard Miron, Quebec, came the final quarter in 31.4. Keith Waples never used the whip on the handsome brown stallion.

The 3-5 favorite in the betting, Tie Silk paid 3.20, 2.50 and 2.40. Ava Song was second for 3.20 and 3.10. Third was Mr. Midnight for 4.40.

Penney Shenandoah cut out a blistering first half of 1:00, but faded to fifth in a seven horse field. The Scottish Pence mare was clocked in 29.3 for the first quarter. The three quarters went in 1:32.

Torrence Hanover was fourth, followed by Penney Shenandoah, Rodman and Ramire.

James Hits HR In 5-2 Triumph; LA Also Loses

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charlie James and the St. Louis Cardinals wrecked the faltering San Francisco Giants and southpaw Billy O'Dell Friday night 5-2, making it 10 victories in the last 11 games for St. Louis and 9 defeats in the last 11 starts for San Francisco.

James got the Cards off winging with a three-run homer in the first inning, later whacked a pair of singles, stole a base and scored another run. It gave the St. Louis outfielder 7 hits in 12 trips and 6 runs batted in against the Giant lefty this season.

Pirates Erupt

Also in the National League, Houston's Jim Golden pitched a five-hit 2-0 shutout over the Los Angeles Dodgers, whose lead over games; Pittsburgh won its seventh straight, erupting for seven runs in the eighth and overcoming Milwaukee 9-8; Philadelphia mounted a 10-run barrage in the third inning and outscored Cincinnati 13-8, and Chicago trimmed New York 5-1 in the battle of tail-enders.

Golden, the right-hander given up by the Dodgers to the Colts in last fall's expansion draft, checked his former club on five singles, did not allow a walk, and faced only 31 men.

Pittsburgh's storybook comeback against Milwaukee overcame a six-run deficit in a rally keyed by Roberto Clemente's grand slam homer and Dick Groat's clinching single. Held to three hits by Tony Cloninger going into the eighth, the Pirates bunched Clemente's big hit, six singles and two walks.

A 10-Run Inning

The Phillies' 10-run third against Cincinnati was the club's biggest one inning output since 1949. Fifteen Phils batted against Jim Maloney and Johnny Klippstein. In addition to Roy Sievers' grand slam and single, their were seven other hits, two walks and a Cincinnati error.

Pitcher Bob Anderson helped himself with a two-run triple as the Cubs gave themselves a two-game cushion over the Mets and snapped a four-game losing string. Billy Williams, the league's leading batter, knocked in two Cub runs and Ernie Banks socked his 16th homer.

Masons Nip VFW, 1-0, In BR Tilt

Brian Bach hurled a near perfect game in the Kingston Babe Ruth League last night as the Masons nipped the VFW, 1-0, in a thriller. A single by Greg Munson in the top of the seventh thwarted the bid.

The Masons scored their only run off loser Dan Heppner in the second on an error, stolen base and an overthrow. Heppner allowed only two hits in absorbing the tough luck loss.

1-3 Daily Double Returns $48.60

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Billy Mitewyn led all the way to set up a $48.60 daily double of numbers 1 and 3 last night at Monticello Raceway.

Nat's Baby took the second race with a strong last quarter rally.

Gerald Roider won his first race of the meeting when he teamed Billy Mitewyn to a 2:08.3 victory in a claiming pace. The winner paid mutuels of 13.00, 6.10 and 3.40.

Busy Chuck was the place horse for 13.60 and 4.90. Third was Mighty Wyn for 3.20.

Sam Smith got seven-year-old mare Nat's Baby home in 2:09.1 in another claiming test. Nat's Baby began moving in the backstretch and finally got the lead past the three-quarters. She held off Daly Knight and pace-setter Carolina Belle in the race for the wire.

Nat's Baby returned 7.10, 4.30 and 3.30. Dale Knight was second for 5.10 and 3.90 and Carolina Belle was 4.60 for show.

Gardner Set to Hurl For Braves on Sunday

Paul Gardner, former Kingston High pitching star, is expected to be the starting hurler for the Kingston Braves Sunday as the locals make their debut at Spring Valley. The New York-New Jersey League game is scheduled to get underway at 2:15 p. m.

Manager Dick Bartsch hasn't decided on a starting lineup as yet. However, he said that Gardner has looked impressive in practice drills and he nominated the righthander to open the season.

The Braves, second place finishers last season, will be home next Saturday against the Poughkeepsie Hoe Bowl club, a 4-0 winner over Newburgh last night. Bob Booth of Poughkeepsie fanned 16 batters. The Bridge City club is defending champion.

Esopus Mets Beat Dodgers

Scoring in every inning, the Mets won their second game of the season, 13-9, over the Dodgers in the Esopus Legion Little League yesterday.

The winners had seven hits with Fred Harris rapping a double and Ed Peterson getting a pair of singles. Bob Joyet hit a single, double and triple for the Dodgers while Herman Brandt tripled for the winners.

The line score:

		R	H
Dodgers	120 213—	9	8
Mets	213 34x—	13	7

Bob Webster, Paul Prindle and Buddy Atkins; Ed Peterson and Fred Harris.

Glasco Braves Top Yankees, 9-2

Chuck Misasi and Don Huff both hurled four-hitters but the Braves won their sixth Glasco-East Kingston Little League game in seven starts, 9-2, over the Yankees recently.

A six run burst in the second inning was the difference. Pat Mayone had a pair of doubles for the losers and Huff also swatted a two-base blow.

The line score:

		R	H
Braves	106 002—	9	4
Yankees	000 200—	2	4

C. Misasi and F. Serravallo; D. Huff and S. Deposla; V. Ferraro.

Sickler's Rally Earns 5-2 Victory

Sickler's Delivery broke loose for a four run rally with two outs in the sixth inning to beat the Lions Club, 5-2, in an American Little League game yesterday.

Tom Gallo drove in the Lions' runs in the first inning and then robbed Gary Nickerson of a homer in the first with a great catch. Marshall Byrd made a shoestring catch in the fifth frame and also threw a runner out at third to stop Sickler threats.

The key hits in the winning rally were made by Roger Jones and Tom Emerick.

Jones swatted a double and Greg Rios had two triples during the game. Tom Dittus won over Roland Augustine.

The line score:

		R	H
Sickler's	010 004—	5	8
Lions Club	200 000—	2	4

Tom Dittus and Gary Nickerson; Roland Augustine and Mike Brown.

Kaye Advances In Net Tourney

Marty Kaye of Kingston advanced to the quarter-finals of the Powelton Tennis Club tournament with 6-2, 6-0 win over John Daniels of Poughkeepsie yesterday. The match was played at the Poughkeepsie High School courts because the courts in the Hilly City were wet.

Dick Little, the other local ace in the tourney, had his match rained out.

Kaye was down 2-1, in the first set before starting on a streak which saw him win 11 straight games. He will meet Gene Meola of Middletown in the quarter-finals today. Meola is ranked third in the tournament.

36-Hole Finals Today

Palmer, Rosburg Tied In Open Play With 139

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) —Arnold Palmer, by dusk today, may have barged through another heavy but outstanding day's job at the office.

Like winning the National Open golf championship for the second time in three years, earning as much as $15,000, and nailing down the second part of his four-part season's goal—the grand slam of professional golf.

Palmer, the Masters champion, shares the lead in the 62nd edition of Americ'a's prestige tournament with paunchy, unorthodox Bob Rosburg going into the showdown 36 holes today. Each has a total of 139 — fashioned when Palmer whittled the 6,894-yard, par 36-35 — 71 Oakmont Country Club course into size Friday with a 3-under-par 68 and Rosburg added a 2-under-par 69 to the 70 he had fired on Thursday.

Close behind them are Billy Maxwell at 141, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player of South Africa and young Bobby Nichols at 142 and defending champion Gene Littler and Miller Barber Jr. at 143.

By the time the 51 surviving players from the original field of 250 complete the stamina-testing double round, the Oakmont record of 283 may have been shattered. Ben Hogan set it when he won his last of four Open championships in 1953.

It took a 36-hole score of 15[illegible] or better to qualify for today's last two rounds based on the low 50 scorers and ties. Sam Snead, playing in his 22nd Open without a championship, barely made the cutoff—with a 74 for 150 on the nose.

Chief casualties were four former Open champions—Billy Casper, Tommy Bolt, Ed Furgol and Cary Middlecoff, the 1961 PGA champion and runnerup, Jerry Barber and Don January, plus former Masters and PGA champ Jackie Burke.

Pfc. Grant Halts Yankees; Red Hot Cards Whip Giants

Tribe Nears Top With 3-0 Verdict; 49,422 Watch Tilt

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Ralph Houk was in the Army things were never like this.

The New York Yankee manager was a major, decorated for combat, in World War II. He got few, if any weekend passes to play baseball, and Pfc's never gave him any trouble. Those were the days.

Pfc. Jim (Mudcat) Grant used his weekend pass Friday night to shut out Houk's Yankees for the Cleveland Indians, 3-0. In doing so, Grant became the first Cleveland pitcher to set the Yankees down without a run since Early Wynn did it on June 27, 1957.

It was the fourth Yankee loss in five games.

Minnesota, with a chance to take over the lead, dropped one to the Kansas City Athletics 6-1, the Los Angeles Angels lost to the Chicago White Sox 7-6 and the Detroit Tigers dropped their sixth straight, 3-0, to Boston. Baltimore whipped Washington 8-3.

When the smoke cleared, the Yankees still had a one percentage point lead over Minnesota, with Cleveland three percentage points back. In the games-behind department, the Twins were actually a half-game better than the Yanks.

A crowd of 49,422, largest of the year in Cleveland, roared when rookie Al Luplow banged a two-run homer in the sixth inning to break up a scoreless duel between Grant and Ralph Terry.

Pascual Loses

Camilo Pascual, the leading Minnesota pitcher, lost his third straight to Kansas City, as the A's tagged him for two runs in the second and knocked him out in the fourth wit' four more. Jerry Walker (7-4) won it for Kansas City with help from Ed Rakow.

The Angels had a 6-4 lead over the White Sox in the eighth, powered by home runs by Felix Torres, Leon Wagner and Billy Moran but the Sox got an unearned run in that inning and the winning pair in the last of the ninth. Russ Kemmerer (2-1) got the win after Early Wynn failed to hold an early lead.

Boston righthander Gene Conley, in trouble all the way, did the shutout job on the slumping Tigers, who left 11 men on base. The loss string was the longest of the year for Detroit.

Milt Pappas (7-3), scattered eight Washington hits and hit his fourth home run of the season. Jackie Brandt also homered for Baltimore, and Joe Hicks and Chuck Hinton hit homers for the Senators.

Tie Silk Wins At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Tie Silk closed boldly in the stretch to win Friday's $3,000 Invitational Handicap Trot by a neck in 2:03 4/5—fastest time of the season for a trotter at Monticello Raceway.

Victory was the second straight for the six-year-old son of Rodney at Monticello. He won here in his seasonal debut in 2:04 3/5 a week ago.

Tie Silk, owned by Adrien and Gerard Miron, Quebec, came the final quarter in 31.4. Keith Waples never used the whip on the handsome brown stallion.

The 3-5 favorite in the betting, Tie Silk paid 3.20, 2.50 and 2.40. Ava Song was second for 3.20 and 3.10. Third was Mr. Midnight for 4.40.

Penney Shenandoah cut out a blistering first half of 1:00, but faded to fifth in a seven horse field. The Scottish Pence mare was clocked in 29.3 for the first quarter. The three quarters went in 1:32.

Torrence Hanover was fourth, followed by Penney Shenandoah, Rodman and Ramire.

Mets Farm Chiti

NEW YORK (AP)—A disgruntled Harry Chiti was farmed out to Jacksonville of the International League by the New York Mets Friday night.

The 29-year-old catcher, who first played major league baseball with the Chicago Cubs in 1350 and has been with four other big league clubs since, was cut after catcher Chris Cannizzaro was moved up from Rochester of the IL.

Angel Food

LOS ANGELES (NEA)—The Los Angeles Angels have defeated the Boston Red Sox eight straight times—the last two times in 1961 and six times this season.

James Hits HR In 5-2 Triumph; LA Also Loses

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charlie James and the St. Louis Cardinals wrecked the faltering San Francisco Giants and southpaw Billy O'Dell Friday night 5-2, making it 10 victories in the last 11 games for St. Louis and 9 defeats in the last 11 starts for San Francisco.

James got the Cards off winging with a three-run homer in the first inning, later whacked a pair of singles, stole a base and scored another run. It gave the St. Louis outfielder 7 hits in 12 trips and 6 runs batted in against the Giant lefty this season.

Pirates Erupt

Also in the National League, Houston's Jim Golden pitched a five-hit 2-0 shutout over the Los Angeles Dodgers, whose lead over games; Pittsburgh won its seventh straight, erupting for seven runs in the eighth and overcoming Milwaukee 9-8; Philadelphia mounted a 10-run barrage in the third inning and outscored Cincinnati 13-8, and Chicago trimmed New York 5-1 in the battle of tail-enders.

Golden, the right-hander given up by the Dodgers to the Colts in last fall's expansion draft, checked his former club on five singles, did not allow a walk, and faced only 31 men.

Pittsburgh's storybook comeback against Milwaukee overcame a six-run deficit in a rally keyed by Roberto Clemente's grand slam homer and Dick Groat's clinching single. Held to three hits by Tony Cloninger going into the eighth, the Pirates bunched Clemente's big hit, six singles and two walks.

A 10-Run Inning

The Phillies' 10-run third against Cincinnati was the club's biggest one inning output since 1949. Fifteen Phils batted against Jim Maloney and Johnny Klippstein. In addition to Roy Sievers' grand slam and single, their were seven other hits, two walks and a Cincinnati error.

Pitcher Bob Anderson helped himself with a two-run triple as the Cubs gave themselves a two-game cushion over the Mets and snapped a four-game losing string. Billy Williams, the league's leading batter, knocked in two Cub runs and Ernie Banks socked his 16th homer.

Masons Nip VFW, 1-0, In BR Tilt

Brian Bach hurled a near perfect game in the Kingston Babe Ruth League last night as the Masons nipped the VFW, 1-0, in a thriller. A single by Greg Munson in the top of the seventh thwarted the bid.

The Masons scored their only run off loser Dan Heppner in the second on an error, stolen base and an overthrow. Heppner allowed only two hits in absorbing the tough luck loss.

1-3 Daily Double Returns $48.60

MONTICELLO, N. Y. — Billy Mitewyn led all the way to set up a $48.60 daily double of numbers 1 and 3 last night at Monticello Raceway.

Nat's Baby took the second race with a strong last quarter rally.

Gerald Roider won his first race of the meeting when he teamed Billy Mitewyn to a 2:08.3 victory in a claiming pace. The winner paid mutuels of 13.00, 6.10 and 3.40.

Busy Chuck was the place horse for 13.60 and 4.90. Third was Mighty Wyn for 3.20.

Sam Smith got seven-year-old mare Nat's Baby home in 2:09.1 in another claiming test. Nat's Baby began moving in the backstretch and finally got the lead past the three-quarters. She held off Daly Knight and pace-setter Carolina Belle in the race for the wire.

Nat's Baby returned 7.10, 4.30 and 3.30. Dale Knight was second for 5.10 and 3.90 and Carolina Belle was 4.60 for show.

Gardner Set to Hurl For Braves on Sunday

Paul Gardner, former Kingston High pitching star, is expected to be the starting hurler for the Kingston Braves Sunday as the locals make their debut at Spring Valley. The New York-New Jersey League game is scheduled to get underway at 2:15 p. m.

Manager Dick Bartsch hasn't decided on a starting lineup as yet. However, he said that Gardner has looked impressive in practice drills and he nominated the righthander to open the season.

The Braves, second place finishers last season, will be home next Saturday against the Poughkeepsie Hoe Bowl club, a 4-0 winner over Newburgh last night. Bob Booth of Poughkeepsie fanned 16 batters. The Bridge City club is defending champion.

Esopus Mets Beat Dodgers

Scoring in every inning, the Mets won their second game of the season, 13-9, over the Dodgers in the Esopus Legion Little League yesterday.

The winners had seven hits with Fred Harris rapping a double and Ed Peterson getting a pair of singles. Bob Joyet hit a single, double and triple for the Dodgers while Herman Brandt tripled for the winners.

The line score:

		R	H
Dodgers	120 213—	9	8
Mets	213 34x—	13	7

Bob Webster, Paul Prindle and Buddy Atkins; Ed Peterson and Fred Harris.

Glasco Braves Top Yankees, 9-2

Chuck Misasi and Don Huff both hurled four-hitters but the Braves won their sixth Glasco-East Kingston Little League game in seven starts, 9-2, over the Yankees recently.

A six run burst in the second inning was the difference. Pat Mayone had a pair of doubles for the losers and Huff also swatted a two-base blow.

The line score:

		R	H
Braves	106 002—	9	4
Yankees	000 200—	2	4

C. Misasi and F. Serravallo; D. Huff and S. Deposla; V. Ferraro.

Sickler's Rally Earns 5-2 Victory

Sickler's Delivery broke loose for a four run rally with two outs in the sixth inning to beat the Lions Club, 5-2, in an American Little League game yesterday.

Tom Gallo drove in the Lions' runs in the first inning and then robbed Gary Nickerson of a homer in the first with a great catch. Marshall Byrd made a shoestring catch in the fifth frame and also threw a runner out at third to stop Sickler threats.

The key hits in the winning rally were made by Roger Jones and Tom Emerick.

Jones swatted a double and Greg Rios had two triples during the game. Tom Dittus won over Roland Augustine.

The line score:

		R	H
Sickler's	010 004—	5	8
Lions Club	200 000—	2	4

Tom Dittus and Gary Nickerson; Roland Augustine and Mike Brown.

Kaye Advances In Net Tourney

Marty Kaye of Kingston advanced to the quarter-finals of the Powelton Tennis Club tournament with 6-2, 6-0 win over John Daniels of Poughkeepsie yesterday. The match was played at the Poughkeepsie High School courts because the courts in the Hilly City were wet.

Dick Little, the other local ace in the tourney, had his match rained out.

Kaye was down 2-1, in the first set before starting on a streak which saw him win 11 straight games. He will meet Gene Meola of Middletown in the quarter-finals today. Meola is ranked third in the tournament.

36-Hole Finals Today

Palmer, Rosburg Tied In Open Play With 139

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) —Arnold Palmer, by dusk today, may have barged through another heavy but outstanding day's job at the office.

Like winning the National Open golf championship for the second time in three years, earning as much as $15,000, and nailing down the second part of his four-part season's goal—the grand slam of professional golf.

Palmer, the Masters champion, shares the lead in the 62nd edition of Americ'a's prestige tournament with paunchy, unorthodox Bob Rosburg going into the showdown 36 holes today. Each has a total of 139 — fashioned when Palmer whittled the 6,894-yard, par 36-35 — 71 Oakmont Country Club course into size Friday with a 3-under-par 68 and Rosburg added a 2-under-par 69 to the 70 he had fired on Thursday.

Close behind them are Billy Maxwell at 141, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player of South Africa and young Bobby Nichols at 142 and defending champion Gene Littler and Miller Barber Jr. at 143.

By the time the 51 surviving players from the original field of 250 complete the stamina-testing double round, the Oakmont record of 283 may have been shattered. Ben Hogan set it when he won his last of four Open championships in 1953.

It took a 36-hole score of 154 or better to qualify for today's last two rounds based on the low 50 scorers and ties. Sam Snead, playing in his 22nd Open without a championship, barely made the cutoff—with a 74 for 150 on the nose.

Chief casualties were four former Open champions—Billy Casper, Tommy Bolt, Ed Furgol and Cary Middlecoff, the 1961 PGA champion and runnerup, Jerry Barber and Don January, plus former Masters and PGA champ Jackie Burke.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept help wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Federal Wage-Hour Law if they offer less than legal minimum wages. Beginning September 3, 1961, employees engaged in interstate or foreign commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and at least time and one-half for hours worked after 40 in a workweek, unless specifically exempt. Employees of certain large retail, service, construction, and other enterprises must be paid not less than $1.00 an hour after September 3, 1961, but no overtime for such employment is required until September 3, 1963. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning this law or other activities of the U. S. Department of Labor, call or write the Department's local office at Bronx: Abraham Klainbard, Investigation Supr., 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y. WYandotte 2-1235.

LYONSVILLE NEWS

LYONSVILLE — Lyonsville Reformed Church services begin with Sunday school sessions 10 a. m. Worship service is at 11:15 a. m. with Thomas Lubbers, a seminary student in charge. Mr. Lubbers will be the summer student pastor when regular worship service will be held for the months of July and August at 7 p. m. Following the June 24 service Sunday school will be in recess until September.

June 24 the Sunday school will present it's Children's Day program during the morning worship hour. The theme of the program to which the public is invited is Our Father's Business.

The Krumville and Lyonsville consistorymen held a joint business meeting at the local church Saturday evening.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hux is rapidly nearing completion at the head of the Lyonsville pond on the Hux-DeFranco property. Mr. and Mrs. Hux, son Charles and daughter Rita, now Mrs. John Neidhart, have been vacation and summer residents for many years and are now joining the community as permanent residents. Their co-partners, Mr. and Mrs. Frank DeFranco and son, Frank this month will be establishing permanent residence at their previous summer home on the former Rufus Lyons farm.

Mrs. Floyd Davis and Mrs. William Van der Lee were Sunday afternoon guests at the Henry Hirsh home.

Mrs. Chester Roosa and Mrs. Sherman Barley accompanied Mrs. Lester Judd to Staten Island Monday where they visited with Mrs. Judd's grandmother, Mrs. Evelyn Jarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Roosa attended the 1937 Class Reunion dinner of the New Paltz State University of Education which was held at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, Saturday evening. Mrs. Roosa, the former Marie Rhinehart of Gardiner was a member of the 25th anniversary graduation class.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Baker observed their 30th wedding anniversary June 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Oakley and family entertained Mrs. Oakley's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Terry O'Toole and daughter of Glen Head.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ackert of Olive Bridge called Tuesday evening on Mrs. Ray Davis.

Miss Norma Szinn, student at Albany Medical Center and her fiance of Albany visited on Saturday with her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kozian.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharon of Bridgeport, Conn, spent a few days this week with her mother, Mrs. Chester Alexander and family.

Ex-Wagner Aide Is To Head Rules Study

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon announced today the appointment of Stanley H. Lowell, former executive assistant to Mayor Robert F. Wagner and more recently acting deputy mayor, as chairman of a committee to study the revision of the rules of the Democratic State Committee.

"This is a fulfillment of a pledge I made when I was elected state chairman," McKeon said in a statement. "It is my hope that Mr. Lowell and his committee will have the study of our rules ready for submission to the new state committee that meets in September."

Monroe Goldwater, long active in Democratic affairs in the city, has been appointed counsel to the committee.

Ex-Wagner Aide Is To Head Rules Study

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon announced today the appointment of Stanley H. Lowell, former executive assistant to Mayor Robert F. Wagner and more recently acting deputy mayor, as chairman of a committee to study the revision of the rules of the Democratic State Committee.

"This is a fulfillment of a pledge I made when I was elected state chairman," McKeon said in a statement. "It is my hope that Mr. Lowell and his committee will have the study of our rules ready for submission to the new state committee that meets in September."

Monroe Goldwater, long active in Democratic affairs in the city, has been appointed counsel to the committee.

Man Is Killed In Freight Wreck

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP)—One man was killed in the wreck of 42 Nickel Plate Railroad freight cars in this Western New York village Friday.

The victim was carrying a Social Security card bearing the name "Charles Harold Nolan", but no address was learned. State Police said he was a tramp who was riding in one of the wrecked cars.

No other injuries were reported. A Nickel Plate official estimated that damage would total between $250,000 and $300,000. The wrecked cars, loaded mostly with meats and perishables, were strewn on both tracks of the railroad's main line, and more than a quarter of a mile of track was torn up.

The cars were part of a 116-car train bound from Chicago to New York. At the time of the wreck, the train was travelling at about 50 miles per hour, the railroad said.

The cause of the wreck was not learned.

Bicycle Reported Stolen

A bicycle was reported to city police to have been stolen from Richard Tomaszewski of 26 Navara Street Friday. The bicycle is reported to be black and white.

Teacher Honored On Retirement by School Employes

Miss N. Leona Hogan was honored at a retirement party on her last day of teaching at Saugerties High School Thursday afternoon, June 14 by the administrators, teachers, clerical workers, custodians, noonhour supervisors and cafeteria workers employed in the high school.

Miss Hogan is retiring after 33 years of teaching, 28 of which have been in Saugerties. Miss Hogan is a graduate of Mount Holyoke College where she earned her BA degree and of New York University where she earned her MA degree. She has been head of the mathematics department, senior class advisor, and advisor of the Sigma Club of Saugerties High School for several years. She has been active in the work of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association in which she held offices including that of president. She has also been honored by a life membership in that organization.

Miss Hogan was honored earlier on Thursday by having The Sawyer, the Saugerties High School year book, dedicated to her in an assembly program. The year book staff presented her with a corsage.

As a token of their esteem, the personnel of Saugerties High School presented Miss Hogan with a wristwatch at her retirement party.

Power Boat Unit Attends Banquet

The 10th annual banquet of the Saugerties Power Boat Association Auxiliary was held Wednesday, June 13 at the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties. Inaugurated as officers for the 1962-1963 year were president, Mrs. Henry Schaefer; vice president, Mrs. William D. Brinnier; treasurer, Mrs. Garry Smith and secretary, Mrs. Peter Fischer.

The banquet represents over a decade of existence for the Auxiliary which held its first meeting May 29, 1952. The auxiliary was formed to aid and assist the Saugerties Power Boat Association, Inc. in activities for which the assistance of the auxiliary is requested. The auxiliary is composed of wives of members of the Saugerties Power Boat Association, Inc. The motto of the auxiliary is in keeping with the theme of the men's association, "Safety," and the auxiliary adopted the slogan "Keep Afloat." The colors, as in the men's association, are blue and white. The first officers of the association were as follows: President, Mrs. William M. Cutler; vice president, Mrs. Ben Sanford; treasurer, Mrs. Garry Smith, and secretary, Mrs. Harry Smith. The founders of the auxiliary numbered 25 and at present there are 49.

The first club house was located at the former Saugerties Power Boat Association building on Lighthouse Drive. In 1960 the club moved its headquarters to the new building located at the former McNally grounds on the Long Dock Road. The club house was constructed solely through the cooperation and work of the men of the Saugerties Power Boat Association.

Parochial School Session Planned

Ever wonder just what makes a parochial school tick? Is it any different from a public school, and, if so how? What is its philosophy of education?

The answers to these and many other queries about parochial schools will be given in a special open house program at St. Mary's School cafeteria Sunday, beginning at 2 p. m., according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward M. Plover, school director and pastor. A similar program was given last Sunday. Included will be tours of the building and a panel discussion on the partnership between the public and parochial schools.

Sister Marie Bernard, principal, will discuss the curriculum, with special emphasis on the Science Research Associates Reading program, the new language of math and the introduction of Several laymen will talk on the role of the parochial school in the state and the nation. Other topics will be the legal aspect and budget requirements. Vincent Amrod is lay chairman and panel moderator. Sister Marie Loretta, administrator of the Child Evaluation Clinic of St. Vincent's Hospital, is expected to attend the session.

Msgr. Plover urged parishoners to attend the program and to bring a non-Catholic friend. The program is strictly informational and the general public is welcome, he said.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program. The event is being held in observance of National Catholic Education Month sponsored by the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

science to the elementary pupils.

VFW Unit Reports Needs for Blood

A Blood Bank drawing will be held on Thursday, July 12, it was announced during the monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW Thursday at the Post home. Mrs. Helen Arold, representing the blood bank chairman, Mrs. Helen Gardner, stated that the local bank is depleted. Further details as to time will be announced.

Mrs. Margaret Kohan of Quarryville received the obligation of the order and was accepted in the auxiliary.

The group voted to adopt a new patient at the Veterans Hospital, Castle Point. Herbert Venson, a sick vet with no family, friends, visitors, or next of kin, would be most grateful for any attention, according to hospital chairman, Mrs. Ruth Prendergast. Members are asked to drop him a card or note of cheer. Money was also allocated for the purchase of stamps for the hospital. A total of $550.25 in supplies and value of goods, plus 21 hours by four volunteer workers, was recorded last month.

Only ten seats remain on the bus scheduled for the July 13 weekend at Atlantic City, said the co-chairman, Mrs. Isabel DeCelle. For an immediate reservation contact Mrs. DeCelle or Mrs. Violet Rocklein.

A meeting of the float committee is slated for Thursday night at 132 Market Street. Anyone interested in helping assemble it is invited to attend.

The usual donation to the J. C.'s 4th of July program was given. Miss Loyalty, Karen Eckerlein, will also ride in the parade.

The poppy sale was most successful according to the chairman, Mrs. Peg Wade. She received an enthusiastic applause from the members for her efforts.

Mrs. Carolyn Markmiller was awarded her 15-year pin for continuous membership.

Post and auxiliary members will meet at the VFW Hall at 8 p. m. on Monday in order to make plans to raise money to complete the kitchen. All ideas are welcome.

Any member who does not have an identification card for cancer insurance is asked to contact Miss Marie McCutcheon. One card is issued and it must be carried at all times. The insurance payment is due for the current year.

The auxiliary went on record as endorsing the efforts of the Ulster Garden Club in its anti-billboard campaign which is trying to restrict the use of billboards on highways.

The senior vice-president, Miss Hannah Lewis gave a report on the district convention last weekend in Red Hook. She related that Post 5034 who sent their color guard and marched with the Kingston Red Devil Drum Corp. won a trophy for its performance.

The next Hudson Valley County Council meeting is scheduled for August 5 in Ellenville. It will be a box lunch affair. Saugerties voted a sum to the Council's foodless-food sale.

Reports from the chairman indicated that 21 corsages were sent to the Gold Star Mothers; a total of 600 hours and the value of $674 was accomplished by Mrs. Helen Arold in making nine knitted bandages, 18 pajama tops and 38 bed pads.

The auxiliary paid its respect to Clarence Thorn, father of past president Mrs. Janice Dengler, Thursday evening at the Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lila Ledwig is reported at home ill.

President, Mrs. Marie Sheehan thanked all who attended the Memorial Day services. Special compliments were given to the Rev. Henry Reinewald for his services the previous Sunday.

Teachers Needed For Local School

There are still five vacancies on the teaching staff of the Saugerties Central Schools which remain to be filled, said Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools today.

He went on to say that the 25 teachers who are leaving the system at the close of the current school year are leaving for the following reasons: Graduate study, 2; marriage, 4; return to Nebraska, 3; retirement, 1; husband transferred, 5; resigned, 2; family responsibilities, 4; ill health, 1; teach nearer home, 3; total 25.

Start Fund Drive

Members of the Glasco Fire Department will start their annual fund raising campaign throughout the Glasco Fire District on Sunday, according to Joseph Fabiano, president. The appeal for contributions will be continued through July 6 and 7 when the department will hold its annual bazaar on the community field which is made available through the courtesy of the Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp. The campaign will close with the Saturday night display of fireworks. An invitation to all area residents to attend was made by Fabiano and Michael Mauro, chairman of the fund raising committee.

Wilson Leads Ulster Group at Dinner

Ulster County was well represented at the annual Fund-Raising dinner of the New York State Republican Committee, at Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City this week.

Some 30 GOP representatives led by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson attended the dinner.

Assemblyman Wilson, a member of the executive committee of the State Republican Party, sat on the dais with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, State Chairman L. Judson Morehouse, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob Javitt. Senator Walter Mahoney and Speaker of the Assembly Joseph Carlino were also on the dais.

Body Not Identified

Authorities in Dutchess and Ulster Counties today continued efforts in an attempt to identify the body of a man found in the Hudson River Friday morning off Milton. Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle and Sergeant Robert Smith, Highland State Police, said fragments of clothing, a wrist watch and dental work recovered with the decomposed body by State Police, are being checked. The Dutchess County sheriff's office told The Freeman before noon today the body of the man had not been identified.

Beauty Contest Slated Tonight At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—Monticello Raceway will be the "stage" for the "Miss Sullivan County" beauty contest tonight before the eight-race program. Judging will get under way at 8 o'clock in front of the grandstand area.

The beauty queen will be crowned following the judging. The winner will be invited to present a trophy to the driver of the winning horse of the feature seventh race. The dash has been named the "Miss Sullivan County Pace."

The lucky girl will represent Sullivan County at the New York State Beauty Pageant at Grossinger's on June 29. If she wins the State title, she will fly to Miami Beach for the Miss Universe contest.

To be eligible, girls must be between 18 and 28, never married, and a resident of New York State for at least six months. Juding will be based on good health, character, poise, personality, charm and beauty.

Allen J. Finkelson, Raceway public relations director, and Bert Eisenberg, Liberty attorney, are co-chairmen for the contest. Judges are Robert Sylvester, Daily News columnist, Leonard Scandur, News automobile editor, Mayor Luis deHoyos of Monticello, Edward Sykes, Hankins businessman, and Lyman Holmes, Liberty banker.

The county winner will be provided transportation to Grossinger's and return and receive meals and lodgings at the hotel for the state contest. She will receive a bathing suit as a gift.

Exams Scheduled

The U. S. Internal Revenue Service plans to offer its fourth annual examination of persons, other than attorneys and CPA's who seek to qualify for enrollment to practice before the Treasury Department, on Sept. 19 and 20. Enrolment is required of persons wishing to represent clients in tax matters before the Department and in certain other actions. James A. O'Hara, local district director of internal revenue, reminded prospective applicants for the examination to file their applications on Form 23-B with the Director of Practice, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will not be accepted if postmarked later than Sept. 1.

Child Health Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department wil be held at Hasbrouck Hall, Modena, Tuesday, June 26 from 1 to 2 p. m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

Channel Chatter

Mason's Sidekick Is Satisfied as 'Second Banana'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "If they thought they were getting Paul Drake, they were mistaken. Because what they got was me, nobody else."

William Hopper was talking about the producers of "Perry Mason" and his own role in it. He was talking like Bill Hopper —or Paul Drake, take your choice —frankly and businesslike.

That's Hopper, a strikingly handsome man with luxurious blond-white hair, rugged physique and a serious attitude. Only rarely does his face break into a smile.

"Paul Drake in the Erle Stanley Gardner books was an entirely different character," he remarked. "I play him my way. Now I'm amused to read Gardner's new books. Paul Drake now comes out like me!"

Many an actor would chafe at playing second banana in a television series. Not Hopper.

"I couldn't be more pleased," he said. "I tested for the Perry Mason role. I lost it, and it was the best thing that ever happened to me.

"Why? Because I've seen what it has done to Ray Burr. The poor guy has had to dedicate his life to Perry Mason. I remember in the first two years, he used to stay up until midnight every night to work out changes that would improve the script.

"Even now he must live at the studio while we're working. He has no outside life whatsoever. Luckily, he is the kind of guy who is dedicated to activity. If he has nothing to do for three weeks, he ends up in the hospital."

Bill comes by his acting naturally. His father was the noted actor DeWolf Hopper. His mother, Hedda Hopper, also acted and now writes an entertainment column. Bill tried his hand at acting before the war and afterward chucked it to be a car salesman.

He combined car selling and acting for a while. When the blossoming of live television made pickings good for actors, he gave up the car lot forever.

Insect Collector Seeks Processors

CHICAGO (AP) — This whole thing started with a letter from a man in East Chicago, Ind., whose family listens to the radio but doesn't pay too close attention.

A member of the family, he said, heard an announcement of some business concern or laboratory that wants dead mosquitoes by the pound.

He wrote to the radio station and received a reply reading:

"I would suggest you get in touch with the Associated Press bureau in Chicago for further information on the subject. They can no doubt help you more than we can."

So, the Mosquito Abatement District, a sort of planned parenthood organization for mosquitoes financed by the taxpayers of Cook County, was contacted by AP. A lady there said "There was something like that in a newspaper. One of our men brought in a clipping and has been telling everyone, 'Save your dead mosquitoes. They are worth $12 a gram.' "

A gram amounts to one-thousandth of a kilogram. And a kilogram is equivalent to 2.204662341 pounds.

The man was out, but sometime later the lady called back. She had the clipping which stated the price of dried ground insects had gone up $2 a gram to $5,455.-20 a pound. The bugs, it added, are used by doctors for allergy tests and innoculations.

Unhappily, however, the clipping did not name or otherwise identify the processor paying the prices. Tough luck for the man in East Chicago.

Judges Hear Appeal

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A panel of three Erie County judges has taken under advisement the appeal of the Millcreek Twp. School Board from orders to reinstate George L. Pease Jr. as a teacher.

The jurists held a hearing Friday.

Pease was not permitted to testify but was represented by William E. Hirt, a former State Superior Court judge.

The school board fired Pease from his teaching post at McDowell High School last Dec. 30 because he refused to chaperone an after-school activity.

He appealed to the State Department of Public Instruction, which ordered him reinstated on April 16.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Another sharp slump by the stock market, further bids by President Kennedy for business cooperation and the question of whether a federal budget deficit would benefit the economy held the spotlight during the week.

All were interwoven in the fabric of the nation's business picture.

Gain Not Enough

The market, pummeled by discouraged selling, sank through the bottom of the May 28 "Black Monday" level and to its lowest point since Nov. 2, 1960.

The market rallied near the close of trading Friday snapping a string of four straight losses. But the gain, although the biggest since May 29, failed to erase even half the loss accumulated during the four previous sessions.

President Kennedy said in a speech at Yale University commencement exercises that it was a "false issue" to assume that "any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel—however temporary and however plainly speculative in character—are the result of lack of confidence in an administration."

Later at his news conference, Kennedy said, in response to a question, that he couldn't believe that big business would want an economic slump just to get back at a president.

Feel Level Is Right

A newspaper column had indicated some businessmen hoped to take advantage of the market decline for that purpose.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, testifying before the Senate Finance Committee, said some investment analysts believe that stock prices have fallen to about the right levels in relation to share earnings.

Kennedy used his Yale speech and his news conference to outline his views on government-business cooperation and the possible result of an unbalanced budget.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told a convention of the Hatters Union in New York, "We are not antibusiness and it is nonsense to believe that a president of the United States committed to our institutions can be."

Mixed Picture

Newly reported business statistics painted a mixed picture.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announced retail sales in May declined 1 per cent from April, corporate profits dropped in the first quarter and personal income showed a smaller-than-usual advance.

Even so, he said, over-all economic figures "still look awfully good." For the rest of the year he predicted good business but not full economic activity.

The Labor Department reported earnings of factory workers reached their highest peak in May and nonfarm employment was the greatest for the month.

However, indications were for an increase in unemployment in June and a poorer-than-expected job situation in construction and soft goods manufacturing.

William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said in an address to the Harvard Alumni Association that the United States needs to accelerate economic growth.

Ford Plans Unchanged

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., was quoted as saying he considered the market adjustment a short-term affair and that Ford spending plans are unchanged.

Ford also predicted good automobile sales for the rest of this year and at least the first part of 1963. Earlier he had forecast sales of 6.9 million to 7 million cars, which would make this year second only to 1955, when 7,169,908 were sold.

Sales in the first 10 days of June totaled 161,969, compared with 150,596 a year earlier. Production during the week fell off to an estimated 147,000 from 150,077 last week but was well ahead of the 129,274 of a year ago.

Stock sales for the week totaled 26,770,685 shares, compared with 21,041,630 the previous week and 16,320,338 for the comparable week of last year. Bond sales totaled $47,082,000 par value, compared with $41,778,000 the previous week and $26,590,000 the comparable 1961 week.

The situation in the steel industry continued discouraging with production down for the 10th consecutive week. Mills turned out 1.58 million tons of steel, off 0.4 per cent from the previous week and representing about 52.5 per cent of estimated capacity.

Producers said indications were that production will continue to decline for a while longer.

Early Signers Point to Good Y Camp Crowd

The Kingston YMCA Day Camp is ready for another summer of fun, activities, and swimming beginning Monday, June 25 and ending Friday, Aug. 17.

Advanced registrations received by Steve Orozco, camp director, indicate that each week at camp will be well attended. Orozco advises all parents who are interested in having their children attend camp, to send in the registration form as soon as possible.

New playground swings, seesaws, and sliding board have already been installed at the Ticetonyk Mt. camp site to enlarge the junior playground area. Improvement and enlargement of the entire camp was deemed necessary to handle the attendance expected. New fireplaces, an enlarged swimming and bathing area, a basketball court and a volleyball court also have been added this year for the convenience of both junior and senior camp.

Highlights of the first week of camp will be: Monday, swimming; Tuesday, hiking; Wednesday, fishing; Thursday, hot dog; Friday, swimming. In addition to the highlights for each day, the program of crafts, games and movies will be provided.

Any interested parent or child should immediately contact the YMCA for additional information to avoid missing a week of camping fun

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — A smorgasbord will be served at the Plattekill Grange Hall Saturday, 5:30 p. m., sponsored the young people of the Plattekill Methodist Church. Robert Engel is general chairman; Mrs. Marjorie Loetscher is in charge of the dining room, and Frances Harris is chairman of the ticket committee. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of redecorating the interior of the Plattekill Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett, Walter Kleeman, Raymond Davies, were among those attending the Pomona Grange meeting at Ulster Park, when memorial services were conducted for Lolita Scott and Frederick Bernard, members of the local Grange, now deceased.

Cars Collide at Circle

Two cars collided Friday night at the Route 28 traffic circle about 11:15. No one was injured and there was no arrest by Kingston State Troopers who conducted an investigation. Both cars were traveling west. A car operated by Keith Johnson, 19, Kerhonkson and that of William McSpirit, 44, of Hurley, were involved.

Man Is Killed In Freight Wreck

WESTFIELD, N.Y. (AP)—One man was killed in the wreck of 42 Nickel Plate Railroad freight cars in this Western New York village Friday.

The victim was carrying a Social Security card bearing the name "Charles Harold Nolan", but no address was learned. State Police said he was a tramp who was riding in one of the wrecked cars.

No other injuries were reported. A Nickel Plate official estimated that damage would total between $250,000 and $300,000. The wrecked cars, loaded mostly with meats and perishables, were strewn on both tracks of the railroad's main line, and more than a quarter of a mile of track was torn up.

The cars were part of a 116-car train bound from Chicago to New York. At the time of the wreck, the train was travelling at about 50 miles per hour, the railroad said.

The cause of the wreck was not learned.

Bicycle Reported Stolen

A bicycle was reported to city police to have been stolen from Richard Tomaszewski of 26 Navara Street Friday. The bicycle is reported to be black and white.

Teacher Honored On Retirement by School Employes

Miss N. Leona Hogan was honored at a retirement party on her last day of teaching at Saugerties High School Thursday afternoon, June 14 by the administrators, teachers, clerical workers, custodians, noon-hour supervisors and cafeteria workers employed in the high school.

Miss Hogan is retiring after 33 years of teaching, 28 of which have been in Saugerties. Miss Hogan is a graduate of Mount Holyoke College where she earned her BA degree and of New York University where she earned her MA degree. She has been head of the mathematics department, senior class advisor, and advisor of the Sigma Club of Saugerties High School for several years. She has been active in the work of the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association in which she held offices including that of president. She has also been honored by a life membership in that organization.

Miss Hogan was honored earlier on Thursday by having The Sawyer, the Saugerties High School year book, dedicated to her in an assembly program. The year book staff presented her with a corsage.

As a token of their esteem, the personnel of Saugerties High School presented Miss Hogan with a wristwatch at her retirement party.

Power Boat Unit Attends Banquet

The 10th annual banquet of the Saugerties Power Boat Association Auxiliary was held Wednesday, June 13 at the Flamingo Restaurant in Saugerties. Inaugurated as officers for the 1962-1963 year were president, Mrs. Henry Schaefer; vice president, Mrs. William D. Brinnier; treasurer, Mrs. Garry Smith and secretary, Mrs. Peter Fischer.

The banquet represents over a decade of existence for the Auxiliary which held its first meeting May 29, 1952. The auxiliary was formed to aid and assist the Saugerties Power Boat Association, Inc. in activities for which the assistance of the auxiliary is requested. The auxiliary is composed of wives of members of the Saugerties Power Boat Association, Inc. The motto of the auxiliary is in keeping with the theme of the men's association, "Safety," and the auxiliary adopted the slogan "Keep Afloat." The colors, as in the men's association, are blue and white. The first officers of the association were as follows: President, Mrs. William M. Cutler; vice president, Mrs. Ben Sanford; treasurer, Mrs. Garry Smith, and secretary, Mrs. Harry Smith. The founders of the auxiliary numbered 25 and at present there are 49.

The first club house was located at the former Saugerties Power Boat Association building on Lighthouse Drive. In 1960 the club moved its headquarters to the new building located at the former McNally grounds on the Long Dock Road. The club house was constructed solely through the cooperation and work of the men of the Saugerties Power Boat Association.

Parochial School Session Planned

Ever wonder just what makes a parochial school tick? Is it any different from a public school, and, if so how? What is its philosophy of education?

The answers to these and many other queries about parochial schools will be given in a special open house program at St. Mary's School cafeteria Sunday, beginning at 2 p. m., according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward M. Plover, school director and pastor. A similar program was given last Sunday. Included will be tours of the building and a panel discussion on the partnership between the public and parochial schools.

Sister Marie Bernard, principal, will discuss the curriculum, with special emphasis on the Science Research Associates Reading program, the new language of math and the introduction of Several laymen will talk on the role of the parochial school in the state and the nation. Other topics will be the legal aspect and budget requirements. Vincent Amrod is lay chairman and panel moderator. Sister Marie Loretta, administrator of the Child Evaluation Clinic of St. Vincent's Hospital, is expected to attend the session.

Msgr. Plover urged parishoners to attend the program and to bring a non-Catholic friend. The program is strictly informational and the general public is welcome, he said.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program. The event is being held in observance of National Catholic Education Month sponsored by the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

science to the elementary pupils.

VFW Unit Reports Needs for Blood

A Blood Bank drawing will be held on Thursday, July 12, it was announced during the monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW Thursday at the Post home. Mrs. Helen Arold, representing the blood bank chairman, Mrs. Helen Gardner, stated that the local bank is depleted. Further details as to time will be announced.

Mrs. Margaret Kohan of Quarryville received the obligation of the order and was accepted in the auxiliary.

The group voted to adopt a new patient at the Veterans Hospital, Castle Point. Herbert Venson, a sick vet with no family, friends, visitors, or next of kin, would be most grateful for any attention, according to hospital chairman, Mrs. Ruth Prendergast. Members are asked to drop him a card or note of cheer. Money was also allocated for the purchase of stamps for the hospital. A total of $550.25 in supplies and value of goods, plus 21 hours by four volunteer workers, was recorded last month.

Only ten seats remain on the bus scheduled for the July 13 weekend at Atlantic City, said the co-chairman, Mrs. Isabel DeCelle. For an immediate reservation contact Mrs. DeCelle or Mrs. Violet Rocklein.

A meeting of the float committee is slated for Thursday night at 132 Market Street. Anyone interested in helping assemble it is invited to attend.

The usual donation to the J. C.'s 4th of July program was given. Miss Loyalty, Karen Eckerlein, will also ride in the parade.

The poppy sale was most successful according to the chairman, Mrs. Peg Wade. She received an enthusiastic applause from the members for her efforts.

Mrs. Carolyn Markmiller was awarded her 15-year pin for continuous membership.

Post and auxiliary members will meet at the VFW Hall at 8 p. m. on Monday in order to make plans to raise money to complete the kitchen. All ideas are welcome.

Any member who does not have an identification card for cancer insurance is asked to contact Miss Marie McCutcheon. One card is issued and it must be carried at all times. The insurance payment is due for the current year.

The auxiliary went on record as endorsing the efforts of the Ulster Garden Club in its anti-billboard campaign which is trying to restrict the use of billboards on highways.

The senior vice-president, Miss Hannah Lewis gave a report on the district convention last weekend in Red Hook. She related that Post 5034 who sent their color guard and marched with the Kingston Red Devil Drum Corp. won a trophy for its performance.

The next Hudson Valley County Council meeting is scheduled for August 5 in Ellenville. It will be a box lunch affair. Saugerties voted a sum to the Council's foodless-food sale.

Reports from the chairman indicated that 21 corsages were sent to the Gold Star Mothers; a total of 600 hours and the value of $674 was accomplished by Mrs. Helen Arold in making nine knitted bandages, 18 pajama tops and 38 bed pads.

The auxiliary paid its respect to Clarence Thorn, father of past president Mrs. Janice Dengler, Thursday evening at the Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Home.

Mrs. Lila Ledwig is reported at home ill.

President, Mrs. Marie Sheehan thanked all who attended the Memorial Day services. Special compliments were given to the Rev. Henry Reinewald for his services the previous Sunday.

Teachers Needed For Local School

There are still five vacancies on the teaching staff of the Saugerties Central Schools which remain to be filled, said Dr. Grant D. Morse, superintendent of schools today.

He went on to say that the 25 teachers who are leaving the system at the close of the current school year are leaving for the following reasons: Graduate study, 2; marriage, 4; return to Nebraska, 3; retirement, 1; husband transferred, 5; resigned, 2; family responsibilities, 4; ill health, 1; teach nearer home, 3; total 25.

Start Fund Drive

Members of the Glasco Fire Department will start their annual fund raising campaign throughout the Glasco Fire District on Sunday, according to Joseph Fabiano, president. The appeal for contributions will be continued through July 6 and 7 when the department will hold its annual bazaar on the community field which is made available through the courtesy of the Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corp. The campaign will close with the Saturday night display of fireworks. An invitation to all area residents to attend was made by Fabiano and Michael Mauro, chairman of the fund raising committee.

Wilson Leads Ulster Group at Dinner

Ulster County was well represented at the annual Fund-Raising dinner of the New York State Republican Committee, at Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City this week.

Some 30 GOP representatives led by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson attended the dinner.

Assemblyman Wilson, a member of the executive committee of the State Republican Party, sat on the dais with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, State Chairman L. Judson Morehouse, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob Javitt. Senator Walter Mahoney and Speaker of the Assembly Joseph Carlino were also on the dais.

Body Not Identified

Authorities in Dutchess and Ulster Counties today continued efforts in an attempt to identify the body of a man found in the Hudson River Friday morning off Milton. Ulster County Coroner Francis J. McCardle and Sergeant Robert Smith, Highland State Police, said fragments of clothing, a wrist watch and dental work recovered with the decomposed body by State Police, are being checked. The Dutchess County sheriff's office told The Freeman before noon today the body of the man had not been identified.

Beauty Contest Slated Tonight At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N. Y.—Monticello Raceway will be the "stage" for the "Miss Sullivan County" beauty contest tonight before the eight-race program. Judging will get under way at 8 o'clock in front of the grandstand area.

The beauty queen will be crowned following the judging. The winner will be invited to present a trophy to the driver of the winning horse of the feature seventh race. The dash has been named the "Miss Sullivan County Pace."

The lucky girl will represent Sullivan County at the New York State Beauty Pageant at Grossinger's on June 29. If she wins the State title, she will fly to Miami Beach for the Miss Universe contest.

To be eligible, girls must be between 18 and 28, never married, and a resident of New York State for at least six months. Juding will be based on good health, character, poise, personality, charm and beauty.

Allen J. Finkelson, Raceway public relations director, and Bert Eisenberg, Liberty attorney, are co-chairmen for the contest. Judges are Robert Sylvester, Daily News columnist, Leonard Scandur, News automobile editor, Mayor Luis deHoyos of Monticello, Edward Sykes, Hankins businessman, and Lyman Holmes, Liberty banker.

The county winner will be provided transportation to Grossinger's and return and receive meals and lodgings at the hotel for the state contest. She will receive a bathing suit as a gift.

Exams Scheduled

The U. S. Internal Revenue Service plans to offer its fourth annual examination of persons, other than attorneys and CPA's who seek to qualify for enrollment to practice before the Treasury Department, on Sept. 19 and 20. Enrolment is required of persons wishing to represent clients in tax matters before the Department and in certain other actions. James A. O'Hara, local district director of internal revenue, reminded prospective applicants for the examination to file their applications on Form 23-B with the Director of Practice, Internal Revenue Service, Washington 25, D. C. Applications will not be accepted if postmarked later than Sept. 1.

Channel Chatter

Mason's Sidekick Is Satisfied as 'Second Banana'

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "If they thought they were getting Paul Drake, they were mistaken. Because what they got was me, nobody else."

William Hopper was talking about the producers of "Perry Mason" and his own role in it. He was talking like Bill Hopper —or Paul Drake, take your choice —frankly and businesslike.

That's Hopper, a strikingly handsome man with luxurious blond-white hair, rugged physique and a serious attitude. Only rarely does his face break into a smile.

"Paul Drake in the Erle Stanley Gardner books was an entirely different character," he remarked. "I play him my way. Now I'm amused to read Gardner's new books. Paul Drake now comes out like me!"

Many an actor would chafe at playing second banana in a television series. Not Hopper.

"I couldn't be more pleased," he said. "I tested for the Perry Mason role. I lost it, and it was the best thing that ever happened to me.

"Why? Because I've seen what it has done to Ray Burr. The poor guy has had to dedicate his life to Perry Mason. I remember in the first two years, he used to stay up until midnight every night to work out changes that would improve the script.

"Even now he must live at the studio while we're working. He has no outside life whatsoever. Luckily, he is the kind of guy who is dedicated to activity. If he has nothing to do for three weeks, he ends up in the hospital."

Bill comes by his acting naturally. His father was the noted actor DeWolf Hopper. His mother, Hedda Hopper, also acted and now writes an entertainment column. Bill tried his hand at acting before the war and afterward chucked it to be a car salesman.

He combined car selling and acting for a while. When the blossoming of live television made pickings good for actors, he gave up the car lot forever.

Insect Collector Seeks Processors

CHICAGO (AP) — This whole thing started with a letter from a man in East Chicago, Ind., whose family listens to the radio but doesn't pay too close attention.

A member of the family, he said, heard an announcement of some business concern or laboratory that wants dead mosquitoes by the pound.

He wrote to the radio station and received a reply reading:

"I would suggest you get in touch with the Associated Press bureau in Chicago for further information on the subject. They can no doubt help you more than we can."

So, the Mosquito Abatement District, a sort of planned parenthood organization for mosquitoes financed by the taxpayers of Cook County, was contacted by AP. A lady there said "There was something like that in a newspaper. One of our men brought in a clipping and has been telling everyone, 'Save your dead mosquitoes. They are worth $12 a gram.' "

A gram amounts to one-thousandth of a kilogram. And a kilogram is equivalent to 2.204662341 pounds.

The man was out, but sometime later the lady called back. She had the clipping which stated the price of dried ground insects had gone up $2 a gram to $5,455.-20 a pound. The bugs, it added, are used by doctors for allergy tests and innoculations.

Unhappily, however, the clipping did not name or otherwise identify the processor paying the prices. Tough luck for the man in East Chicago.

Judges Hear Appeal

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A panel of three Erie County judges has taken under advisement the appeal of the Millcreek Twp. School Board from orders to reinstate George L. Pease Jr. as a teacher.

The jurists held a hearing Friday.

Pease was not permitted to testify but was represented by William E. Hirt, a former State Superior Court judge.

The school board fired Pease from his teaching post at McDowell High School last Dec. 30 because he refused to chaperone an after-school activity.

He appealed to the State Department of Public Instruction, which ordered him reinstated on April 16.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Another sharp slump by the stock market, further bids by President Kennedy for business cooperation and the question of whether a federal budget deficit would benefit the economy held the spotlight during the week.

All were interwoven in the fabric of the nation's business picture.

Gain Not Enough

The market, pummeled by discouraged selling, sank through the bottom of the May 28 "Black Monday" level and to its lowest point since Nov. 2, 1960.

The market rallied near the close of trading Friday snapping a string of four straight losses. But the gain, although the biggest since May 29, failed to erase even half the loss accumulated during the four previous sessions.

President Kennedy said in a speech at Yale University commencement exercises that it was a "false issue" to assume that "any and all unfavorable turns of the speculative wheel—however temporary and however plainly speculative in character—are the result of lack of confidence in an administration."

Later at his news conference, Kennedy said, in response to a question, that he couldn't believe that big business would want an economic slump just to get back at a president.

Feel Level Is Right

A newspaper column had indicated some businessmen hoped to take advantage of the market decline for that purpose.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, testifying before the Senate Finance Committee, said some investment analysts believe that stock prices have fallen to about the right levels in relation to share earnings.

Kennedy used his Yale speech and his news conference to outline his views on government-business cooperation and the possible result of an unbalanced budget.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told a convention of the Hatters Union in New York, "We are not antibusiness and it is nonsense to believe that a president of the United States committed to our institutions can be."

Mixed Picture

Newly reported business statistics painted a mixed picture.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges announced retail sales in May declined 1 per cent from April, corporate profits dropped in the first quarter and personal income showed a smaller-than-usual advance.

Even so, he said, over-all economic figures "still look awfully good." For the rest of the year he predicted good business but not full economic activity.

The Labor Department reported earnings of factory workers reached their highest peak in May and nonfarm employment was the greatest for the month.

However, indications were for an increase in unemployment in June and a poorer-than-expected job situation in construction and soft goods manufacturing.

William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, said in an address to the Harvard Alumni Association that the United States needs to accelerate economic growth.

Ford Plans Unchanged

Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., was quoted as saying he considered the market adjustment a short-term affair and that Ford spending plans are unchanged.

Ford also predicted good automobile sales for the rest of this year and at least the first part of 1963. Earlier he had forecast sales of 6.9 million to 7 million cars, which would make this year second only to 1955, when 7,169,908 were sold.

Sales in the first 10 days of June totaled 161,969, compared with 150,596 a year earlier. Production during the week fell off to an estimated 147,000 from 150,077 last week but was well ahead of the 129,274 of a year ago.

Stock sales for the week totaled 26,770,685 shares, compared with 21,041,630 the previous week and 16,320,338 for the comparable week of last year. Bond sales totaled $47,082,000 par value, compared with $41,778,000 the previous week and $26,590,000 the comparable 1961 week.

The situation in the steel industry continued discouraging with production down for the 10th consecutive week. Mills turned out 1.58 million tons of steel, off 0.4 per cent from the previous week and representing about 52.5 per cent of estimated capacity.

Producers said indications were that production will continue to decline for a while longer.

Early Signers Point to Good Y Camp Crowd

The Kingston YMCA Day Camp is ready for another summer of fun, activities, and swimming beginning Monday, June 25 and ending Friday, Aug. 17.

Advanced registrations received by Steve Orozco, camp director, indicate that each week at camp will be well attended. Orozco advises all parents who are interested in having their children attend camp, to send in the registration form as soon as possible.

New playground swings, seesaws, and sliding board have already been installed at the Ticetonyk Mt. camp site to enlarge the junior playground area. Improvement and enlargement of the entire camp was deemed necessary to handle the attendance expected. New fireplaces, an enlarged swimming and bathing area, a basketball court and a volleyball court also have been added this year for the convenience of both junior and senior camp.

Highlights of the first week of camp will be: Monday, swimming; Tuesday, hiking; Wednesday, fishing; Thursday, hot dog; Friday, swimming. In addition to the highlights for each day, the program of crafts, games and movies will be provided.

Any interested parent or child should immediately contact the YMCA for additional information to avoid missing a week of camping fun

Plattekill

PLATTEKILL — A smorgasbord will be served at the Plattekill Grange Hall Saturday, 5:30 p. m., sponsored the young people of the Plattekill Methodist Church. Robert Engel is general chairman; Mrs. Marjorie Loetscher is in charge of the dining room, and Frances Harris is chairman of the ticket committee. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of redecorating the interior of the Plattekill Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everett, Walter Kleeman, Raymond Davies, were among those attending the Pomona Grange meeting at Ulster Park, when memorial services were conducted for Lolita Scott and Frederick Bernard, members of the local Grange, now deceased.

Cars Collide at Circle

Two cars collided Friday night at the Route 28 traffic circle about 11:15. No one was injured and there was no arrest by Kingston State Troopers who conducted an investigation. Both cars were traveling west. A car operated by Keith Johnson, 19, Kerhonkson and that of William McSpirit, 44, of Hurley, were involved.
